U.S. STEPS INTO POLISH-SOVIET FRONTIER ROW

Hull Voices Hope for a Settlement.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—The United States government stepped gingerly but hopefully into the dispute between Russia and Poland today following Moscow's rejection of the Poles' proposal for a settlement of the boundary dispute.

Secretary of State Hull told a press conference that the good offices of the United States had been made available in the interest of restoring diplomatic relations between Russia and Poland.

This action was taken at the request of the Polish government, whose ambassador, Jan Ciechanowski, arranged to see Undersecretary of State Stettinius this afternoon.

Reds to Be Informed.

The American response to the Polish request apparently did not go as far as the Poles had desired. Hull said that Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in Moscow had been told to inform the soviet government of the willingness of this government to offer its facilities for opening discussions between the Russians and the Poles with a view to resuming official relations between them.

Hull also expressed the hope that some satisfactory means could be found for the resumption of friendly relations between the Moscow government and the Polish government in exile.

The Poles have asked that Washington and London undertake to mediate the Polish-Russian frontier dispute and participate in discussion of all outstanding questions involving the two nations.

Poles Welcome Offer.

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP).—Healing of the breach between the Polish government in London and Russia tonight appeared to hinge on whether diplomatic relations can be reëstablished thru the efforts of the United States and Britain. Poles welcomed the offer of the United States to help.

It is believed in London that a reshuffling of Polish officials to eliminate President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz, Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkowski, commander in chief of Polish armies in exile, and Lt. Gen. Dr. Marjan Kukiel, minister of defense, and giving the Moscow Union of Polish Patriots representation might bring the two governments together.

Some Poles expect that if Russia rejects all negotiations, she would set up some kind of a committee of liberation for Poland rivaling that of the refugee Polish government.

"Deal Impossible," Reds Say.

MOSCOW, Jan. 17 (AP).—Pravda, the Communist party's organ, today displayed on its front page the soviet declaration that negotiations with the present Polish government were impossible.

Alongside was the statement of the Polish government in London which the soviet declaration answered.

The Polish statement said the Poles were willing to have Britain and the United States act as intermediaries in negotiations with Russia. However, the soviet answer said negotiations were not possible because the Poles in effect had rejected the proposed "Curzon line" as a boundary between a reconstituted Poland and Russia.

Recalls Cause of Break.

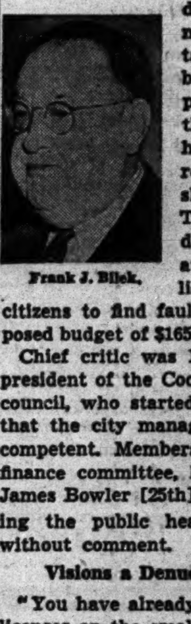
The Russian answer also pointed out that Moscow had broken off relations with the Polish government in London and that a proposal to negotiate with it was "confusing."

Another soviet announcement recalled the cause of the break. It said a special state atrocities commission soon would make a report on the killing of several thousand Poles in Katyn forest near Smolensk.

The Polish government's request several months ago for the international Red Cross to investigate German accusations that several thousand Polish officers and prisoners of war were executed at Katyn by the Russians caused Moscow to charge that the Polish administration was joining in an "anti-soviet campaign of calumny."

Council Told Business Has 'Lost Shirt'

BY ED SCHREIBER.



Frank J. Bilek.

The city's budget makers were told in picturesque language yesterday that they might as well take the "little business man's pants" because their new tax hikes had already taken his shirt and coat. The dressing down was given at the first public hearing for citizens to find fault with the proposed budget of $165,897,466 for 1944.

Chief critic was Frank J. Bilek, president of the Cook County Civic council, who started out by saying that the city management was incompetent. Members of the council finance committee, headed by Ald. James Bowler [25th], who are holding the public hearings, listened without comment.

Visions a Denuded Public.

"You have already put additional licenses on the small business men, those least able to pay," complained Bilek, referring to numerous boosts in licenses, fees, and other regulatory assessments. "Why not be honest. Why not tell the little business man, 'We've taken your shirt, we've taken your coat, and now we're going to take your pants.'"

At another point, Bilek demanded that the aldermen "cut out the mularkey" in the provisions allowing city employes two weeks' sick leave in addition to vacations. Most of them take sick leaves, and if the council were honest, said Bilek, it would openly give employes a month's vacation, and eliminate the so-called sick leave.

Witness Taunts Aldermen.

Bilek also condemned the aldermen for reinstating their $55 monthly car allowances, which had been eliminated last year. It should also be eliminated this year, said Bilek, adding, "It's fortunate for you aldermen that you're not running for reëlection this year." Bilek also spoke against the pay increases voted to employes getting less than $3,000 a year.

Another witness was R. Patrick O'Reilly, vice president of the City club and chairman of its social welfare committee. He urged that the Bridewell be abolished, and city prisoners be sent to the Cook county jail so that taxpayers' money can be saved.

Newton C. Farr, president of the Civic federation, read a comprehensive survey on vital fiscal matters, commended some provisions of the new budget and criticized others. He warned that if "expenditure trends continue, Chicago's tax rate may soon rank highest, instead of second highest," in American cities with populations above 500,000.

Hurley, President's Envoy, Heads West from Delhi

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 17 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, President Roosevelt's personal representative, returned from Afghanistan and headed westward today with the comment that he had only two war time capitals yet to visit—Berlin and Tokio. His present journey began last October. He declined to discuss its purposes.

LANGER MAKES NEW CHARGES BEFORE SENATE

Capital Stirred by Disclosures.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. Langer.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—A story of intrigue within the high command of the New Deal was unfolded in the senate today as Sen. Langer [R., N. D.] disclosed the details of the manner in which C. Nelson Sparks, former mayor of Akron, O., and author of "One Man — Wendell Willkie," came into possession of the mysterious "Hopkins letter."

Langer exhibited photostatic copies of correspondence between a George Briggs, identified as a deputy in the office of Secretary of the Interior Ickes, and Sparks, in which Briggs tells of getting the letter from Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist university at Dallas, Tex.

The letter, branded a forgery by Harry Hopkins, Presidential confidant, is quoted in Sparks' book as partial proof of Sparks' contention that President Roosevelt's administration is seeking to influence the Republican choice of a Presidential candidate this year.

Predicts Willkie Nomination.

Purportedly written by Hopkins to Lee, the letter predicts Willkie's nomination by the Republicans this summer. A federal grand jury is investigating Hopkins' charges that the letter is a forgery. Hopkins has denied writing the letter and Lee has denied receiving it.

Langer today quoted the following letter, of which he said he has a photostatic copy, written by Briggs to Sparks:

"I had a meeting with Dr. Umphrey Lee and I am enclosing herewith a copy of the Hopkins letter which I read and was assured by Dr. Lee that the original would be available for our use within the next week or 10 days. It will come to me thru those sources which I disclosed to you."

Letters Stir Capital.

The letters read by Langer today stirred capital circles, because they bring in the name of Secretary Ickes and place him in a position of embarrassing Hopkins, who has been known as a Presidential favorite.

Several of the letters that Langer exhibited were written on department of the interior stationery. In one of them Briggs tells of Ickes' having the original of the Hopkins letter in his possession to take to Chicago to "show to some friends."

In the face of this Ickes promptly issued a statement saying that until he read Sparks' book he had "never heard of the letter."

"I don't know who will ultimately turn out to be the villain in the 'Hopkins letter' thriller, but it will not be I," Ickes' statement said.

Briggs said tonight that Sen. Langer's charges were "tommy rot" and told reporters that the letters quoted by the senator were forgeries, with the exception of one written to Sparks Sept. 10, 1943, in which he acknowledged receipt of a manuscript of Sparks' book, and another he did not identify.

Hopkins on Spot.

Langer's speech made public property a story that has been whispered in Washington since Hopkins first denied writing the controversial letter. It is a story of reported machinations within the upper brackets of the New Deal, which some say were directed at putting Hopkins in such a spot that he would lose his position as Presidential favorite.

Publication of the letter as proof that Roosevelt and Willkie are more friendly than is usual for Presidential opponents was in itself embarrassing to Hopkins. The photostatic copies of the Briggs letters shown today by Langer would indicate that a member of Ickes' staff made the arrangements for Sparks to obtain the embarrassing letter.

In brief, the story which Langer

Ships to Italy and Finds Son Lost in Action

New York, Jan. 17 (AP)—A father whose army flyer son was reported missing after being shot down over Italy decided to cross the ocean to find the boy—and he succeeded despite needle in the haystack odds.

The story of Wilbert Clyde McDonald's search from port to port and the eventual reunion in North Africa was related today by the son, Sgt. Edgar McDonald, 21, of Jersey City, N. J., in an army sponsored press conference.

Young McDonald bailed out as enemy fire sent his Flying Fortress down. He administered morphine and sulpha to himself as he drifted earthward by parachute.

Doctor Saved Legs.

He credited an Italian doctor with saving his legs from amputation and with harboring him until American troops arrived in the village where he had fallen.

The father, employed on a New Jersey coastal tug, meanwhile received the bare news that his son was missing over Italy. He quit his job and signed aboard a Liberty ship bound for Italy. He inquired at various ports without success and reluctantly sailed for North Africa.

There he learned that the son had been brought back to North Africa to convalesce and that, recovered, he had returned to Italy only the day before. An air force officer lent a hand at this point. He arranged for the sergeant to make a flying trip for a reunion with his dad.

Had Given Up Hope.

"My father nearly dropped dead when he saw me walking up that gangplank in North Africa," the son related. "He had given up hope of finding me."

That would be the happy ending of the story except—the sergeant's brother, Glenn, also an air force sergeant, now has been reported missing on a bombing mission from a base in England. And the father, said Edgar, "is ready to sail as soon as possible to find Glenn."

Even Onions Won't Stop WAC's Dates in N. Africa

New York, Jan. 17 [Special].—Lt. Gertrude Lund of Los Angeles, Cal., who was a WAC mess sergeant in North Africa for nine months, said here today that girls are so scarce in that region that the WACs could eat a meal of raw onions and still get dates with soldiers. Because there aren's any chickens in that land, Lt. Lund explained, eggs are scarce, so "the best thing a soldier could do for a girl was to give her an egg."

SOUTH SEA ISLANDER GIVES VISITING YANKS A LESSON ABOUT U. S.

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC [Delayed].—A group of marines on this island were arguing noisily about the height of the Empire State building while Noa, a native, washed their clothes.

Each man had his own idea and was soundly vetoing all the others. Finally, Noa interposed.

"No one right," he said. "Empire State building 1,250 feet high."

A checkup proved he was correct. Had he ever been to New York? "No," said Noa, "just good reader."

CROWDS IN LOOP SEE STATE ST. BLAZE SUBDUED

Several thousand persons last night watched firemen fight a fire that started in the basement of the Liggett drug store at the northwest corner of State and Randolph streets and spread to dentists' offices on the second floor.

Firemen confined most of the fire to the basement but great clouds of smoke filled the store and seeped thru the six story building. Marshal Otto Dahl of the 1st division said the fire started from spontaneous combustion and estimated damage to the building at $2,000. A. J. Lemieux, manager of the store, said the $50,000 stock was badly damaged.

Smoke seeped into the State-Lake theater and ushers moved along the aisles assuring patrons there was no danger.

Planes to Soar Above Loop in 4th Bond Drive

Fighter and bomber planes from the carriers Wolverine and Sable will soar high above the loop at noon today as Chicago opens its fourth war loan drive with ceremonies at Treasury center, 72 West Adams street.

Jinx Falkenburg, Hollywood screen star, will share program honors at the center with the army air forces training command's band from Chanute field.

Yesterday Miss Falkenburg was among the visitors who viewed a display of war material—"This Is the Army, Mrs. Jones."

50,000 Home Solicitors.

Chicago's 50,000 house to house bond sellers will swing into action earlier in the day as a motorized section of the 740th military police battalion from Camp Skokie Valley rolls thru practically every neighborhood to signalize opening of the drive.

Armored cars, jeeps, trucks, and other military vehicles will head south from Howard street at 9 a. m., escorted by city and state motorcycle police units. The column will parade as far south as 115th and Halsted streets, winding up at 8th street and Michigan avenue at noon.

A proclamation by Mayor Kelly calls for all vehicular traffic to halt at 11 a. m. A minute of silence will follow.

Days to Honor Fighters.

Chicago and Cook county's quota in the nation-wide campaign, which ends Feb. 15, is $721,818,400, of which $130,901,300 must be in "E" series.

Intensified buying to honor the men and women of the services will be stressed by the treasury department on Jan. 20, designated as Army day; on Jan. 27, Navy day, and on Feb. 3, Marine day.

Pvt. Frank Stefko, 23 years old, 1114 Kenwood avenue, Hammond, Ind., a marine who lost an eye at Tarawa, will help launch Hammond's campaign for $2,727,100 this morning.

"Bloody Road Ahead."

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special].—Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau launched the 4th war loan drive here tonight, speaking on an all-station nation-wide radio hookup.

Gen. Eisenhower, who spoke from London on the broadcast, declared "we are about to test finally whether democracy can sustain all-out battle." He urged that every dollar that can be spared from actual living needs go into the purchase of war bonds, adding:

"We will be fighting on bloody fields. Remember that when you invest your dollars in war bonds."

CALL PEACE TALK STORY SPREAD BY MOSCOW A LIE

Foreign Office Says Officials Did Not Meet German.

LONDON, Jan. 18 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The British foreign office last night said that "there is no truth" to a rumor of a British-German peace talk as published by Pravda, a Moscow newspaper. The London Daily Mail today called the report "an insult to the British people."

The Mail and other London morning newspapers expressed disappointment at publication by the Communist party organ of a Cairo report that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany and two British officials had discussed feelers for a separate peace.

Text of Statement.

The British government statement said:

"The foreign office authorizes issue of a complete denial of a story reported from Cairo and published in Pravda to the effect that a secret meeting recently took place between Von Ribbentrop and leading British figures. There is no truth to this story."

The foreign office said peace talk reports were "absurd." Unofficially, there was unconcealed amazement over Pravda's publication of the report.

Cite Invasion Plans.

The vast preparations for invasion, Britain's promises to fight the war to a finish, and the 20 year British-Russian alliance were cited as sufficient answer to any talk that this country would consider a separate peace.

["There is no truth to this story," Ambassador Halifax said in Washington, D. C. Secretary of State Hull told a press conference that he had no information that would bear out the Pravda report. The story caused a sensation in Washington. Details on page 5.]

Not one London paper carried the Moscow story yesterday afternoon, but it was splashed on the front pages this morning and most papers had editorials that minced no words.

The Daily Mail's streamer headline read: "Britain kills 'separate peace' lie."

"The newspaper Pravda must be remarkably ignorant of British national standards," the paper said. "That is the only excuse we can find for it [the Moscow story]."

An accompanying editorial denounced "this canard," and said "it bears all the marks of enemy origin."

"No government even remotely suspected of this sort of conduct would live for a day," the Mail said.

Gives American Theory.

The Daily Express, owned by Lord Privy Seal Beaverbrook, one of Russia's best friends in Britain, carried no editorial but a political correspondent wrote:

"This rumor in various forms and versions has been going around the world ever since Churchill and Eden [British foreign minister] held their conferences at Cairo with Turkish representatives many weeks ago.

"But it was regarded as so fantastic and so obviously intended to make mischief between the allies that it was ignored. When it received publicity in so influential a quarter as Pravda, however, the

REPORT BRITISH CHUTISTS BARE HITLER SCHEME

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 16 [Delayed].—For the first time in history a British mission with the power to contact a chief of state is reported to have landed by parachute in enemy territory. Germany today confirmed reports that three parachutists had landed in Rumania on Christmas eve.

The chutists were reported to have carried documents showing the Rumanians that their German allies had offered Russia peace terms including Rumanian territory up to the Siretu river. Apparently they sought to persuade Rumania to get out of the war while there still was time, and to impress upon the nation's leaders that Germany was double crossing Rumania.

The story first was published in Swedish newspapers. It was confirmed by a Budapest dispatch from the Turkish Anatolia news agency's special correspondent and then by a German spokesman in Berlin.

Speak Rumanian Language.

Reports described the three parachutists as a colonel and a major, both of whom were former oil executives in Rumania, and a Rumanian born naturalized Briton. The three spoke Rumanian perfectly, according to the story.

The Britons landed on the estate of a man named Papan, in the Deli Orman district, which is south of Bucharest on the Danube. It was said they asked to see the local police chief. There they asked to see Marshal Ion Antonescu, Rumania's premier, on a matter of the "greatest importance and urgency."

After their identity had been established by credentials they carried, the chutists were taken to Bucharest where they saw a number of important officials, tho dispatches said it is doubtful that they conferred with Antonescu himself.

Get Special Treatment.

The envoys are now prisoners, but are receiving special treatment, dispatches said. Since they were not captured, but entered the country voluntarily and openly to deliver a message, they presumably should be treated as negotiators rather than as prisoners of war.

Political observers suggested that the Germans have too tight a grip on Rumania for the latter to surrender now. However, they said, the mission might help to show the Rumanians how firmly the allies stand together since Russia did not consider the German proposal despite the offer of Rumanian territory.

DO NOT QUOTE YANKS ON VOTE, REPORTERS TOLD

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Jan. 17 (AP).—Under a war department ruling soldiers will not be permitted to express their views for publication on the subject of the soldiers' vote. Correspondents in this theater were told they might write their own impressions of the attitude of military personnel on this issue, but might not quote individuals or take polls. The ruling was based on an army regulation which forbids officers or men from entering into public debate on controversial political issues or matters pending before congress.

McCormack Not Likely to Sing Again, Wife Says

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP).—The Irish tenor John McCormack, 59 years old, has been ill for several months and his wife today told the Daily Sketch, "I don't think he will sing in public again. He had an acute attack of tonsilitis and got the flu. "He is much better now but has decided to retire to enjoy life in the country."

OPEN NATIONAL CAMPAIGN FOR MacARTHUR HERE

Clubs to Be Established in Every State.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A national association of clubs supporting Gen. Douglas MacArthur for President was formed here yesterday with a view to setting up MacArthur clubs in every state. The program was adopted at a meeting of representatives of MacArthur clubs in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, and Ohio; they also had proxies from Massachusetts, West Virginia, Montana, and California.

MacArthur's name is to be filed in the April Presidential primaries in Illinois and Wisconsin, it was announced. In these states, filing can be made without consent or approval of the man named as candidate.

Resolutions adopted asked support "of all persons devoted to the preservation of American principles and American institutions."

"Gen. MacArthur," they read "is the one American who can, in the role of President and commander in chief, best bring the war to a speedy and victorious conclusion; and provide the courageous, intelligent American leadership necessary to effect a just and enduring peace."

National Headquarters Here.

Joseph P. Savage, Chicago attorney and chairman of the Illinois branch, was elected chairman of the organization. On motion of Lansing Hoyt of Milwaukee, Wis., the city given as MacArthur's address, national headquarters are to be established at 11 South La Salle street, where the Illinois club has opened a suite. The official name is to be National Association of MacArthur for President Clubs—to be incorporated in Illinois.

Mrs. Elibeth Fihe of Chicago was elected secretary of the national association and Francis L. Boutell of Elburn, Kane county, treasurer.

Petitions Signed Rapidly.

Savage reported that primary petitions for MacArthur in Illinois are being signed rapidly, and that in many counties officials of the Republican county organization are among the signatories. A minimum of 3,000 or a maximum of 5,000 signatures is required.

"At the rate they are going," said Savage, "we'll have more than 200,000 signatures." It is planned to enter the general's name in direct primary states in which his consent is not necessary to place his name on the ballot.

In Wisconsin, Hoyt, who is head of the Wisconsin group, reported clubs have been set up in each of the 10 congressional districts, and candidates for national delegates have been slated in eight districts.

19 Branches in Indiana.

W. A. Bartlett of Muncie, Ind., head of the Indiana club, reported branches have been set up with key men in some 19 Indiana cities, and are ready for active campaigning.

Gen. George E. Leach, former six term mayor of Minneapolis, and chairman of the Minnesota MacArthur movement, spoke of his personal relationship with Gen. MacArthur.

Leaders Attending Session.

At the meeting were:

Ohio—Robert A. Wilkinson, president Ohio MacArthur club; Guy D. Hawley, W. Hobart Morgan.

Minnesota—Gen. Leach.

Wisconsin—Hoyt, Raymond C. Twining, Col. William T. McCaskey.

Indiana—Bartlett and Paul W. Sult of Fort Wayne.

Illinois—Savage, Mrs. Fihe, Boutell, Carl Webster, Elgin; W. F. McLaughlin, Glencoe, Harold J. Betty; Dr. Carroll W. Johnson, Batavia; Carter Blatchford, Batavia.

BARE NEW DEAL INTRIGUE BEHIND 'HOPKINS NOTE'

Capitol Is Startled by New Disclosures.

told thru reading Briggs' letters to Sparks was that Sparks and Briggs had had correspondence concerning the book as early as September, 1943. Then on Sept. 27 Briggs sent Sparks a telegram urging haste in the "Texas matter."

Later letters indicate that Briggs went to Texas, but failed to get the letter. On Oct. 15 Briggs wrote Sparks that he had seen Dr. Lee and was sending a copy of the letter, promising later delivery of the original which was in the hands of a Mr. Phillips, identified by Sen. Langer as "Mr. Frank Phillips of Oklahoma," an oil company executive.

This latter letter was written on department of the interior note paper.

In New York Phillips said tonight: "I played no part in this affair. I never knew there was such a letter until I read about it in the papers."

Phillips said he had been asked to appear before the grand jury either on Thursday or Friday.

A letter of Oct. 18, written on the stationery of the department of the interior, tells of Ickes' taking the letter to Chicago.

Difficulties Cited.

The next letter quoted by Langer dated Oct. 27 is unsigned. It tells of difficulties in getting the letter from Ickes, saying "I cannot jack up the boss as I could most any one else."

Also included in this letter is the statement, "As I wired you, the 40 bucks reached me, and was duly welcome. I am within a hundred bucks of my goal now, and I have four days in which to raise it."

On Nov. 3, a telegram signed by George Briggs tells of another delay in getting the letter from Ickes because of the coal strike. The next letter, signed "George," tells of Ickes himself having trouble getting the letter, indicating, Sen. Langer said, that the letter sought had been loaned to some one.

Hell Raising Threat.

The letter signed "George" states, "If the letter is not here Monday he [Ickes] is going to get on the long distance and raise some hell around the country. Meanwhile he will swear that he saw the letter if it comes to a showdown. I hope it won't be necessary to put him in that spot because he has enough trouble without that."

A letter dated Nov. 13 asks that one word in the Hopkins letter, the word "Alamo" be deleted. [This was done in both the Sparks book and in the photostatic copy of the Hopkins letter that Sparks gave reporters some weeks ago].

On Nov. 16, Langer said, Sparks received another letter, written on interior department stationery and signed by "George" which said, "You can still say the original letter is available because it will be if I have to invoke the pressure of the secretary to get it."

Informed of Langer's comments, Dr. Lee said, "I don't know Mr. Phillips, Mr. Briggs, or Mr. Ickes, and, of course, I never had a conference with any one of them."

Langer, who has a resolution now before a subcommittee of the senate privileges and elections committee calling for a senate investigation of the charges Sparks makes in his book, insisted that a powerful group of financiers seeks to control both major political parties, and that powerful interests in England exerted their influence to install internationalists as candidates of both parties in 1940.

DEFEAT IS CONCEDED FOR ADMINISTRATION ARMY VOTE SCHEME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Administration leaders today conceded apparent defeat in the house of their proposal for federal supervision of soldiers' voting, but pinned hopes for their plan on a Presidential veto of any legislation leaving service balloting in the hands of the states.

House Majority Leader McCormack [D., Mass.] told reporters house passage of the federal vote plan, which has been turned down by the house elections committee, would require the support of about 60 Republican members to offset opposing votes of protesting Democrats. He expressed doubt, however, that that number of Republicans could be mustered.

McCormack predicted the committee's state voting plan, if passed by the house and concurred in by the senate, will be vetoed by the President.

The house rules committee meanwhile reported out a bill to provide mustering out payments for service men of $300 except for those with less than 60 days' service, who would get $100. House consideration of the bill will start tomorrow and a vote is expected Wednesday.

WPB REMOVES RESTRICTIONS ON MANY PRODUCTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—Consumers are now free to purchase bath tubs, lavatories, toilets, laundry trays, sinks, showers, shower stalls, condensation pumps, chemical toilets, drinking fountains, septic tanks, grease interceptors, flush tanks, sinks and wash fountains without authorization, the war production board announced today.

BOOM 4TH TERM AT DEMOCRATIC STATE SESSION

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—With nearly half of its members absent, the Democratic state central committee today adopted a resolution urgently requesting President Roosevelt to run for reëlection. It apparently was part of the "draft Roosevelt" strategy of promoters of a fourth term.

Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.], who was at the meeting, assailed the lethargy of his party which is still stalled on a state ticket while Republicans are ready to go on tour next week with a full slate of candidates.

There was little new in the Democratic search for candidates. Sen. Lucas' record was indorsed, in lieu of an indorsement of his candidacy for reëlection. This was part of the "free and open primary" issue which the Democrats are building up.

Hughes Is Favored.

Downstaters still said that Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, who is recovering from illness in Arizona, is their number one choice for governor. In the number two position they again placed State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney of Cook county, with a strong feeling that Hughes will not accept the strenuous assignment of running for governor.

Some of the conferees consider Warren Orr of Chicago, a former justice of the state Supreme court, as the most likely candidate if both Hughes and Courtney decline to make the race. Orr attended the meeting. There was some talk about Secretary of the Interior Ickes for governor.

Walter Williams of Benton, lawyer and oilman, formerly president of the University of Illinois board of trustees, said he is considering running for congressman at large.

None Anxious for Ticket.

Most remarkable political fact here is that there seems to be no striving for places on the Democratic state ticket. Six years ago the same hotel was overflowing with disputes over Lucas' candidacy in the primary.

As headline speaker at the Jackson day dinner tonight, Sen. Lucas said the Democrats have perfect harmony but not enough energy. A Republican leader has ascribed the lack of Democratic activity to a "war guilt complex."

The lag in the Democratic campaign he ascribed to preoccupation with the war.

A huge Republican primary campaign fund is being raised, and the Democrats will be beset by falsehoods, political buffoonery, and vilification, he said. Adroit use will be made by the G. O. P. of the "honest mistakes made by this administration," he declared.

"I would be the last one to say that mistakes and blunders have not been made in a global war that staggers the imagination of cost and production. Many complaints that come across my desk are justified."

DEWEY-BRICKER TICKET IS URGED ON REPUBLICANS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—Rep. Wilson [R., Ind.] suggested today the Republicans would have a strong ticket this year if they nominated Gov. Dewey of New York for President and Gov. Bricker of Ohio for Vice President.

"It looks like Thomas E. Dewey is in the saddle, away out in front, and a cinch to win the Presidency for the party," Wilson said in a statement.

"Many people here are commenting on what a wonderful ticket the Republicans would have with Dewey for President and Bricker for Vice President. Most Hoosiers should find it easy to support such a ticket."

LABOR DRAFT HIT BY VANDENBERG; ASKS STRIKE BAN

F.D.R. Plan Assailed as Regimentation.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. Vandenberg.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], warning that "the remedy might become worse than the disease," went on record today as opposing President Roosevelt's plan to conscript men and women workers as a solution to war time strike difficulties.

Vandenberg, inserting a statement in the congressional record, became the latest of a long list of senators and representatives who have vowed to fight the administration's plan to draft men and women over 18 years old to work in war plants.

He quoted figures on strikes to show what was described as the failure of the New Deal's war time labor policy, but asked that remedial legislation take the form of a definitely outlawing strikes and lockouts rather than the regimentation which opponents charge is embraced in the President's request for a labor draft.

Hearing on Bill Delayed.

His statement came as it was announced the first hearing of the new Austin-Wadsworth bill, which embodies the President's plan, had been postponed until Wednesday by the senate military affairs committee. The reason given for the postponement was the inability of Secretary of War Stimson, the first witness, to appear at the meeting originally scheduled for tomorrow.

"Ever since Pearl Harbor I have urged that all interruptions to defense production should be outlawed by statute," said Sen. Vandenberg. "I could no more tolerate a war production strike on the home front than on the battle front.

"If the President, at long last, is ready to face this problem unequivocally, I want to coöperate. But I am unable to understand why we must regiment every adult male civilian, and particularly every adult civilian woman, in order to achieve the desired result. In my view, such a remedy might become worse than the disease."

Two Others State Stand.

Earlier in the day Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] and Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] made statements in interviews outlining their opposition to the labor draft plan.

Ferguson warned that the administration is likely to inject the labor draft into the presidential campaign this year. Declaring he does not believe the bill should pass, Ferguson said:

"They [the New Deal] probably will say the President tried to get national service legislation to stop the strikes and then try to blame everything on congress if it does not pass the bill."

Wheeler predicted congress never will enact legislation of the type requested by the President and said he doubts that either party will adopt such a law as part of its platform, in spite of an expected drive to have Democrats do so.

WORKER DRAFT FACING DEFEAT, AFL HEAD SAYS

Miami, Fla., Jan. 17 [Special].—Congress never will pass the labor draft, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, predicted here today at the opening meeting of the AFL executive council. He added that the AFL has polled both houses of congress and is satisfied that the majority in each house opposes the measure.

"There is no need for a draft of labor," Green said. "We have enough willing workers in our plants now to do the job."

OLANDER FLAYS DRAFT OF LABOR AND JOB FREEZE

Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, charged yesterday that the basic freedom of labor guaranteed by the Constitution is being challenged under the plea of war necessity of labor draft legislation and the job freeze, and warned that conscription of workers is certain to be followed by conscription of capital.

Speaking on "The Menace to American Freedom" before the City Club of Chicago in the La Salle hotel, Olander predicted that if the courts interpret the Constitution as permitting the labor draft and job freeze during the war, that interpretation "will remain to trouble us and our children long after the war ceases."

Not Easy to End, He Says.

He warned, in reply to arguments that labor regimentation is only for war time, that no one can ascertain "how long is the duration." Once habits are formed, they are not easily discarded, he said.

Olander, who has been a leader in the fight of labor against the job freeze, disclosed that he has registered the opposition of his organization to the pending labor draft bill with the Illinois congressional delegation.

"The freedom of the individual in the field of labor is the basic freedom from which all other liberties flow," Olander asserted.

Under the job freeze, he continued, there is "a peculiar system whereby men and women by threats of punishment without trial are held to the service of the employer." Under the proposed labor conscription legislation, workers whom the President would be authorized to draft into whatever industries he deems essential, would be held to service by this job freeze, he said.

"Shipped from Homes."

"Are workers to be shipped away from their homes, relatives, and friends and left to the mercy of the employers into whose service they have been drafted by the government?" Olander asked.

Olander termed "insidious" the current argument that if it is permissible to draft soldiers and sailors, it is permissible to draft war production workers. He said military conscription is allowed by the Constitution, whereas labor conscription is forbidden.

When Gen. Douglas MacArthur was chief of staff, he said in 1931 that the effective use of labor in both war and peace can be obtained only thru voluntary coöperation, and any system of forced labor "could result only in failure," Olander told the club.

Voluntary Program Urged.

Olander called for a "well planned and thoroly popularized voluntary labor utilization program" instead of a labor draft.

Labor circles in Chicago yesterday were discussing the growing disagreement in CIO ranks as unions took sides on the labor draft question. Three Chicago affiliates, the Retail Clerks, Rubber Workers, and Mail Order and Warehouse Employes' unions, meet tomorrow to complete opposition plans. R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers' union, has announced his opposition.

Secretly Wed

JUNE LANG.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 17 (AP).—June Lang, 24 years old, screen actress, has been secretly married since Jan. 5 to Lt. William Morgan, 29, formerly of Chicago, her mother, Mrs. Edith Vlasek, said.

Miss Lang, and Lt. Morgan, who is stationed with the army at San Diego, were married in Santa Monica. Her identity was not revealed at the time because she used her real name of Winifred June Vlasek on the marriage license.

It is the third marriage for Miss Lang and the first for Morgan. Her marriages to Victor Orsatti, actors' agent, and John Roselli, ended in divorces.

2 TRIBUNE AIDS TELL HARDSHIPS ON WAR FRONTS

Pacific Tough Place Just to Live, Says Cromie.

Eyewitness accounts of the vicious fight which American troops are waging in the South Pacific and on Italian battlefronts were given guests of The Tribune advertising department yesterday at a luncheon in the Drake hotel by two Tribune war correspondents returned from active service in those theaters.

The speakers were Robert Cromie, South and Southwest Pacific correspondent who witnessed many of the major battles from Guadalcanal to the present during his 17 months in the area; and Seymour Korman, reporter in the Italian theater for many months.

It was Cromie's first public speaking engagement since his return home. Korman has made several previous speeches.

Cromie, the first speaker, said it is impossible adequately to describe the conditions under which allied troops are forced to fight on the South Pacific islands. It's a land, he said, where it is hard enough for a white man to exist, let alone fight.

Cannibals Among Natives.

"I wish I could describe New Guinea properly, but you can't believe there is a place like that unless you've seen it and even then it seems a little unreal," Cromie said. "Much of the interior never has been explored; its coastline is sketchily and inaccurately charted; the three-quarter million natives who dwell within its 300,000 square miles of jungle include all kinds from mission-trained, English speaking communities to cannibals only too willing to have strangers in for an evening meal.

"There are crocodiles—at least one American soldier was taken by one while I was there—snakes, horrible huge spiders, fantastic insects, gaudy cockatoos, and gorgeous blossoms. It's a land where the jungle can swallow a hundred wrecked planes with ease. A more rugged, brutal, and formidable place would be almost impossible to find."

Jungle a Weird Hazard.

The terror of fighting in the midst of the silent, green hell of the jungle, alien in every respect to Americans, combined with the task of fighting a fanatical enemy who must be wrenched almost by hand from every tree and rock, makes it impossible to praise American troops too highly, Cromie declared.

"As an example of the spirit of all the troops," Cromie said, "I will relate one incident which happened on Guadalcanal. I remember walking among the soldiers of Chicago's 132d infantry regiment the second day after they captured Mount Austen, and passing some of their wounded coming out the difficult trail. Col. Alexander George, new commanding officer of the outfit, was with me. He stopped to ask one lad about his injuries. The youth ignored the question. He drew himself up and answered with almost malignant pride: 'We took the hill, sir.'

"That was their spirit. They 'took the hill.'"

Cromie described a motorboat ride with some amphibian engineers as one of his favorite experiences. Their mission, he recalled, was to spot Jap artillery near Salamaua, but it was not until the boat almost had arrived that he realized they were not going to lie offshore a couple of miles and wait for the Japs to fire. The boat was going to be live bait.

Cromie said he asked Maj. Philip Long of Columbus, Ind., whether they were going to bait the guns.

"Yeah," was Long's response. "You don't mind, do you?"

After about 20 shells had been thrown at the boat, it turned and ran, Cromie said, but just as things got quieter Lt. Wallie Mulliken, a lawyer from Champaign, yelled: "Slow down! Slow down! Can't you see the major's trying to troll?"

Cromie said he turned and on the stern, barefooted and at ease, sat Maj. Jack Green, fishing from the boat. His only worry was that he didn't have enough line and the boat was going too fast for the fish.

"The amphibians are all mad," Cromie said, "but that may explain why they are doing such a magnificent job of bringing in troops and supplies under the Japs' noses."

Elements Aiding Germans.

Korman, in his talk, described the difficulties of the American advance on Italian battlefronts. The Germans, he said, are fighting as they never have done before—aided by a country ideally designed for defense.

"The Germans even are being aided by the elements," Korman said. "Allied forces are handicapped by some of the worst weather southern Italy has known in years—cold and rain—the earth churned into vast fields of mud."

In Court After Apartment Robberies

Tests Ordered

A psychiatric examination of Miss Marilyn Walters, 20 years old, charged with burglary of eight apartments in the Country Club apartments, 6930 South Shore drive, was ordered yesterday by Judge Joseph H. McGarry in Felony court. Her hearing was continued to Jan. 27.

The girl, educated in private finishing schools, lives in the apartment with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Walters. She is charged with the theft of jewelry, radios, nylon hosiery and whisky, valued at $2,021, from the homes of neighbors.

Her mother, who agreed to the examination, said the girl always had appeared "normal," and could give no reason for the thefts.

OPEN VERDICT RETURNED.

An open verdict was returned yesterday at an inquest into the death of William Humphrey Miller, 19 years old, 244 Edson avenue, Lombard, a war plant worker, who was killed Sunday by an elevated train near the 25th avenue crossing in Bellwood.

TULE LAKE AREA CITIZENS ADVISED TO ARM SELVES

Tule Lake, Cal., Jan. 17 [Special].—Restoration to the war relocation authority of control oyer the Tule Lake segregation center for Japanese Americans last week led American Legionnaires today to warn residents of the area to keep guns handy and "be ready to protect your lives and property at a moment's notice." The army had controled the camp since riots early in November.

Clay Fensler, past commander of the Tule Lake post of the American Legion, headed the group protesting return of camp control to WRA. "Legionnaires in the area," he said, "feel that residents should take all possible precautions until there is assurance that there won't be another outbreak at the camp."

Fensler confirmed the fact that Ray Best, director of the camp before the army took it over, is "back in command." "We feel the government," Fensler said, "by removing the army control of the center, has let us down." Another protest against resumption of WRA control was made in Los Angeles by the Native Sons of the Golden West organization.

2 STATE POSTS GO TO HAWKINS AND TO TALCOTT

Gov. Green yesterday announced the appointment of Orville Hawkins of Carter [Marion county] as assistant director of public welfare, and Mancel Talcott, former mayor of Waukegan, as superintendent of charities in the same department.

The post of assistant director has been vacant since the death of Mrs. Mary L. Silvis of Rock Island in March, 1943. Department officials said Hawkins had been performing the duties without title.

BIDDLE AGREES TO TURN LEPKE OVER TO N. Y. IF—

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 17 [Special].—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today won his long fight with the federal government for custody of Louis [Lepke] Buchalter, whose execution by New York state as the convicted leader of "Murder, Inc.," has been postponed four times because Buchalter was serving a narcotics term in a federal house of detention.

End of the prolonged dispute over jurisdiction came when Atty. Gen. Biddle made a new conditional offer to surrender Buchalter, and Nathaniel L. Goldstein, state attorney general, accepted with a letter saying he interpreted the government's offer as meaning the surrender is to be "unconditional in the event of execution."

By the terms of the latest reprieve given him by Gov. Dewey, Buchalter is now under sentence to die the week of Feb. 7. Scheduled to die with him are two minor figures in the murder ring, Louis Capone and Emanuel Weiss. All were convicted of murdering Joseph Rosen, a Brooklyn storekeeper, in 1936.

Prepare to Get Him.

Goldstein informed Biddle that "I assume the district attorney of Kings county will make the necessary arrangements for the appropriate officers to take custody of the prisoner." He sent a copy of his letter to Acting District Atty. Thomas Craddock Hughes of Kings county. Next step in the case is expected to be a transfer of Buchalter from federal to state custody and the appearance of Buchalter before Gov. Dewey for a clemency hearing for which he has petitioned.

The Buchalter case became an issue of nation-wide importance when Gov. Dewey charged that the prisoner was being "protected from punishment by the failure of the President of the United States to grant the customary conditional pardon."

Lepke Confident.

Buchalter is said to have told his guards during his trial that he never would be electrocuted. His associates were reported to have said that if Buchalter talked it would be "embarrassing" to several nationally known persons.

Dewey refused to conduct clemency hearings for the three condemned men until all were in the custody of the state. Terms specified by Biddle in the offer accepted today are that New York state is to be given full authority and control over Buchalter for the purposes of a clemency hearing, but if the clemency hearing results in setting aside his death sentence he is to be returned to federal authorities.

Buchalter has served three years of a 14 year term for narcotics law violation.

Reporting for his first day as a salesman, Edward Bernier, 64 years old, 3217 Ravenswood avenue, collapsed and died of a heart attack yesterday in Wieboldt's department store, School street and Lincoln avenue.

HORRIFIED GIRL TELLS 3 DEATHS ON DOUBLE DATE

Walks to Safety After 3 Days in Car.

Lexington, Mass., Jan. 17 [Special].—An incoherent story of three days of horror in a stalled automobile on an isolated road with the bodies of a girl friend and two brothers who had "tried to get fresh" was sobbed today by Grace Saunders, 18 years old, of Cambridge.

Missing since Thursday, Miss Saunders arrived at her home last night in a taxicab in a semi-dazed condition and with frostbitten legs.

Her account of her experiences led police to a side road off the Concord turnpike, near here, where they found Ruth Place, 16, and two brothers, James Keefe, 24, and John, 17, dead in a closed car.

Fumes Cause Death.

Autopsies determined that the three died from monoxide poisoning and that there were no marks of violence on the bodies.

Miss Saunders was taken to a hospital, where she was in a serious condition today.

She said she tried to rouse her companions in her occasional periods of consciousness, asserting she did not know they were dead and that she herself had lost all track of time. She left the car some time yesterday, struggled thru deep snow to the main road, and hitchhiked a ride to Cambridge, where she obtained a taxicab to take her home, she said.

Car Parked After Ride.

Miss Saunders said she and Miss Place went for a ride with the Keefe brothers Thursday night and that the boys parked the machine on the side road.

"Both boys started to get fresh and I kept telling them to behave," she said. "The engine was running, but I didn't seem to get warm. I kept pleading with them to take me home, and when they didn't I started to get out of the car. Some one pushed me back in the seat. We all got drowsy and I fell asleep."

Unable to Start Auto.

She said she recalls awakening later under the impression it was Friday but on what must have been Sunday.

"I was sleepy and groggy," she said. "I tried to tell them to take me home and get some coffee to warm up. When I couldn't rouse any of them I tried to start the car, but it seemed there was no more gas. I think I got more fresh air than the others because I had the window down a little bit on my side."

VANDALS INVADE SCHOOL.

Vandals who broke into the Thorp Elementary school, 8914 Buffalo avenue, damaged the building and stole 20 dozen eggs, 50 pounds of butter, and 100 pounds of macaroni from an icebox in the lunchroom, South Chicago police said yesterday. The total loss was $1,000, they added.

GEN. HAMMOND OFFERS 4 POINT LABOR PROGRAM

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chief of the army's ordnance district here, yesterday demanded that larger war plants make fuller use of their present employes, in order to keep Chicago from being declared a No. 1 critical area which would preclude new war contracts.

Gen. Hammond outlined a four point program in a letter to all prime contractors, who represent more than 700 larger plants in and near the city. He urged:

"Perpetual inventory of labor requirements with emphasis on the use of handicapped workers, part time employes, women, students, and other groups not previously used in plants.

"Preparation of contracts with selective service officials which permit drafting of replaceable workers to keep necessary employes.

Urges WMC Coöperation.

"Coöperation with the WMC to maintain accurate and up to date statistics on labor needs, and to provide referral of workers to essential industry."

Gen. Hammond also asked the prime contractors to use "all scientific methods available to management in developing minimum hiring specifications," as well as more intensive job training programs, incentive payment systems, upgrading programs, and morale building efforts.

Representatives of Chicago industry last week admitted their estimates of future labor needs had been too high, leading to an unbalanced ratio of probable supply and demand.

Situation "Not Good."

William H. Spencer, regional director of the WMC, who has returned from Washington after a nine day conference on Chicago's problems, said the situation here was regarded as "not good," but that he and Lester Brown, area director, had not had a chance to study the questionnaires of 27,000 employes here who are to go on the 48 hour week unless they receive exemptions.

FLYER BIDS PALS GOOD-BY, BUT HE'LL FLY AGAIN

Gets Broken Plane Home from Klagenfurt.

A 15TH U. S. AIR FORCE BASE IN ITALY, Jan. 17 (AP).—American Lightnings [P-38s] were zooming all over the sky above unfriendly Klagenfurt, Austria, yesterday battling more than 10 Messerschmitts when a thin voice came over the radios:

"So long . . . see you after the war."

The Lightning pilots, protecting Flying Fortresses in their highly successful attack on the Klagenfurt Messerschmitt parts factory, looked down and saw the plane of Lt. Thomas W. Smith, Madera, Cal., diving earthward trailing smoke.

The twin tail of Smith's plane had been severed in a collision with a Messerschmitt, the elevator was knocked off and the right engine afire.

Two hours later, Smith in some amazing fashion brought his crippled plane down in an Italian farmer's pasture next to his home airfield.

Credited with a Victory.

He found he already had been credited with destroying the Messerschmitt which clipped him. His comrades saw the enemy plane dive to earth.

"We were just swapping head-on passes and I came out ahead," the young former lumber salesman said. "It almost ended in a draw—with two losers.

"We got too close together. His wing clipped my right motor, then hooked the tail boom, slicing it in two. It also severed part of my elevator. Then my right engine caught fire.

"The radio was still working so I told the gang I'd see them after the war. As I went down a bit I got the plane under control and began looking for a place to land.

"I still didn't think I'd ever make it back," he said. "When I got close to Fiume, they opened up on me with 88 millimeter stuff and I thought I was a goner."

Only a cloud bank saved him.

Second Engine Goes Out.

Over the Adriatic he found his radio frozen but started it working by pounding it with a knife and sent out another message.

"I told them I'd be in the drink before long," Smith said.

His second engine failed just as he got within sight of his base "but I knew then that couldn't stop me from getting home."

Lt. Morgan H. Mathews of Portage, Wis., a Lightning pilot, also got a Messerschmitt over Klangenfurt and Fortress gunners got three. Lt. O. F. Myer of LaFayette, Ind., was among other flyers on the mission.

The Forts struck thru heavy antiaircraft fire. Great clouds of smoke hovered over the plant and part of it was in flames as the Fortresses turned away. The Klagenfurt railroad yards also were attacked.

The Klagenfurt works, 75 miles northeast of the Italian port of Trieste and 150 miles southwest of Vienna, is a subsidiary of the huge Messerschmitt plant at Wiener Neustadt outside Vienna, which has also been attacked by the 15th air force.

SELECT YANKS FOR TRAINING IN MOUNTAIN WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Jan. 12 [Delayed]. — American doughboys, cannoneers, and engineers now are getting specialized training for the rugged mountain warfare of the Italian peninsula A detachment of American mountain troops serves as instructors in a new mountain school. Picked men from each battalion will be brought back from the front for an intensive course and then will return to serve as instructors for their battalions.

When the trainees go back into the line they will be able to show their men how to serve in high altitudes, how to sleep and keep warm in the snow, how to scale rocky cliffs, how to drive across country regardless of mountain barriers, and how to use ropes and picks to lift themselves and supplies over mountains.

Some of these mountain specialists also will teach the most efficient method to handle pack mule trains and how best to lower the wounded down mountain slopes.

EXPERT EXPECTS SYNTHETIC TIRE TO GO 100,000 MI.

Synthetic rubber tires traveling 100,000 miles without a puncture will be commonplace after the war, Dr. Arthur Thomas, former president of the Chrysler Institute of Technology, said last night in an address at the annual banquet of the Associated Fur Industries of Chicago at the Covenant club. Dr. Thomas now is a technical adviser to the WPB.

"After the war," he continued, "we can forget the oil of the far east. In the next 10 years technology, with its swift progress, will be able to supply us with enough oil for 100 years from Colorado shale alone. There are many—too many—post-war plans, however. Congress has one, the WPB has one and many others have a plan. All of them are for spending money. What we really need is a plan to create the wealth necessary to pay for all these other plans."

Jugo-Slav war developments.

PARTISAN ARMY 25 MILES FROM CROAT CAPITAL

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP). — Strong forces of Jugo-Slav troops were reported tonight to be driving within 25 miles of Zagreb, capital of Croatia and a German stronghold. Other columns of the Partisan army of Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz were said to have hurled a column of Germans back upon Kocevje, 30 miles northeast of Fiume.

The Partisan march on Zagreb was disclosed in dispatches from Budapest. They also said the puppet chief of state, Dr. Ante Pavelic, had declared a state of emergency in the city. Three thousand persons were reported to have been arrested in an attempt to halt the flight of residents to the camp of Tito's Partisans outside the city.

The German radio said a "Serb Nationalist" force, mostly students, had arrived in the German held port of Sibenik.

Tito's war bulletin broadcast by the free Jugo-Slav radio said Partisans thrusting south toward Fiume had "successfully attacked" a strong German column on the road from Kocevje to Radek, the latter 30 miles northeast of Trieste, and inflicted heavy losses on the Nazis.

BLOOD AND DRUGS SENT TO BALKAN FIGHTERS BY U. S.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 17 (AP).—Packages of blood plasma and drugs are being sent to guerrilla organizations in every corner of the Balkans, the United States medical department disclosed tonight.

Much of it goes to the 250,000 Partisans of Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz who occupy about half of Jugo-Slavia. The rest is being supplied to bands in the mountain districts of Greece.

Each package contains more than 300 units, including sulfa drugs, dextrose, tetanus anti-toxin, and serum, morphine, and a special anti-toxin for gas gangrene. Presumably the supplies are dropped by planes.

YANKS, FRENCH DRIVE TO RIVER BEFORE CASSINO

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Jan. 17 (AP).—American and French troops, smashing at the Nazis' Gustav line along a 30 mile front, today had reached the Rapido river and other points favorable for launching an attack on the key city of Cassino.

At the same time their new commander in chief, Gen. Henry Maitland Wilson, said Rome is the immediate objective of present allied operations in Italy and added he was "optimistic" that the eternal city would fall to the allies before long. He said other attacks might be expected along the southern front anywhere from its western extremity, the Pyrenees, to its Balkan terminus, where the river Maritza flows into the sea.

He said that, given luck, the allies might win the war this year—"but whether we'll finish it this year is another thing," he added.

River Battle Shaping Up.

While Wilson gave no indication where an additional thrust at the Germans from the south might come, he mentioned southern France as the possible point of such an attack should the opportunity for going in there arise.

He said there at one time had been a possibility of the war's extending into Spain, but said that possibility now had receded.

Another great river battle appeared to be shaping up as American forces consolidated their positions on newly captured Mount Trocchio, just east of Cassino, and sent their forward elements to the very banks of the Rapido. The Gustav line follows the Rapido.

French troops fighting thru the mountains reached a point less than 1,000 yards from the village of Sant' Elia, roughly three miles northeast of Cassino.

Snow and Rain in Mountains.

Snow and rain swept the mountains of Italy, and action on the 8th army front was limited to a short advance by Canadian troops and artillery exchanges.

[Monday's German war bulletin said "fighting activity in the sector west and northwest of Cervaro (near Cassino) temporarily has slackened in intensity. Local enemy thrusts were repulsed."]

Flying Fortresses of the 15th United States air force based in southern Italy pounded a Nazi airdrome at Villaorba, and Liberators smashed at the Osoppo airdromes in northern Italy and the Jugo-Slav Adriatic harbor of Zara. The Liberators shot down nine Nazi planes over Osoppo.

50,000TH FLIGHT ACROSS NATION MADE BY UNITED

The 50,000th coast-to-coast flight since the service was inaugurated in 1927 was made yesterday by United Air Lines. When the route was established, time for the flight was 34 hours at an average speed of 105 miles an hour in Boeing 40-A planes designed primarily for mail transport. United planes now travel nearly 200 miles an hour.

110 BRITISH BOYS DRAFTED TO TOIL IN COAL MINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 17.—A public schoolboy, a tailor's cutter, a stereotyper, and a miner's son were among the 110 lads who were conscripted for the coal fields and began their training today. They are 18 year olds whose registration numbers were drawn out of a hat by ballott under Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin's drastic scheme to increase coal production in Britain.

Their training consists of lectures, films, and practical work in the pits. They will stay at a training center for a month and then will be transferred to the mines. All lads called up passed severe medical examinations.

Manchester Colliers, Ltd., have asked their officers to give the boys all sympathetic help possible. It is most desirable, the mine owners warn, that the boys should not feel they were "pitchforked into an industry which will do nothing to help them acclimatize themselves to mining work."

CUTTER SAVES 3 ADRIFT ON ICE; 4TH MAN DIES

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 17 [Special].—Three Fairport fishermen were rescued from a small ice floe in Lake Michigan yesterday afternoon by the coast guard cutter Sweetgum after a fourth member of the party, adrift in Big Bay de Noc for more than 25 hours, died of exposure.

John Rochefort, 56 years old, died on the ice floe during the night. Two sons, Delor, 31, and Edward, 29, and a brother, Henry, 40, were rescued.

The ice floe broke loose early Saturday afternoon while the men were fishing off Sac bay. Their automobile and fish shanty were lost when the ice began to break up. The men chiseled a small block of ice from the large floe after a shift in the wind indicated they would be blown into shore. Survivors are in St. Francis hospital.

RUSSIA'S RUMOR OF PEACE MOVE EXCITES CAPITAL

State Dept. Treats Story with Reserve.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The published rumor that Great Britain is seeking a separate peace with Germany created a sensation in Washington today even tho the British denied the story was true.

The commotion in official Washington caused by the report was due not so much to its content as to the fact that it had been given currency by Pravda, the Communist party's official newspaper, employed by Dictator Stalin to promote his foreign policies.

It is thru the columns of Pravda that Stalin frequently makes his moves on the chess board of international power politics. He did so only last week when Pravda, in telling Wendell Willkie to mind his own business, served notice on Britain, the United States and the world at large that Russia intends to annex the eastern half of Poland, the Baltic republics and parts of Finland and Rumania without consulting any other nation.

Possess No Information.

State department officials said they had no information concerning the Pravda dispatch from Cairo that two British officials recently met Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop at a place in the Pyrenees to discuss conditions of a separate peace between Britain and Germany.

The disposition at the state department was to treat the rumor of Anglo-German peace discussions with the utmost reserve. Officials thought it conceivable that Hitler had initiated peace feelers of some sort, but regarded it unthinkable that any move of this character could have originated with the British.

The circulation of the report by the soviet government, however, caused a general raising of eyebrows particularly because this development came on top of a succession of events and reports indicating that relations between the British and American governments on the one hand and the Russian government on the other are not so harmonious as they have been pictured since the Teheran conference.

Recall Mediation Reports.

Not since the desperate days for Britain following the disaster at Dunkirk has there been such a flurry of excitement over rumors of peace negotiations. When the British were fighting with their backs to the wall in 1940 and arming themselves with the rifles President Roosevelt rushed to England, it was an open secret in Washington that a neutral mediator was going back and forth between the British and German embassies, acting as the medium of peace feelers.

The gossip at the time was that Hitler initiated the overtures and that their rejection by the British had not been without American encouragement. In 1941 Rudolf Hess, No. 2 Nazi, flew to England with another of Hitler's peace proposals, which the British rejected after acquainting Washington with the strange affair. Altho America was not yet in the war formally, Washington was adamant against any compromise with Hitler. Hess, who had been put in a jail, is still there.

Upset by Stalin's Demand.

The notice Stalin served on the Polish government in exile that he intends to keep the eastern half of Poland to which he took title thru agreement with Hitler in 1939 also has upset equanimity in a good many quarters.

No less disturbing have been the reports that the British, since the Polish and other developments have indicated that Russia intends to dominate eastern Europe, are now reverting to their time honored balance of power principle in European politics. The British are said to realize that Stalin is carving out a sphere of influence extending westward beyond Poland into Germany as far as the River Elbe.

British Conservatives make no bones of apprehension that Britain's position will be threatened if Russia is enabled to extend her influence westward to the Elbe, southward to the Adriatic and the Aegean, and even to challenge British influence in Iran [Persia].

Anti-Russian Combination.

Because of such apprehensions more than ordinary significance attaches to the recent discussions in London of a post-war European federation dominated by Britain. It would be opposed to Russia in creating a balance of post-war power.

France might go into the federation, it is surmised, tho it is doubted that France will count for much as a power for a generation or more. Sweden is regarded as receptive to the proposition because of the prospective encroachment of Russia upon the Baltic.

A prominent participant in discussions of a British federation of European states was Jan Christiaan Smuts, prime minister of South Africa, who is a towering figure in the British empire, second only to Prime Minister Churchill himself. Another participant was John Anderson, chancellor of the British exchequer, a Conservative who is known to feel that the organization of a western European federation may become a necessity to balance Russian domination of eastern Europe.

Anderson is regarded by British Conservatives as the logical successor of Churchill whenever the prime minister chooses to retire.

TALE OF PEACE TALK 'ABSURD,' BRITISH INSIST

Deny Rumor Printed in Moscow Paper.

British government at once decided to deny it officially and to bring this denial directly to the notice of the soviet government."

The Express said one American theory was that Pravda wanted the rumor brought into the open so it could be killed forcefully.

The Manchester Guardian said: "To the world at large the story carries its refutation on its face, but what is not pleasant is that such a slanderous accusation against an ally should be circulated among the Russian people."

Points to 'Untoward Events.'

The News-Chronicle said that since the Teheran and Cairo conferences "a number of untoward events have occurred to cause the world to wonder whether the united nations really are so united."

The Yorkshire Post, in an editorial entitled "Pravda's Silly Tale," said: "The story seems to be almost too foolish to refute."

Moscow Paper's Report.

MOSCOW, Jan. 17 (AP).—The Communist party organ, Pravda, today published a report which, altho plainly labeled as a rumor from Cairo, amounted to an unofficial accusation that Britain was sounding out Germany on the possibility of a separate peace. The ten-line dispatch was published at the top of Pravda's foreign news page. It said:

"CAIRO, Jan. 12 [By Special Correspondent of Pravda].—According to information from reliable Greek and Jugo-Slav sources, a secret meeting took place recently in one of the sea coast cities of the Pyrenees peninsula between two English officials and Von Ribbentrop.

"The meeting had the aim of finding out the conditions of a separate peace with the Germans. It is understood the meeting did not remain without results."

Russians Excited.

Excited interest and surprise were stirred among Russians by the strange and disturbing story.

[There was no hint as to the identity of the Britons reported engaged in the negotiations. A Berne dispatch said the Ankara radio had quoted Pravda as saying "two former British statesmen" had met Ribbentrop.]

Disclaim Information.

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 17 (AP).—Greek and Jugo-Slav sources here disclaimed any information of the rumored peace talks reported by Pravda to have taken place on the Pyrenees peninsula.

TWO BOYS, 14, STEAL TRUCK OF CAKES AND TREAT SCHOOLMATES

Two 14 year old boys who drove off with a bakery truck full of cup cakes and layer cakes and distributed their cargo free to pupils of the O'Toole Elementary school, 65th street and Seeley avenue, at recess yesterday, were in the juvenile home last night.

They are Hubbard Long, 6343 Wood street, an eighth grade pupil at O'Toole school, and Loyal Wayne Wood, 6017 South Winchester avenue, an eighth grader at Earle school, 61st street and Hermitage avenue.

Both were playing hookey yesterday when they spied a bakery truck parked in the rear of 6248 South Ashland avenue. They climbed in and drove off. They reached the O'Toole school just at recess. They were on their way to the Earle school to distribute the rest of their wares when detectives from the stolen automobile detail caught them at 82d street and Ashland avenue.

The truck belonged to Mabel Dwan & Sons, Inc., 6232 Michigan avenue.

Reds Treat Tuberculosis with Blood Transfusions

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP).—The Sternberg Tuberculosis institute in Leningrad has successfully treated tuberculosis with repeated blood transfusions, the Moscow radio said tonight.

REDS PRESS NEW DRIVE TOWARD LATVIAN BORDER

LONDON, Jan. 18 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Moscow announced tonight that one Red army had driven to within seven miles of Novosokolniki, a rail junction 70 miles from the Latvian border. Berlin said 250,000 Russians were attacking all along a 250 mile front south of Leningrad.

In the sweep into old Poland another army under Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin was reported to have smashed to within 14 miles of the important rail city of Rovno [Rowne] with the capture of Tuchin, a district center. Rovno is 40 miles inside pre-war Poland.

Russian forces which on Sunday had cut the Novosokolniki-Leningrad railway, 20 miles north of Novosokolniki, widened their hold along that railway with the seizure of five additional places in advances of two or more miles.

Report Crossing of River.

DNB, the German news agency, said that Russians attacking across the frozen northern tip of Lake Ilmen—between Novosokolniki and Leningrad—had forced a crossing of the long contested Volkhov river at a point 16 miles north of the lake. Such a development would put the Russians close to the big German base of Novgorod.

The regular Russian war bulletin did not mention the situation in lower White Russia, where Gen. Constantine K. Rokossovsky's army last was reported only 47 miles from the pre-war Polish frontier in a drive thru the Pripet marshes toward Pinsk.

But a Moscow broadcast later said that soviet troops had broken thru to an important railway and that fighting was raging on both banks of the Pripet river. Rokossovsky's troops were about 100 miles from Pinsk, but Gen. Vatutin's forces on the south were only 47 miles from that city.

German counterattacks were reported continuing in the Uman region of the southwestern Ukraine. The Russians said their troops repulsed all of them.

GERMAN WAR REPORT

Monday's German war bulletin as broadcast from Berlin said:

"Northeast of Kerch [Crimea] and northwest of Kirovograd [Dnieper bend], the soviets continued their violent attacks. All break-thru attempts were frustrated.

"West of Rechitsa [in the Pripet sector] the soviets, after staging artillery preparation, launched an attack with strong forces. In heavy and fluctuating fighting, German troops held their positions. Several breaks in the German line were ironed out or sealed off.

"Southeast of Vitebsk [south of Nevel], renewed soviet attacks were frustrated by the stubborn resistance of German troops.

"Northwest and north of Nevel, the enemy threw fresh formations into the battle. Enemy attacks carried out thruout the day collapsed with heavy losses for the soviets.

"North of Lake Ilmen, in the area south of Leningrad and south of Oranienbaum, the soviets attacked with growing intensity. Their break-thru attempts were frustrated in bitter fighting."

NAZI AIR FORCE STRONGER THAN EVER: ARNOLD

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 17 (AP).—Predicting that Germany will fight to the last ditch, Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the army air forces, said tonight that the German defensive air force is stronger than it ever has been and that Germany itself is "still strong—mighty strong."

Furthermore, he said, there is not the faintest doubt that Germany has produced some "secret weapons"—altho of the type that the allies usually call "new developments."

Arnold came to Philadelphia, formerly his home, to receive the gold medal of achievement of 1943, awarded to him by the Poor Richard club for his accomplishment in the organization and development of the air forces.

RECOVER BODIES OF 900 ARGENTINE QUAKE VICTIMS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Jan. 17 (AP).—Rescue squads have recovered 900 bodies from quake stricken San Juan and are still digging in the ruins of that Andes mountain city, it was announced officially tonight. Estimates of the total number of dead have ranged as high as 5,000. Fresh reports also boosted the toll of the injured from 5,000 to more than 13,000.

The government press bureau said it was too early for an accurate calculation of the material loss, but estimated it would reach at least 75 million dollars. Another quake of short duration last night toppled some walls still left standing.

The task of removing the dead from the rubble and administering to the wounded went on amid huge piles of debris which still blocked most streets in the once picturesque mountain city of 30,000. Rescue squads cremated scores of unidentified bodies at the orders of health authorities.

Of 328 prisoners who escaped when the Marquesado prison walls toppled, 10 returned and were "jailed" in the open. Seven prison guards were reported killed.

SNOWDEN LOSES ELECTION SUIT IN SUPREME COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—In a 7 to 2 decision, the United States Supreme court today upheld the dismissal of a $50,000 damage suit brought by Joseph E. Snowden, Negro attorney of Chicago, against the Illinois canvassing board.

Snowden had sued the Illinois officials for their refusal to certify him as a Republican nominee for the general assembly from the 3d Illinois senatorial district in the 1940 election. He had run third in the primary, with two to be nominated, but one of the successful candidates, A. Andrew Torrence, was murdered the day before the election. Snowden, in his suit, contended he was denied certification because he was not a "regular Republican."

PLANES BATTLE IN MARSHALLS; 3 JAP SHIPS HIT

45 Enemy Craft Meet Yank Bombers.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Jan. 17 (AP).—Army and navy bombers struck heavily at Japanese shipping in the Marshall Islands Jan. 15 and 16, sinking one small cargo ship and damaging three others and stirring up the strongest enemy interception yet encountered over a single atoll.

Headquarters of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced that 45 enemy fighter planes took up the fight over Maloelap Saturday. Bombers of the American 7th army air force made the attack at low altitude. One bomber was lost, but two enemy fighters were believed shot down. Two cargo ships were bombed and may have been sunk.

Attack Mili Twice.

The small cargo ship was sunk at Likiep atoll Saturday by navy search planes. Seven enemy ships have been sunk in the Marshalls so far this month, two probably sunk and nine damaged.

Two attacks on Mili atoll were made Sunday by army bombers. Two enemy bombers were shot down over the air field in the first strike. The second, carried out "in considerable force," strafed ground installations heavily. One of our planes was lost.

Nuisance raids against American bases in the Gilbert islands were ready made by Japanese planes Saturday night. Makin was hit three times and Tarawa twice. One enemy plane was shot down over Makin. The announcement said there was no appreciable damage to our installations and casualties were light.

Bomb Jap Convoy.

ADVANCED HDQ., New Guinea. Jan. 18 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Bombs from navy Catalina patrol planes sank a 10,000 ton Japanese vessel and set afire two other merchantmen of a six-ship enemy convoy caught off the Japanese base at Kavieng, New Ireland, Sunday night, allied headquarters announced today.

The allied planes, members of the south Pacific Black Cats squadron, spotted the convoy of four cargo vessels and two warships, possibly cruisers, 45 miles off Kavieng.

Left burning were an 8,000 ton ship and other of 6,000 tons.

The Japanese have stepped up their air activity, reports indicated, and allied flyers continued their blows on enemy bases at Rabaul.

Japs Lose 18 Planes.

An attack on the American invasion area at Saidor, New Guinea, cost the Japanese 17 fighters and one divebomber when the attack was intercepted by allied P-40 fighters which suffered only minor loss, the bulletin said. The attack was the heaviest the enemy had attempted against American sixth army troops, who invaded Saidor Jan. 2.

Liberators and Mitchells poured 87 tons of bombs on Japanese defensive positions at Arawe peninsula, New Britain, inland from where American invasion troops are installed.

M. P. DEMANDS BRITAIN CLOSE IRISH BORDERS

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP).—The Rev. James Little, a member of parliament from Ulster, announced today he will ask the house of commons to close the border between Northern Ireland and Ireland as an aftermath of his allegation that two parachutists were dropped from a German bomber into Ireland early in December.

"We have an open border with Eire and if Germany is allowed to drop spies in Eire there is nothing to stop them crossing into Ulster and injuring the people of Northern Ireland," he explained.

Irish censorship closed down firmly on the story and not a word about the charge has been printed in the Irish press. [An earlier dispatch, presumably referring to the same two parachutists, identified them as John P. O'Reilly, the Nazis' "Lord Haw Haw," and Patrick Kenny, son of an Irish volunteer of 1916.]

TRUCK HITS STREETCAR.

Earl Taylor, 34 years old, a trucker who lives at 709 West Evergreen avenue, was charged with reckless driving yesterday after his truck was hit by a trolley car when he made a left hand turn in the 5800 block in North Halsted street.

PREPARING MEN FOR JOBS AHEAD, GEN. 'IKE' SAYS

Praises Fighting Men in British Isles.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 17.—With a statement from Gen. Eisenhower, supreme allied commander in Europe, that allied troops are being toughened for tasks ahead, conviction grew here today that military strategy agreed on at the Teheran conference is progressing according to plan for its fulfillment.

Eisenhower, giving his first press conference here, disclosed that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley was the senior American general heading American ground troops in the British Isles.

Praises Fighting Men.

The supreme commander praised the "grand work" of the naval forces in bringing troops to England safely and that of the air forces in pounding of Germany.

"We should not overlook the good work of base supply, nor the fine infantry, training and preparing out on the cold moors and on the countryside in mud and rain," Eisenhower said.

The general reviewed his attitude toward the press and obligations resting with newspaper men and the military in allowing the maximum news coverage of operations without infringing on security.

Sees Staff Officers.

"Fundamentally, public opinion wins a war," he said. "I take it you are just as anxious as I am to win this war and get it done so we can all go fishing."

Altho Eisenhower arrived only yesterday he has lost no time in meeting his senior staff officers who are at work under his command.

Hint Patton Will Help.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—The announcement that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley will be senior American general under Gen. Eisenhower in Europe caused no surprise in Washington, where it has been predicted freely that he would get an important invasion command.

The phrasing of the London announcement, with its implications that Bradley would not necessarily be the American counterpart of Gen. Montgomery, commander of all the British army elements in the invasion force, roused once again speculation that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. also is slated for an important command under Eisenhower.

Juvenile Crime Up 25% in Scotland During War

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Juvenile crime in Scotland has increased 25 per cent since the outbreak of war, Thomas Johnston, secretary of state for Scotland, said today in opening the Scottish convention on juvenile delinquency in Edinburgh. In 1942, he said, more than 19,000 charges were proved against juveniles in Scottish law courts.

New Abe Lincoln to His Men; That's Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley.

Omar Nelson Bradley, who will be senior general in command of American ground troops in the European invasion, is the "doughboys' general." Schooled essentially as an infantryman, altho thoroly conversant with all the other military branches, his favorite perch during a campaign is at the front, where he can watch the footsloggers at their job.

And he's with them in training, too. One of the most illustrative and amusing stories concerning Bradley is of an incident at Camp Livingston, La., in 1942 when he was a major general commanding the 28th division.

The general had been working late at his desk and hadn't been able to start out with his men on a long night march. He hurried to catch up with them and fell in with the rear ranks. In the darkness he was not recognized, nor was his two star insignia noticable.

For hours the general plodded over difficult terrain. Some men fell by the wayside, tired out, but not Bradley.

A "Fifth Columnist."

One soldier was complaining loudly about the rigors of the march.

"O, the army isn't so bad," spoke up the incognito general.

"Not so bad!" yelled the soldier. "Hey, guys, listen to the fifth columnist!"

It wasn't until the next day that the soldier realized at whom he'd yelled. His face was plenty red. The general never said a word.

I became well acquainted with Gen. Bradley during the last stages of the Tunisian campaign, when he commanded the Americar 2d corps and was hailed as the conqueror of Bizerte. I was also with him during the Sicilian campaign, when he again led the 2d corps.

Another Abe Lincoln.

I saw him become one of the most beloved commanders in the American army. I never heard an officer or man talk of him with anything but liking.

The feeling of his two young aides, Capt. Lewis Bridge of Lodi, Cal., and Capt. Chester Hansen of Elizabeth, N. J., is akin to adoration for him.

Bridge told me of one night in Sicily when the general asked for a shovel to pat down the earth and make his cot rest more evenly.

"Hansen and I begged to do the job for him," Bridge related, "but he said 'I'm going to sleep here, not you.' He's the old man, the boss we revere. He is another Abe Lincoln to me."

There is a physical resemblance, too, between Bradley and the great President. Bradley is six feet one inch tall, lanky, soft spoken. And a soldier was born on Lincoln's birthday in 1893 in Clark, Mo.

Shot at Frequently.

He is one of the best shots in the army. As a front line general, sharing perils with his men, his jeep has been shot out from under him, his reconnaissance car has been ripped by shrapnel, and his rifle butt has been hit by more of the same.

At field headquarters and at training camps he takes all his telephone calls himself, and is easy even for enlisted men to see.

Bradley is not the flamboyant type of leader. He is unobtrusive in his appearance.

He looks like a school teacher—he taught mathematics at West Point for four years—and that resemblance is accentuated when he studies war maps and gives his orders in a quiet voice.

Played Football Tackle.

Bradley graduated from West Point in 1915, standing near the head of his class and having been a varsity football tackle and left fielder on the academy baseball team. He was on the Mexican border with the 14th infantry during the first World war. He never got overseas, but came out of the war a major. He taught mathematics at West Point from 1920 to 1924 and was assistant commandant of cadets there from 1934 to 1938.

He headed the Fort Benning infantry school from February, 1941, to February, 1942, then took command of the 82d airborne infantry division. It became so good that it was split into two other divisions.

The West Point yearbook of 1915 had said of him: "Some day we'll be glad to tell our children we knew Gen. Bradley."

This prophetic writing was realized in February, 1941, when he became the first man of his academy class to reach brigadier general rank. He was made a major general in June, 1942, and after his victory in Tunisia was named a lieutenant general.

FOREIGN MEDAL AWARDS AGAIN STIR CONGRESS

Issue Is Raised Over Consent Measure.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 [Special].—Propriety of accepting medals and decorations by government officers and employes without the consent of congress was brought up today by a measure specifically asking congressional consent for acceptance of British empire medals by three civil aeronautics commission employes.

The resolution, introduced by Sen. Bone [D., Wash.] asks a congressional dispensation so Rex Marchant and Jack Veniss Bassett, both of Wenatchee, Wash., and Loren E. Sasseen of Anchorage, Alaska, may receive the decorations from the Canadian government for heroism in rescuing the crew of a bomber which crashed in Alaska.

No Permission Sought.

Sen. Bone's action aroused interest because many foreign decorations have been conferred on various Americans, including high officers, without the formality of asking permission of congress.

When British Ambassador Halifax passed out several decorations to Americans last November it was recalled that the explanation was given that congressional consent was unnecessary.

Banned by Constitution.

The United States Constitution provides that "No person holding any office of profit or trust . . . shall, without the consent of congress, accept any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state."

King George bestowed the honorary rank of knight grand cross of the order of the bath, military division, on Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur last May. This appointment permits them to use the title "sir" if they had congressional permission.

PERUVIAN URGES UNION OF NORTH, SOUTH AMERICA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Jan. 17.—Rafael Larco Herrera, vice president of Peru, said on an unofficial trip here today: "My visit is motivated by my desire to air a plan conceived in 1929 which embodies the unification of the American nations. I consider the present time admirable for forging a definite union. The capital of the North Americans and the mineral wealth of Latin America form an ideal combination for mutual and beneficial economic development of the continents."

WHY BRADLEY'S NAME IS OMAR; SO MANY OF 'EM

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 17 [Special].—Mrs. Mary Bradley, wife of Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley, today took calmly the news that her husband had been selected leader of American invasion forces. "He's always done the best he can," she said, "and it has always been enough. He will do the best he can. I am sure it will be enough."

The Bradleys were hometown sweethearts. Both came from Moberly, Mo., where there were so many Bradleys around that Omar's mother decided she'd have to do something drastic to save him from being confused with the rest. So she named him Omar.

Mrs. Bradley heard twice from her husband since the first of the year. She has the same lament as the wives of most privates—he doesn't tell her anything in his letters.

DISCLOSE 'IKE' MET HIS MOTHER ON KANSAS TRIP

Manhattan, Kas., Jan. 17 (AP).—Taking a few hours off during his busy schedule on his recent trip to the United States Gen. Eisenhower enjoyed a brief family reunion in Kansas, it was learned today.

Arriving by airplane at Marshall field, Fort Riley, one evening, the general came to Manhattan immediately in an army car and spent the night at the home of his brother, M. S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State college. There he met his 82 year old mother, Mrs. David Eisenhower. She came from her home in Abilene to see her son, supreme commander of the allied expeditionary forces in Europe.

The general, who was reared in Kansas, left the following morning for Washington. The war department yesterday disclosed that Gen. Eisenhower had spent "a few days" in Washington en route from the Mediterranean to the United Kingdom, and that he had conferred with President Roosevelt and Gen. Marshall.

Yanks Shower Bombs on Indo-China Power Plant

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 17 (AP).—United States Mitchell bombers showered explosives on the power plant at Hongay in French Indo-China Saturday, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today. Bombers also scored hits on railroad trackage at Campha Port, while other Mitchells sank a collier off Swatow and bombed a lighthouse and destroyed many buildings on Nanpeng Island.

Germany Has Parody Trouble; Bans Anthem

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 17 (AP).—Singing of the Horst Wessel song, Nazi anthem, now is forbidden in Germany unless special permission is obtained in connection with pre-arranged assemblies, sources from Germany reported today. The reason: Too many anti-Nazi parodies were being sung to the tune. The same thing happened with the once-popular Wir Fahren Gegen England [We're Sailing Against England], also banned.

OLD NEWS TURNS INTO GOOD NEWS IN PAPER DRIVE

School Children Send 600 Tons to War.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Yesterday's newspaper is no longer out of date.

The school children of Chicago yesterday proved that old newspapers can make news. They turned in approximately 600 tons of waste paper as the day's collection in the first scheduled school pickup of the new scrap paper salvage program. This was announced by John R. Robinson of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, executive chairman of the program.

In New York last night headquarters of the national campaign reported the Chicago drive has turned up "the greatest collection of waste paper ever made in America." The Chicago report was listed as far ahead of any of the 210 key cities of the nation.

Impact of Drives Felt.

Impact of the numerous newspaper drives is being felt, a telegram from War Production Board Chairman Donald Nelson to the campaign executives in New York said. December receipts were higher than in any month since March, Nelson reported, and paper board mill inventories improved for the first time in months. Nelson set December receipts at 530,000 tons against 514,000 in November. The goal, however, is 667,000 tons a month, he said.

Marshall High school students yesterday gave impetus to their campaign with a unique project. Every student in the school turned in a Sunday newspaper as required homework. At the Gompers School for Crippled Children, more than four tons of old newspapers, magazines, cardboard boxes, and scrap was collected, Mrs. Mary Courtenay, principal, said. The school buses that call for the children picked up the bundles of waste paper at each home.

Committee Meets Today.

Yesterday's collection was concentrated on schools in the south side of the city and thruout the week 569 schools will be visited.

The salvage program committee, composed of key men from the war production board, the office of civilian defense, the paper industry and the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, will meet this afternoon in the Morrison hotel to set dates for regular curb-side pickups. It is planned also to organize the city's churches and theaters.

Elgin's week-end paper salvage drive netted nearly 164 tons of scrap, Atty. Dan B. Whiters Jr., president of Elgin council, Boy Scouts of America, said yesterday. Originally the Scouts hoped to fill two boxcars with paper, but the response was so great that five cars were used.

MILWAUKEE EGG CEILING OFF, BUT CITY'S LIDS STAY

Altho the Milwaukee district director of the office of price administration yesterday removed eggs from ceiling control because mounting production torpedoed prices, there will be no such action for the time being in Chicago, Paul A. H. Shults, acting OPA area director, said last night.

"We considered such a step in Chicago," Shults said, "but decided that the best interest of the consumer could be served by maintaining ceiling prices. These prices are based on a national flat price for grade A eggs, now being revised downward each week because of increasing production, and a fixed percentage markup over prices to farmers and wholesalers for other grades. And, of course, a ceiling price is a ceiling price; any dealer, wholesale or retail, can sell products for less than that figure."

The ceiling price on grade A eggs is 59 cents in Chicago.

OPA SUSPENDS 2 DEALERS FOR ILLEGAL PRICES

The office of price administration yesterday ordered the Basse Brothers' market at 3338 Lawrence avenue, operated by Morris Basse, suspended from trading in rationed commodities for 11 months, beginning Feb. 2.

The order was issued by Charles L. Ferguson, acting hearing administrator in Washington, to whom Basse had appealed a previous suspension imposed by W. M. McFarland, regional hearing commissioner, on charges of violating price ceilings.

A 10 day suspension order went into effect yesterday at the Lake Forest store of Louis Abrahams, found guilty by the OPA of selling rationed foods without collecting points, and making overcharges. A similar suspension order will take effect in Abrahams' Highland Park store Jan. 27, and in his Winnekta store Feb. 6.

FINES PACKING COMPANY $96,025 FOR HIGH PRICES

The Empire Packing company was fined $96,025 in federal court yesterday by Judge John P. Barnes, who held the company was guilty of "bad faith and criminal intent" when it charged butchers 2 cents above the ceiling price on beef delivered between Aug. 20 and Oct. 9, 1942. Theodore E. Rein, attorney for the company, said an appeal probably would be taken.

The company, a comparatively small firm that sells only in the Chicago metropolitan market, was fined under the triple damage provision. The action was brought by the office of price administration, which called in butchers who testified they made side payments to salesmen to cover the difference between the 21 cents a pound ceiling price and the 23 cents the company charged.

Rein argued that Sam Chapman, president of the company, acted in good faith in trying to follow complicated OPA regulations and attacked the section of the law under which the action was brought, but Judge Barnes asserted that it was obvious that the company "began violating the OPA regulations from the moment they were put into effect and has never stopped."

FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED.

David Reilly, 58 years old, 4538 Lake Park avenue, a guard for Swift & Co., was found dead in bed yesterday, apparently of a heart attack, by his landlady, Mrs. Maude Ines.

WAR THREATENS MIDWEST LOSS OF A RATIONS

Help for Farmers

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—The office of price administration advanced the use of 120 red meat points today for on-the-farm purchase of rationed meats, notably pork. OPA said it expected its order would encourage farmers to slaughter their hogs on the farm. The OPA action validated the red stamps in book 4 numbered 8 and lettered A thru M for immediate use in on-the-farm purchases of rationed meats.

Middle west and west coast motorists who hold A books and no other form of gasoline rations face loss of their fuel supplies if the European war lasts until fall, Col. Bryan Houston, deputy administrator of the office of price administration, in charge of rationing, said here yesterday.

Houston said two experiments would be started Feb. 1 in an effort to halt the flow of "unnecessary" gasoline to farms. where, he said, most of the black market losses now occur. He said that crude oil production and refinery output of motor fuel had reached capacity.

War News Increasing.

"We can get thru until summer or later without cutting A, B, and C allotments to motorists, but war needs are increasing daily and eventually we'll have to restrict civilians in favor of war use," Houston said. "California and the middle west are using more than their share."

He predicted eventual allotments to service stations if supplies get to the point where there isn't enough to keep their tanks full.

Tell of Farm Experiments.

Houston and Edward F. Stegen, regional rationing executive and author of one of the experiments, explained how the farm tests would be made. In Florida and Georgia, they said, farmers will be able to use their R coupons, for off-highway use gasoline, only at bulk plants, and filling stations will not be allowed to honor them.

In five Minnesota counties, Goodhue, Rice, Dakota, Washington, and Scott, a "purchase permit plan" will eliminate the use of R coupons, and farmers will be given certificates, good only at bulk plants. They explained that the experiments were caused largely by "psychological reasons."

MANY FAMILIES SUFFER IN COLD FOR LACK OF OIL

Supply on Hand if the OPA Relents.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Public suffering because of breakdowns in Prof. Joel Dean's fuel oil rationing system increased in the Chicago area yesterday as more families ran out of supplies. Distributors added their voices to the general clamor. They said they had ample oil on hand to supply all needs but that under the regulations they could not deliver it.

Dean, chief of rationing for the Washington office of price administration, remained obdurate in his stand to freeze the families that ran out of oil. Despite the fact that the fault lay in the regulations and rations that have been laid down by Dean and his staff, according to oil authorities, the OPA attitude continued to be that "it's all the public's fault."

Tell Causes of Shortages.

The suppliers pointed out several reasons why home owners might have used up their allotment despite every effort to comply with the rules and conserve fuel. They said many families had been given additional rations last year when they ran out but that Dean was taking no notice of this but allowing them only the original amounts they were granted then.

Having been granted an inadequate ration by mistake at the beginning, these families were given the same ration again this year, the suppliers asserted—and now Dean will allow no one to do anything about it.

It was also pointed out that beginning last December users got 11 gallons of oil for each coupon, whereas they are now—a month or more later this year—still getting only 10 gallons per coupon.

Temperature Almost Same.

Yet there is almost no difference between temperatures last winter and this winter. Up until the present it had been only about 1 degree warmer than last year.

Appeals for oil were pouring in both at metropolitan rationing headquarters and at the Burning Oil Distributors association offices and more were added to the list of around 10,000 families either out or about to be out of oil.

Dean's statement that "the distillate you burn can be converted gallon for gallon into aviation gasoline" was attacked by Dr. Gustav Egloff and other refinery experts, who said such an undertaking would cost "about $100 a gallon."

OWNER SUES TO VOID OPA AFTER COURT REFUSES EVICTION

Harry H. Wise, owner of apartment buildings at 3615-23 Leland avenue, charged in a petition filed in federal District court yesterday that the office of price administration not only has fixed the minimum rent he may charge but, acting on "pretended authority," is seeking to determine whom he shall have as tenants.

Wise, represented by Atty. J. Kentner Elliott, asks that the emergency price control act, thru which OPA was created, be held unconstitutional on the ground that it violates the 5th and 10th amendments to the Constitution by depriving owners of their property rights without due process of law. Named defendants are Chester Bowles, national administrator of OPA, John F. McCarthy, Chicago rent director, and Phillip Brenner, a tenant.

The petition states Brenner ignored a notice to move. Wise brought an eviction action. The case was dismissed when OPA attorneys informed Judge George B. Weiss in Municipal court that Wise could not evict Brenner without the rent agency's permission.

Landlord Yields; OPA to See His Rent Records

Frederick A. Gehm, 2217 Belmont avenue, a landlord, agreed before Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday to produce rent records for examination by office of price administration investigators. He previously had ignored a subpena from the Chicago rent administrator on the ground his constitutional rights were being violated. He told Judge Barnes ha had changed his mind.

ROB PAY PHONES AND MARKET.

Burglars who smashed two pay telephones in the United Fruit market, 2021 Broadway, last night took an unknown amount of nickels and $40 from the cash register.

WE BOUGHT every skin in this MINK COAT direct from the trappers. Our own skilled furriers created it and made it entirely in our own factory. It's a masterpiece of enduring beauty and mink elegance. Not a single cent goes as profit to a middleman. That's why the price is NOT $1800 but only

And WE Talk about Sacrifice

Ask a Mother the meaning of sacrifice... ask the ghosts of the boys on Tarawa. Ask them, too, what they would give to trade places with us! We talk of sacrifice who have yet to suffer loss; we prate of privation and carp of discomfort in a world of warmth and light, ease and plenty! All we're asked to do is buy, not give; invest, not donate! Our sacrifice is a selfish one, so let's do it gratefully, humbly; let's buy extra bonds... for if our boys can afford to die, we can afford to buy.

PLUNGE KILLS ACCUSED AID OF BREWERY HEIR

New York, Jan. 17 (AP).—A man identified by police as John Edward Wilson, 58 years old, recently indicted with Gert Hans von Gontard, brewery heir, on a charge of conspiracy to violate the selective service act, fell 14 stories to his death tonight. Wilson was a former chief clerk of a New York local draft board.

The dead man left four notes relating to the indictment, police said. He plunged from the top of a building at 331 Madison avenue. The police said one of the notes asked Wilson's wife not to blame him for his action, saying: "This is the only way out—to do what I am about to do."

Wilson was indicted with Von Gontard, identified by Assistant United States Attorney J. Gerard Cregan as grandson of the late Adolphus Busch, founder of the Anheuser-Busch breweries in St. Louis, and three other men by a federal grand jury Jan. 10.

SHOW PENICILLIN AIDS HEALING OF BATTLE WOUNDS

NAVAL HOSPITAL, Oahu, T. H., Jan. 17 (AP).—Penicillin, the recently developed bacteria combating drug, is being used to heal ragged gunshot wounds and lung punctures sustained by Americans in the landing forces which stormed Tarawa atoll in the Gilbert Islands. Medical officers at this naval hospital said today the mold drug has been found an effective aid in healing some of the worst battle wounds.

"We are still in the experimental stage with lung and bone cases," said Capt. Edward Watts of Seattle, Wash., medical chief at the hospital, "but the results look gratifying."

In particular, penicillin is being used in cases where the use of sulfa drugs has not proved effective, Capt. Watts said. Penicillin scored a perfect record on 234 touch test cases of gonorrhea, the captain reported.

Nazis Claim U-Boats Sink 10 Allied Vessels in 3 Seas

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP).—The Berlin radio asserted today that German U-boats had sunk five transports totaling 36,500 tons, three destroyers and two submarines in recent attacks upon allied shipping in the North Atlantic, the Mediterranean and the Black sea. The broadcast said the destroyer sinkings brought to nine the number of these allied craft destroyed so far this month. The German claims were without allied confirmation.

Hungarian Radio Denies Bulgars Will Move Capital

New York, Jan. 17 (AP).—The Hungarian radio said today it had been announced "officially that Sofia continues to be the seat of the Bulgarian government." The German language broadcast, recorded by United States government monitors, declared that "this disposes of all rumors alleging movement of the government to one or another provincial town, which are thus exposed as untrue."

DELAY IN DRAFT OF KEY POSTAL WORKERS ASKED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Samuel R. Young, assistant chief inspector of the postoffice department, said tonight that the temporary deferment of all pre-Pearl Harbor fathers who are in "essential" postoffice jobs is being sought. He explained that each case will be considered individually. It is expected that 20,000 cases will be studied.

"In large offices like Chicago, many such men probably can be spared," he said, "but a small office with two or three employes would be crippled if any experienced men were taken." The postal service already has lost 34,000 of its 300,000 employes to the army and navy.

Meanwhile, the proposal to defer other pre-Pearl Harbor fathers on federal pay rolls for 60 days, pending action by review committees within the different agencies, met with an attack by Rep. Elston [R., O.],

3 YANK FLYERS AMONG LONDON RAIL CRASH DEAD

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP). — Three United States army air men were listed today among the nine persons killed when a London and North Eastern railway passenger train crashed into the rear of another passenger train yesterday in the station at Ilford, a London suburb.

Nine Americans also were included among the injured, which totaled approximately 30. Names of the Americans involved in the accident were not immediately disclosed.

American and British soldiers aided in removing dead and injured from the wreckage. A member of the Pioneer corps told of seeing an American soldier pinned by the legs who merely said, "I'm all right," when a doctor gave him a pain-easing drug. It was Britain's worst train wreck in two years. Many of the coaches were wooden.

NAMES TWO NEW FIRE MARSHALS IN PROMOTING 40

3 Captains, 4 Lieutenants, 31 Firemen Moved Up.

In a sweeping transfer order issued last night, Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan made 40 promotions—two battalion chiefs to division marshals, three captains to battalion chiefs, four lieutenants to captains, and 31 firemen to lieutenants.

The new division marshals and their assignments are James S. Furlong, 6th division, and Lawrence E. Owens, 4th division.

The new battalion chiefs are John Zacher, 10th battalion; Richard E. Cassidy, 10th battalion, and James Gormley, 16th battalion.

The New Captains.

Those promoted to captains and their assignments are: Charles Phillips, squad one; William O'Farrell, hook and ladder company No. 21; Frank Flynn, engine No. 28; William P. Hughes, hook and ladder company No. 2.

Firemen promoted to lieutenants, and their old assignments, and the divisions with which they will serve as relief lieutenants are:

Edward M. Corrigan	H. & L. 6, 1st div.
Joseph K. Sandberg	Engine 112, 3d div.
Jeremiah J. McAuliffe	Squad 1, 1st div.
James W. Keating	Engine 67, 2d div.

Frank J. Rauscher	Engine 31, 5th div.
John P. Lenihan	H. & L. 50, 5th div.
Matthew Flick	Engine 109, 2d div.
Alexander McDonald	H. & L. 50, 4th div.

Two in the Army.

Two firemen who were promoted to lieutenants are on leave while serving in the army. They are Edward J. Durkin, hook and ladder company No. 4, and John Meighan, hook and ladder company No. 31.

Transfers included the shift of Division Marshal Jeremiah J. Sheehan from the 6th division to the post of department drillmaster. Four battalion chiefs, 14 lieutenants, and 15 firemen were transferred.

EGAN, WITNESS IN QUIRK TRIAL, HIDES IN JAIL

James Egan, who once was quite a fellow to get about on the south side, gambling and drinking a few pints of whisky a day to keep in shape, now thinks there is no place so nice and homey as the county jail.

James Egan.

Egan, who did his best to put his ex-boss, John J. Williams, keeper of a gambling house, and a couple of other old friends in the electric chair when he testified that they engineered the murder of Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk last September, politely declined his freedom yesterday.

Egan, ex-convict, has been a guest of the district attorney since he implicated his pals. They were acquitted and are at liberty, which apparently makes the security of the jail seem so healthy.

When an assistant state's attorney told Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court that the state wishes to nolle prosse a murder indictment against Egan, the public defender, Frank Ferlic, intervened to say that several of the defendants still were at large and that Egan preferred a continuance to March 1.

BILL JOHNSON AND THREE PALS LOSE BAIL PLEA

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday denied a petition for bail pending disposition of appeal on behalf of William R. Johnson, former gambling fixer, and three of his four associates, all convicted of income tax evasion.

Johnson and the four other defendants, William P. Kelly, Jack Sommers, James Hartigan, and Stuart Solomon Brown, had surrendered in the United States marshal's office earlier in the day. Their bonds were revoked last week by the appeals court. Brown, however, was permitted his freedom on his former bond because his wife is critically ill.

Attorneys William J. Dempsey and Harold Schradzke asked bail for all defendants pending disposition of an appeal from Judge Barnes' denial of a new trial. The government, opposing bail, insisted no more judicial questions are in issue.

Bond Placed at $10,000 for Suspect in Rape Case

George Langlois, 31 years old, 645 North Wabash avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Joseph H. McGarry in Felony court on bail of $10,000 yesterday on a charge of raping a 15 year old girl.

HOSPITAL CONGRESS OPENS.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Miss Claryce Hille, 2507 Hennepin avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.]

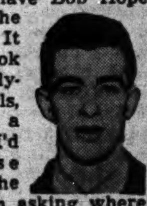
THE QUESTION.

Would you like to have famous persons visit you?

WHERE ASKED.

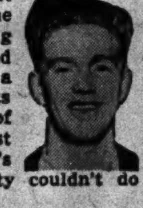
Gardiner General hospital, United States army, 1660 East Hyde Park boulevard.

THE ANSWERS.



Pvt. Lewis Bloch, Long Beach, N. Y.—I'd like to have Bob Hope visit me, because he makes me laugh. It would be nice to look at some of the Hollywood glamor girls, but, if there were a choice to be made, I'd take Hope, because I'd rather laugh. The home folks insist on asking where I hurt.

Pvt. Herbert Duncan, Oklahoma City, Okla.—I don't care much about having famous persons visit me. They make me feel awkward and ill at ease. I'd just as soon have common people call. It would be more pleasant for all concerned.



Pvt. Anton [Tex] Lassig, San Antonio, Tex.—I've never been visited by any celebrities, but it would please me more than anything to have a hillbilly band call on me, one with a lot of Texas in its style. That's one of the things I miss most about home, and it's something a celebrity couldn't do much about.

Sgt. James Casey, Williston, N. D.—People I know always interest me more than people I don't know. A visit is such a short interval that it's hard to appreciate new people in that space of time. I'd just be glad to see a familiar face from my home town.

Pfc. John Sciarra, Los Angeles, Cal.—I've seen a lot of Olsen and Johnson shows, and I'd like to have them pay me a visit. I wonder if they're as funny off stage as they are on. It seems to me that they are, and I'd like to prove it.

Pvt. Frank Herrington, Pensacola, Fla.—I'd like a visit from Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, but the biggest thrill of all would be a visit from my wife. That would go far ahead of anything else that I could have while I am here.

INDICT GUNMAN FOR MURDER OF HOLDUP VICTIM

William Pierce, 21 years old, 5230 Race street, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of murdering James Heidenreich, 76 years old, who was fatally shot by one of three men in the robbery of a butcher shop at 1321 Roosevelt road Dec. 23.

"This is the man who shot my father," said George Heidenreich, son of the victim, when he identified Pierce before Judge Joseph H. McGarry in Felony court. He said he ran to the front of the shop when he heard a shot and saw Pierce with a gun in his hand. Another man searched the son, taking $225 and checks totaling $125 from his pockets, he said.

Pierce was seized by Detectives Charles W. Schmidt and William Hensen of Maxwell street station after his picture in the police rogues' gallery had been identified by George Heidenreich and O. C. House, a Negro employe of the store.

2 SEDITIONISTS SURRENDER FOR TWO YEAR TERMS

Mrs. Mittie Maude Lena Gordon, 4451 State street, and Seon Emmanuel Jones, 3511 Wabash avenue, Negroes, surrendered to the United States marshal last night to begin serving two year sentences imposed by Federal Judge Holly early last year. Three years' probation was ordered after the prison terms.

The prisoners were found guilty of inciting draft evasion and accepting financial support from the Japanese government. Both were accused as leaders of the Peace Movement to Ethiopia, alleged pro-Japanese organization.

Appeals on their behalf to the Circuit Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme court were denied.

Woman Fails to Appear; Swindling Suspect Freed

Judge Joseph H. McGarry yesterday freed John Antrim, 42 years old, 1118 North State street, of a charge of swindling Mrs. Jean Katzel, 1427 North Harding avenue, of $400. The woman did not appear to contradict Antrim's assertion that the transaction between them involved a legitimate business deal.

SCAN 11 GAMING COMPLAINTS AT TRIAL OF HEALY

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Eleven complaints about gambling at 1334-36 East 47th street were the subject of testimony yesterday in the civil service commission's hearing of charges against Capt. Walter F. Healy, formerly in charge of Hyde Park police station.

Capt. Healy is one of nine police officers suspended after the October grand jury uncovered wide open gambling in the city and county. It was this jury that indicted Lt. Myles McDonough and Policeman Philip Schwartz of the county highway police after hearing testimony concerning the large Guzik casino operated at 7466 Irving Park road, called The Dome, where seven roulette wheels were in operation. Their criminal court trial on gambling conspiracy charges was postponed until today.

Under Way Since Jan. 10.

The Healy trial has been under way since Jan. 10. The commissioners were considering items on page 11 and 12 of the 70 page document of allegations concerning incidents in which Capt. Healy is accused of being neglectful. Assistant Corporation Counsel Earle Downes, who is presenting the evidence, and Defense Atty. Michael F. Ryan said they were seeking a way to shorten the proceedings.

Summary of charges involving the East 47th street address follows:

Jan. 16, 1942—Gambling detail from Commissioner Allman's office observed gambling here. A complaint was made to Capt. Healy, who didn't reply and no station complaint was entered.

March 24, 1942—The commissioner's office detectives observed gambling; Lt. T. V. Lyons notified Healy; no reply; no station complaint.

July 30, 1942—Complaint of gambling received; letter sent to Healy on Aug 1, which was answered by Healy on Aug. 8 saying men were playing short cards there and Healy would keep the place under surveillance; no station complaint entered.

Aug. 3, 1942—Gambling complaint; Capt. Healy notified on Aug. 6; he entered Aug. 8 [same as above] saying he would maintain surveillance; no station complaint entered.

Aug. 10, 1942 — Gambling complaint; Healy notified next day and he answered by letter on Aug. 17, reporting the arrest on Aug. 13 of Chester Goodman, Leo Weiss and Evelyn Regan; no station complaint.

Aug. 6, 1942 — Gambling complaint; Healy notified same date; answered Aug. 14, announcing the arrest of the same three persons listed above; no station complaint.

Aug. 16, 1942 — Gambling complaint; Healy notified same day; he answered Aug. 19, again reporting the arrest of the three persons mentioned in reports of Aug. 14 and Aug. 17; no station complaint.

Oct. 8, 1942 — Gambling complaint; Healy notified same day. Acting Capt. Woods answered Oct. 15 that no violation was found, but surveillance would be maintained; no station complaint.

April 18, 1943 — Gambling complaint; Healy notified on April 20; answered April 29, reporting no violations; surveillance to be maintained; no station complaint.

May 29, 1943 — Gambling complaint; Healy notified same day by Sgt. Obirek; no answer to notification; no station complaint.

June 7, 1943.—Gambling complaint. Capt. Healy notified same day by Capt. Michael P. Naughton by telephone; no reply to notification; no station complaint.

Varied Sources of Complaints.

The complaints to Commissioner Allman's office, Capt. Naughton said, were made by anonymous letter, by telephone, and by the state's attorney's office.

Atty. Ryan objected to the admission of such reports as evidence. He wanted an opportunity to show that Capt. Healy did police work regarding each complaint, regardless of what the books showed. He was told he would have such an opportunity later.

WOMAN BANKER FREED ON BOND IN $14,573 THEFTS

Mrs. Maude Erma Claxton, 39 years old, 726 South Madison street, Hinsdale, former bookkeeper and teller in the First National bank of Hinsdale, was freed yesterday on $1,000 bail after she surrendered on an indictment charging her with embezzling $14,573 from the bank. Deputy United States marshals met her at her home and escorted her to the United States courthouse. Mrs. Claxton, wife of Capt. Ira D. Claxton, 6th service command army officer and former Lombard policeman, has admitted falsifying bank records over a period of 10 years to conceal the thefts.

Driver Makes Delivery; Laundry Truck Is Stolen

A truck owned by the Garden City laundry of 3333 Harrison street was stolen yesterday while the driver, Peter Van Bezey, was making a delivery at 2620 Van Buren street.

5 CASES OF WHISKY STOLEN.

Thieves stole five cases of whisky and $172 yesterday in Herschie Miller's tavern at 194 North Clark street.

LAY ZUCKERMAN KILLING TO GANG GREED FOR 'CUT'

'Muscling' Rejected; Throng at Funeral.

Ben [Little Zukie] Zuckerman, prohibition era bootlegger and west side gambling czar who was assassinated Friday night at the door of his home, was buried yesterday, mourned by a throng of hoodlums, gamblers, politicans, liquor dealers, and labor union hangers-on.

Ironically, the funeral was conducted on the day Zuckerman was to have reopened his old gambling establishment at 3216 Roosevelt road. And it was common talk among those at the services that the proposed reopening was the cause of Zuckerman's assassination.

Demand 50 Per Cent Cut.

When Little Zukie was given "the word" to go ahead, according to the underworld grapevine, Italian gambling interests of the west side demanded a 50 per cent cut of the prospective revenue. Zuckerman refused to cut them in, even after they threatened him. Late in the week he received an ultimatum: that the cut would go thru "or else." Still he refused.

On Friday night, as Zuckerman was about to enter his home at 4042 Wilcox street, a dark, slightly built man darted from a parked automobile and shot him three times—in the chest, head, and throat. The killer rejoined two companions in the car and they sped away.

Four Police Squads Attend.

Four squads of plainclothes men mingled yesterday with the throng at the funeral chapel at 5145 Broadway. They reported no Italians attended the services. Lt. Daniel Healy of Hudson avenue station also was on duty there.

All major politicians of the 24th ward, in which Zuckerman was regarded as a shadowy power, were conspicuous by their absence, tho most of the small fry attended.

Among Zuckerman's pals of the old days who were there to mourn were Bunk Goldberg, prohibition era bootlegger, who now has an elaborate night club and gambling house in Milwaukee; Maxie Eisen, former boss of the fish peddlers and now a west side saloonkeeper; Eddie Sturch, prominent in 42d ward politics, and Freckles Casper, former Cicero gambler and now also a west side tavern owner.

Loop "Bookies" There.

A large delegation of loop bookmakers, practically all the liquor store operators of the district, and many minor figures, such as touts and other race track followers, were present.

Ten floral pieces were arranged around the bronze casket. Four were large sets and six were sprays. The cards were inscribed only to "Dear Friend" and "Beloved Friend." Names were absent.

Zuckerman's brother, Pvt. Irving Zuckerman, flew to Chicago from a western army camp. After the brief Jewish services, the coffin was removed thru a rear entrance and taken to Waldheim cemetery.

GIRL, 16, CHARGES RAPE BY 7 MEN; 1 IN COURT TODAY

Robert Goglione, 20 years old, 531 West 26th street, will appear in Boys' court today on complaint of a 16 year old girl that he conspired with six other men to rape her.

The girl told Stock Yards police that she and two girl friends had gone out with three men, including Goglione. When the other two couples left, she and Goglione went to a restaurant at 31st and Halsted streets and had breakfast. In the restaurant, she said, he held a whispered conversation with six other men.

When they left the cafe, she told police, Goglione drove her to the rear of 4021 South Normal avenue, where he struck her and raped her. Later, she said, another car containing the six men pulled up to the curb and all six raped her.

Goglione received a medical discharge from the marines four months ago.

BETTORS CAUGHT IN N. Y. BOOKIES MUST TESTIFY

New York, Jan. 17 [Special].—Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine announced today that henceforth bettors caught placing bets with bookmakers will be required to identify themselves and to testify, when necessary, against the bookmakers when the latter are brought to court. The commissioner's announcement followed his weekly conference with Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and the mayor's statement on his radio broadcast yesterday that the apprehension of bookmakers would shortly involve the bettors as well.

REPORT THREAT TO SCHOOL HEAD IN NEGRO OUSTER

Pupils' Plan to 'String Him Up' Told.

BY CHARLES PURVIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Jan. 17.—The federal bureau of investigation took cognizance of the racial disturbance in the Ozark hills area today as local authorities were informed pupils of the Broseley Consolidated High school had threatened to "string up" their superintendent because of his family's connection with the entrance of Negroes into an all white community.

The superintendent, Gerald Clark, 33 years old, is the son of W. W. Clark, from whose 800 acre tract four Negro families were ejected Dec. 8 by a mob of men, 71 of whom are under indictment on charge of inciting to riot as a result of the action.

Gerald, who has taught in the grade and high school for five years, said he was driving to school this morning when he was stopped by one of the indicted men and told he had better not go on to school.

Turns Around, Goes Home.

He said the man told him the pupils, some of whom are nearly full grown, were laying for him and that they intended to do him bodily harm. Clark turned around and went home. Reports that reached the sheriff's office said the pupils were ready to lynch their superintendent.

Ira Pearce, former county judge and now president of the Broseley school district, who is one of the 71 indicted in the mob action, said he called a meeting of his school board, all but one of whose numbers are under indictment with him, and with the help of a minister calmed the pupils and classes were held normally.

FBI Agent J. B. Hunt reported today's developments to FBI headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., and a message was to be sent to Atty. Gen. Biddle in Washington. An investigation for possible violations of civil liberties would await an order from Biddle.

Hunt, Capt. O. L. Wallace of the Missouri state highway patrol, and Sheriff M. L. Hogg questioned the school superintendent.

Reported to Biddle.

Meantime another flareup over the first appearance of Negroes in the Broseley community, in Ash Hill township 10 miles east of Poplar Bluff, was eased today when Lois Cooper, a white farmer, informed Sheriff Hogg that to avoid further trouble he would give up his plan to bring a Negro family to his farm to help work his land.

He had brought a Negro man and a woman to his farm from Malden on Saturday, but took them away yesterday after he received threats of trouble.

Resents Change of Plans.

Carrying his 18 months old daughter in his arms, Cooper came to the sheriff's office and said he resented having to give up his plans "when the law is on my side," but that he would do so to avoid possible bloodshed. He said his wife Audrey, a teacher at the near-by Fisk school, was refused a ride to school this morning by the bus driver because of the Negro trouble. She had to walk the muddy road two miles to school.

"I realize you're backing me," he told the sheriff, "but if the whole county was backing me, it wouldn't help any if some one shot thru my house and hit my baby, if my stock were poisoned, or I'd hurt some one and have that hanging over me the rest of my life."

Sheriff Hogg said he feared the situation would remain serious until the April trial of the indicted men unless some action were taken. He said he would welcome an investigation by federal authorities and expressed belief that this might be the means of ending the trouble."

LONERGAN TRIAL PANEL INCLUDES NAMES OF NOTE

New York, Jan. 17 [Special].—Five women and some of New York's leading citizens were picked today for the special panel of 200 persons from which a jury will be chosen for the trial of Wayne Lonergan, charged with slaying his heiress wife, which opens Jan. 31 in General Sessions court.

Among those selected were Edward F. Chinlund, a vice president of R. H. Macy & Co.; William McKay Bowman, architect, and Charles W. Metcalf, a vice president of General Foods.

Lonergan is accused of the murder of Patricia Burton Lonergan, found clubbed and strangled Oct. 25 in her Beekman Hill home.

SCHOOL BUDGET ADOPTED; RAISE IN TEACHERS' PAY

The board of education yesterday adopted a budget calling for expenditures of $71,376,151 in 1944—of which $67,250,728 will come from tax levies—and granted pay increases to elementary teachers totaling about 1 million dollars. The 1943 budget was $71,761,776.

Eight thousand elementary teachers get raises of $12.50 a month, regardless of present salaries, which range from $150 to $250 a month, depending on length of service.

Raises for 5,100 civil service employes making less than $250 a month will cost $500,000 a year.

The board voted a change in rules to provide only nine instead of 10 graduated annual raises for high school teachers, but left the maximum at $380 a month after the ninth raise.

A note on the final budget said 1944 taxes will be cut nearly $2,781,000 before they are spread thru a plan to pay off about $8,000,000 and refinance the balance of a $22,300,000 bond issue of 1934, to be called Aug. 1.

The board also shifted three top executives and eliminated two bureaus, a move that President James B. McCahey said would save considerable money and in line with a recommendation made by the Civic Federation of Chicago.

Leo Herdeg, who has been assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools at $10,000 a year, was demoted to superintendent in charge of district No. 4 at $6,500 a year. Don C. Rogers, who has been in charge of the bureau of textbooks and building survey, was named assistant superintendent. William Cooney, who has been in charge of the bureau of educational expenditures, will become superintendent of a district not yet designated. The work of his bureau and most of that of Rogers' bureau will be handled by the business manager's department. Rogers, however, will continue as chairman of the textbook committee.

Harvard Alumni Group Honors Lloyd Garrison

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 17 [Special].—Lloyd K. Garrison, general counsel of the war labor board, on leave as dean of the University of Wisconsin law school, has been elected chief marshal to lead the Harvard alumni at this year's commencement exercises of the Harvard Alumni association, June 29.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. G. R. J. writes: "I have been notified that my husband, who is in the navy, has been missing since Nov. 8. A few days ago, I received a letter from his commander telling me that there still is great hope. He also said that they are shipping all my husband's possessions to the Personal Effects Distribution center, United States Naval Supply depot, Scotia, N. Y. Now what I want to know is, am I expected to send for them, or will they keep them until definite news is heard from or about my husband?

"Another thing I would like to know about is the three packages I mailed to my husband for Christmas, which he never received. Will they mail them back to me, keep them at his base, or send them to New York also?"

ANSWER: The navy department informs me that it will not be necessary for you to send for your husband's possessions. The Personal Effects Distribution center will forward them to you as soon as it is feasible. I am also advised that packages and mail addressed to men who are missing will be returned. However, you must remember that unless it reached him before he was reported missing, mail would be handled separately from his personal effects.

Mrs. U. N. writes: "My husband is in the service, and I am employed. We have both been purchasing war savings bonds and have named our only daughter, age 5, as sole owner of them. However, a friend recently advised me that it was not a wise thing to do, and that the name of some adult should be on the bonds. Can you advise me?"

ANSWER: It is true that it is considered advisable that a child have a co-owner or beneficiary on war savings bonds. In case of death, the proceeds from bonds registered in the name of a child as sole owner can be obtained only upon execution of a lengthy declaration of facts, actual receipts covering all expenses, and evidence that the person making the claim is eligible to receive the funds. Supporting affidavits of two disinterested persons must be executed subsequent to principal affidavits.

J. P. asks: "Can you tell me if men who are in the army specialist training program are eligible for family allowances for their dependents?"

ANSWER: If they are in enlisted grades, they are eligible for such benefits.

Mrs. N. S. writes: "My husband is a staff sergeant in the army. He has been receiving a quarters allowance and does not wish to apply for a family allowance. He insists that the quarters allowance provides a greater government contribution."

ANSWER: In cases where a family allowance is payable to a wife only, the soldier's contribution is $22 and the government's $28. Men of the first three pay grades who were receiving quarters allowance previous to Nov. 1 may continue to receive them. The quarters allowance is provided entirely by the government, but it is mandatory for the man to allot at least that much to the dependent for whom the allowance is granted. Since the quarters allowance generally amounts to $37.50 a month, the government's contribution in such cases is greater than it would be in the case of the family allowance.

PATROL CRAFT'S REPLICA TO BE COMMISSIONED

The forward section of a full sized replica of the patrol craft escort ship which attracted thousands to the recent "Back the Attack" navy show at Tribune tower, soon is to be commissioned at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, the 9th naval district said yesterday. Signalmen and quartermaster students will receive realistic training aboard the ship after it is anchored in the service school area. Shipbuilders are now applying finishing touches to the pilot house and navigator's cabin, which will be fully rigged. The replica was transported in sections to Great Lakes from Tribune Tower.

WAR BONDS SPEED VICTORY
Coca-Cola
"Let's BUY 'em and KEEP 'em"

Every American fighting man has a dream. A dream of a day to come—of the day when the war is won. When he can return to home and family and friends, once again to live in the ways of peace. We at home can help his dream come true sooner—by doing the little things asked of us to speed Victory. We can buy bonds, and more bonds, and keep them, and keep on doing it—till the boys come home.

DROUTH EASED IN SOME AREAS, REVIVING CROPS

Widespread sections of the nation are beginning to get relief from a drouth that has gripped them since early fall and set a new mark in weather bureaus for one of the driest periods on record.

Altho most of the midwest still is suffering from a five month deficiency in moisture, other parts of the country that were dangerously dry have received snow and rain.

Recent heavy rains thruout the mid-Atlantic states and generally thruout the south have improved the outlook for winter seeded grains and other crops. Texas has had an increase in moisture.

In Oklahoma, a bad drouth has been relieved. In the Ohio valley, the wheat crop is rated as poor to fair because of lack of snow and moisture, but recent precipitation has revived hopes that 1944 still may produce bumper crops.

The eastern and southern sections of Kansas are covered with a blanket of snow. The north central and western counties of the state, however, still are suffering from a lack of rain or snow.

In Iowa and Nebraska, conditions are poor as a result of the drouth.

Passer of Bad Checks Gets 1 Year Sentence

Frank Szulakiewicz, 37 years old, 2318 Orchard street, a reputed army deserter, was sentenced by Judge Joseph H. McGarry in Felony court yesterday to serve a year in the Bridewell and fined $1 for passing worthless checks totaling $250. He will be turned over to army officers after he serves the term.

PUBLIC UTTERLY BEWILDERED, SAY INCOME TAX AIDS

10 Minute Assistance Average Rises to 30.

Utter bewilderment on the part of most taxpayers was reported yesterday by deputy collectors of the internal revenue department who established themselves in THE TRIBUNE'S public service offices at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower. The collectors will be available daily except Sundays from now until March 15, when income tax payments are due, to assist taxpayers in making out forms.

The deputies reported that in past years they had disposed of each applicant in an average of 10 minutes. Yesterday the average was 30 minutes and in some cases an hour was required to explain the complicated forms.

Bring Required Forms.

Most callers had heeded published advice to take with them form 1125, mailed out by the internal revenue department; a copy of their 1942 return, and form W-2 supplied by their employers. Form 1125 and W-2 are "musts." The first shows the amount of the 1942 tax and how much has been paid on it. W-2 shows gross earnings for 1943 and deductions for victory tax and pay as you go income tax.

The day's most bewildered visitor was a man who had six employers in 1943. Today he will be obtaining a W-2 from each of them.

Carter Harrison, collector of internal revenue, reported that his force at the old postoffice building had one of the busiest days thus far and that they found the taxpayers far more confused than they were last year. Harrison said he was hopeful that next year, with the pay as you go plan in full swing, the forms will be simpler.

Forgiveness Clause Puzzling.

The question most frequently asked is: "Wasn't all my 1942 tax forgiven ?" The deputy collectors must then explain that only 75 per cent was forgiven. Most taxpayers will find they still owe something, despite all deductions.

Another bewildered throng last night overflowed three classrooms at the Jones Commercial school, 607 South Plymouth court, seeking to enroll in what the school advertised as: "A new and timely course; your income tax."

Philip Sheridan, auditor and tax expert who was engaged as teacher, galloped from room to room, starting off the classes of citizens who sat patiently clutching their long and complicated forms. An attorney confessed to Clarence B. Carey, director, that he had pored over the forms many days but could not understand them.

Clients Look to Him for Aid.

"And I've got clients, waiting for me to tell them what to do," he said. "I've simply got to understand those forms."

A steel mill foreman, whose employes—many of whom speak little or no English—are looking to him for help, admitted he is in the same predicament. He said he doesn't think it can be done. A housewife was so upset by published descriptions of the forms that she hasn't had the courage to open the envelope in which they came.

Just then a woman employe stepped up.

"There are 100 more people registering downstairs, Mr. Sheridan," she said brightly. "And they're still pouring in at the front door."

"Water!" gasped Mr. Sheridan.

EDISON SEEKS IMPEACHMENT OF EX-OFFICIAL

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 17 [Special]. —With his three year term ending at midnght. Gov. Charles Edison today called upon the legislature to impeach Louis A. Reilly, former state banking commissoner, for alleged misdemeanor in connection with the payment to Jersey City in 1939 of taxes amounting to $530,476 from funds of the New Jersey Title Guarantee and Trust company, then in liquidation.

Reilly, who now is postmaster of Newark, said the charge was "a vicious misrepresentation inspired by Gov. Edison's personal spleen against Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City." Reilly is allied with the Hague faction of the Democratic party in New Jersey.

Edison also directed Dr. Eugene Auger, banking commissioner, to bring court action against Reilly and his bonding company to recover any funds found to have been spent irregularly in making the tax payment.

SENATE REFUSES U.S. FUNDS TO PAY TEXAS POLL TAX

Plan Offered as Test on Soldier Vote.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The senate today refused to appropriate federal funds to pay the Texas poll tax so soldiers from that state would be permitted to vote in the Presidential election.

An amendment to the pending tax bill authorizing Uncle Sam to pay such taxes for Texas soldiers was introduced by Sen. O'Daniel [D., Tex.] and was defeated in a standing vote.

Introduced as "Test."

O'Daniel said he submitted the amendment after he had been informed the attorney general of Texas had ruled that the Texas legislature could not remove the payment of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting and could not exempt soldiers from paying it.

The senator introduced the amendment to see how strongly the senate desired to give the soldiers a chance to vote. He parried questions as to why the Texas legislature couldn't appropriate the funds.

In other actions the senate:

1. Defeated, 55 to 23, an amendment of Sen. Maybank [D., S. C.] to remove for the duration of the war the tax of 10 cents a pound on colored oleomargarine.

2. Defeated another Maybank amendment to reduce to $200 the $600 license that must be paid by institutions serving colored oleomargarine in place of butter.

3. Approved an amendment by Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] to prevent a double federal tax on luggage.

4. Approved an amendment by Sen. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the senate finance committee, to extend the statute of limitations on the time certain corporation excess profits tax items that are employed in the determination of the regular corporation taxes may be subject to review.

Agree on Renegotiation.

Meantime, Sen. George announced the finance committee, which met in executive session this morning, had agreed to an amendment to terminate government renegotiation of war contracts to eliminate excessive profits after next Dec. 31.

George said the termination date, however, would be left up to the President for the most part. He said that if the President believes renegotiation will not be necessary after June 30, he will be instructed to shorten the period to that date.

Court Frees Taxpayer Who Settled U. S. Bill

Louis Schaffer, 6336 Drexel avenue, who was charged with contempt of court because he spurned a summons from the income tax collector to discuss an arrearage of $50 in his 1941 assessment, was freed yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in federal District court. The judge was informed that Schaffer had paid up.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 17 [Special].—Three men were killed today when a Michigan Central train hit a truck near Chelsea. They were Dan Pathoof, 19 years old, Stanley Gallas, 37, and Chester Machezynski.

URGES FEDERAL INSURANCE FOR MEDICAL CARE

Security Board Asks Wider Scope.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—The social security board today recommended federal insurance to cover doctor and hospital bills. It was the first recommendation of its kind by the board.

In its eighth annual report to congress, the board said such insurance should allow a person to choose his own doctor or hospital, and preserve personal relationships between physicians and their patients.

Time to Act Called Short.

It also should maintain professional leadership, the board said, guarantee the continued independence of nongovernmental hospitals, and insure to doctors and hospitals an adequate financial return—"very probably more nearly adequate than that in customary circumstances."

The proposal was made as a part of a "comprehensive unified system" of social security which the board, headed by Arthur J. Altmeyer, believes should be adopted to get ready for the "sharp and sudden" social changes and readjustments which it says are around the corner. It said "the time in which to build a stronger system of social security is short."

The program outlined today includes the following provisions which the board has advocated before:

Extension of the present social security system to about 20 million more persons such as farmers, domestics and the self-employed; insurance against temporary or permanent disability; a national unemployment insurance system to replace the 51 systems of the states and territories, and protection of the social security rights of members of the military services.

Cost Would Soar Greatly.

If these provisions were added to the present old age and survivors' insurance, the program for the first 10 years would cost 12 per cent of earnings, divided between employers and workers, the board estimated. After 10 years the cost would be higher and the board recommended that the excess be met by a federal contribution.

THREE GRAB PURSE.

WAC Lt. Virginia Wight's Hearing Slated for Today

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—An army reclassification board is expected tomorrow to hear Lt. Virginia Wight's reply to charges that as a women's army corps officer she fraternized with enlisted women, refused to obey orders, and gave incorrect information to superiors. Lt. Wight's attorney, James J. Laughlin, has called the case one of "intimidation by a WAC captain" at Fort Myer, Va.

COURT DISMISSES DIPLOMAT'S SUIT AGAINST M'KEE

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 17 [Special].—Peruvian diplomat Max de la Fuente failed to appear here today to press his $100,000 slander suit against Mark T. McKee, air line and shipping executive, who obtained a divorce in 1942 on charges that his wife, Evelyn, had been intimate with De la Fuente, then Peruvian consul here.

The suit was dismissed by the court, ending another phase of the series of court battles centering on the marital affairs of the gray haired McKee, a resident of Milwaukee. De la Fuente has been shifted by his government from his Los Angeles post, it was said, and was last reported in San Jose, Costa Rica, as charge d'affaires in the Peruvian legation. His wife sued him for divorce here last May, naming the former Mrs. McKee. Her suit is yet to be heard.

Denied "American Kisses."

During the McKee divorce trial De la Fuente said he admired Mrs. McKee's home life but testified the only kisses he had given her were on her hand in greeting. Asked if he had ever kissed her "in the American way," he retorted, "I do not understand. What is the American way?"

One of McKee's daughters by a previous marriage said De la Fuente had been a boarder in the McKee home and had occupied a bedroom with Mrs. McKee, stating "I know he was there because there was a grease spot on the wall at the head of the bed from his greasy hair."

Fighting Over Children.

McKee won a divorce despite his wife's accusations that he had illusions he was "another King Solomon" and treated her as "head wife in a harem." They have been fighting since over custody of their son, Terry, 3, awarded by the court here to his father for nine months a year and to the mother for three. A hearing will be conducted in Milwaukee Circuit court Feb. 4 on a petition by Mrs. McKee for an injunction restraining McKee from removing the boy from Wisconsin.

Mrs. McKee is 35 years old and a former Pasadena society woman. McKee, 55, lives at 1712 East Cumberland boulevard, Whitefish Bay, a suburb of Milwaukee.

LIE TESTS CLEAR HUNTER IN DEATH OF COMPANION, 17

Lie detector tests here yesterday indicated the innocence of Clarence Miller, 18 years old, 817 East 87th place, who had been accused in connection with the fatal shooting Jan. 9 of Gerald Cordeau, 17, of 8218 Maryland avenue, while the two were hunting near St. Anne. Miller was released by Sheriff Cecil Duguay of Kankakee county, who brought him here for the tests.

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was placed against Miller Sunday after the slain youth's father, Robert, signed a complaint against him. The hearing was set for Feb. 1 before Justice of the Peace Fred Smith in Kankakee.

Miller's original story that Cordeau had shot himself accidentally while examining a .38 caliber revolver was changed at the inquest. Miller admitted that he had held the weapon when it accidentally discharged.

Patrolman Reverses Role: Reports Crime to Police

Peter Krejci, a patrolman working out of Cragin station, reported to Austin avenue police yesterday that his home at 1541 North Laramie avenue had been burglarized. Clothing and jewelry worth $423 were stolen.

SABATH UPHOLDS RIGHT TO ATTACK A RENO DIVORCE

Says Illinois Courts May Sift Cases.

Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court ruled yesterday that Illinois courts have a right and duty to inquire into the validity of Reno divorces affecting Illinois couples, when the residence of the divorce seeking parties is disputed.

This is believed to be the first ruling in Illinois questioning the validity of Reno divorces since the famous opinion of the United States Supreme court, delivered Dec. 21, 1942, holding that sister states must recognize Nevada divorces whether or not they approve of Nevada's six week residential requirement. Only last July, the Illinois Appellate court in Galesburg held that a divorce decree that is valid in Nevada is also valid in Illinois.

Sues After She Is Divorced.

Judge Sabath's decision was given in the case of Mrs. Della L. Tilton, 514 Willow road, Winnetka, against Earle B. Tilton, treasurer of the Vilter Manufacturing company of Milwaukee, Wis. He divorced her in Reno in March, 1941. She challenged the validity of the divorce, then in April, 1943, filed a divorce suit against him in the Superior court.

Tilton countered with a motion to dismiss Mrs. Tilton's suit on the ground that they were already legally divorced, and this brought up the involved question of whether he was a legal resident of Nevada when he obtained his Reno divorce. Under the Supreme and Appellate court opinions, the question seemed to be closed, but Judge Sabath held otherwise.

"If the Nevada decree here concerned was fraudulently obtained on a false claim of residence and domicile, this court would be stultifying itself to give force and recognition thereto," said Judge Sabath.

Points to Other Cases.

"It cannot close its eyes to the fact that other similar decrees, upon inspection, have been found unworthy of recognition. Full inquiry in such a case is warranted, particularly where serious dispute as to the validity of the foreign decree exists."

Judge Sabath then denied Tilton's motion to dismiss Mrs. Tilton's divorce suit, and also denied his motion to bar Mrs. Tilton from obtaining a jury trial of the issue. At the same time he reassigned the case to the jury calendar. In effect, the court's ruling was a victory for Mrs. Tilton. She was represented by Atty. Lloyd Faxon, and Atty. J. Fred Reeve, the latter of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin & Ellis.

SAVE CHICAGO INFANT'S LIFE WITH PENICILLIN

A limited supply of penicillin issued by the army has saved the life of Donna Jeanne Larsen, 7 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Larsen, 2844 North Ridgeway avenue, a patient in Belmont hospital, 4058 Melrose street, Dr. Meyer A. Perlstein said last night.

The child was taken to the hospital Dec. 30 with staphylococcus blood poisoning, pneumonia, and other complications. When other drugs failed to help her, the physician wired an appeal for penicillin to Dr. Chester S. Keefer, at the Evans Memorial hospital in Boston, Mass., who is in charge of releasing the army's supply of the bacteria-killing drug for civilian use.

Dr. Perlstein said Donna Jeanne is out of danger, after receiving the drug for 10 days. Belmont officials said this was the first case in which penicillin had been used at the hospital.

W-G-N PROGRAMS TODAY HERALD WAR LOAN DRIVE

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Radio stations will devote much of their program time to promoting the opening of the fourth war loan drive today. W-G-N will present a series of two minute interviews with service men and women on numerous programs. This schedule includes:

Sgt. Clara Walters, on Tunes and Opportunities, at 9:15 a. m.; Sgt. Robert Matsie, United States marines, on Musical Milkwagon, 10:15 a. m.; Machinist's Mate George Klemchuck, United States navy, on the Johnny Betts program, 11:45 a. m.; Ensign E. V. Shelby, WAVE, on Don Norman show; Seaman Raymond O'Malley, coast guard, on The Deacon's program, 1 p. m.; Raymond Machalinski, United States navy, on the Center Canteen, 2 p. m.; Barbara Swenson, SPAR, on the Open House, 5:15 p. m.; Sgt. Edward Long, United States marines, on the Music Mart, 4:30 p. m.; Technician Jack C. Hoekstra, United States army, 8:30 p. m.; Corp. William Armandi, United States army, 9:15 p. m.; Stanley Radwanski, coast guard, on Chicago at Night, 10:15 p. m.

In connection with the bond drive W-G-N will sponsor a display of photographs taken at the various war fronts. This exhibit will open today in Harmony hall, connecting W-G-N studios and Tribune Tower. The pictures will be on display for three weeks.

Kate Smith will break into practically every program on WBBM-CBS from 7 a. m. to midnight today with war bond appeals. Her pleas for the third loan resulted in the sale of $39,000,000 in bonds in one day, CBS said.

Radio workshops of high schools have been invited by W-G-N and the Mutual network to join in a national contest to create better amateur radio productions. This competition is sponsored by Superman, heard at 5:45 p. m. Mondays thru Fridays over W-G-N.

Superman, Inc., producers of the thriller, are providing completed half hour scripts to high school radio production classes or workshops. Each presentation is to be judged by radio editors and board of education representatives in communites in various districts. They will select the best productions. War bonds will be awarded to the regional winners by Superman, Inc.

3 Killed, 57 Are Injured as Bus Strikes Tree

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP).—Three high school students were killed today and 57 other passengers were injured when a Dearborn City bus crowded with homeward bound pupils and factory workers sidewiped an automobile and crashed into a tree in suburban Dearborn. Those killed were Robert Drake and Betty Krause, 17 years old, and Wilmer Ford, 16.

TWO ROB NEWSBOY.

John Hayes, 3613 Wabash avenue, a newsboy, was robbed of $4 Sunday by two Negroes who strong armed him in a hallway at 3615 Michigan avenue.

SHOOTS ALLEGED ATTACKER.

Matt Lexander, 29 years old, who gave his address as 1309 North Rockwell street, was shot in the left leg last night by Michael Weber, owner of a pool room at 2741 Division street. Weber told North avenue police Lexander and another man attacked him in the pool room while he was counting the day's receipts. The second man fled.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR GRADUATE ENGINEERS!

CONSOLIDATED VULTEE AIRCRAFT plays an important part in the production of all types of aircraft for the United Nations fighting forces. Our effort to maintain production must be supported by an adequate supply of man-power. There is a serious shortage of engineers which may dangerously interfere with present production of the airplanes we need.

If you are a graduate engineer and want to get into essential war work, there may be a place for you at Consolidated Vultee . . . a position offering ample opportunity for advancement and increased earnings. Aeronautical experience is not necessary.

Graduate engineers who have not been in aircraft work must be converted to this industry. Therefore, you will be placed in an indoctrination course to acquaint you with aircraft construction and Consolidated Vultee's practices and policies. You will be paid a salary while taking the course. This course will be given by Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, under the sponsorship of the United States Office of Education, Engineering, Science and Management, War Training Section.

If you are a United States citizen not now employed in an essential war industry, Agriculture, Dairy, Poultry, Ferrous and Nonferrous metal, or Lumber industries—fill in the coupon below and mail today. Or come in to the U. S. Employment Service Office, 4812 W. Madison St., Chicago, personally for complete information.

This is your opportunity to get into essential war work, and at the same time, a business with a great future. DON'T DELAY! ACT TODAY!

Today, with the eyes of the world upon us,

THE FOURTH WAR LOAN IS LAUNCHED!

TODAY, the 18th of January, America's Fourth War Loan starts.

It is the largest of all war loans in terms of individual participation—in the amount you must dig down for.

And—it is, perhaps, the most important of all War Loans. For it comes at a time when the eyes of all the world are upon us; the eyes of our friends, the eyes of our enemies, the eyes of our own fighting men.

We have just entered the crucial year of the war, a year of destiny, a year that promises to decide how good or bad a world we'll have to live in all the rest of our lives. And the world is wondering how deeply we mean it when we promise our men we'll back their attack, and when we promise our Allies we'll stick with them not only through the winning of the war but through the winning of the peace as well.

The Fourth War Loan is the home front's first big test of this new and vital year. It will take unity and determination of will of all the people to make the Loan succeed.

The need for this and other War Loans should be clear to every American. This war is the costliest effort ever undertaken by any country. It costs 250 million dollars each day. This is just the cost of the war, in addition to the regular, inescapable cost of running a great and huge country. Taxes can't take care of all this outgo. Neither can government borrowing from insurance companies, savings banks, corporations, and other large investors. It is necessary to turn to the people, their weekly wages, their savings accounts, the money tucked away in pantry sugar bowls, in socks, under mattresses.

This is as it should be. In a democracy, war is the business of all the people. Some must fight, some must work and put up the money.

It's the only way to raise the money. It's also the right way to raise the money. It gives you a good place to invest the extra money you have today. It's a curb on inflation, on that dangerous bulk of pocket money that leads to black markets and disastrous spending. It's a mattress for tomorrow, a sort of individually planned Social Security that will bring in welcome money in the years ahead when income might not be the Mississippi flood it is today.

These last are not the reasons for the Loans. They are extra reasons, however, over and above the $1 interest you get on every $3 you invest. The fundamental reason for the Fourth War Loan is that your beloved America, at war and in danger, needs your help!

Every one who has a job or savings, should invest at least $100—if possible, $200, $300, or $500 extra. Some 5,000,000 Americans, volunteers, will be working to sell these Bonds. One of these volunteers will ask you to buy, where you work, at your home, or some other place. If by some chance, you're missed, find out where to buy and buy on your own.

The place where you work will have a quota. That's where you should make your major investment. That's where your personal quota really counts.

But . . .

The place you live also has a quota. Try to invest there, too. Other people will ask you. Salespeople, in retail stores, have volunteered to help and have an individual quota. If they ask you to buy, try to buy from them, too. Movie theaters, restaurants, schools, banks, postoffices, and many other places also will be selling bonds.

The Fourth Loan is a test of us as a nation.

The eyes of our fighting men are upon us to see if we are backing them.

. . . The eyes of our Allies are upon us to see if we are with them.

. . . The eyes of our enemies are upon us to see if we are soft enough to fall for a non-victorious, here-today-gone-tomorrow peace . . .

Are we? The answer is in your pocket!

LIBEL ON GOVERNMENT.

President Roosevelt and his administration are being criticized adversely today by a majority of American citizens and American editors. The critics' purpose, insofar as they are not merely voicing discontent, is to bring about the election this fall of a competent, pro-American successor to Mr. Roosevelt.

These American citizens will be shocked if they will read the indictment that federal prosecutors have procured in Washington against the 30 defendants charged with a seditious conspiracy to incite disloyalty and mutiny in the army and navy. They will find among the things that the defendants are accused of having said in the pursuance of the alleged conspiracy statements the substance of which is held to be true by millions of people.

The defendants in the sedition case fall into two groups. A smaller one consists of known Nazi agents, some of whom have been convicted and imprisoned as such. The larger group is made up of people who have been violent critics of the administration. Some of these are racketeers, breeding hate to line their own pockets. Most of them are crackpots. Almost all of them are covertly or rabidly anti-Semitic. Anti-Semitism is disreputable and disgraceful, but it is not, in its merely verbal manifestations, criminal.

The statements attributed to the defendants in the indictment give no evidence of being direct quotations, but whether the language is that of the defendants or of Atty. Gen. Biddle and his assistants, it unquestionably is violent. Attention should be directed, however, not to the rhetoric, but to the substance, of some of these statements:

"The nations opposed to the axis plan to use American lives, money, and property to defend their decadent systems of government."

"The participation of the United States in the war has been deliberately planned by our leaders with the ultimate aim of promoting our enslavement by British imperialism [Ah, Mr. Browder!] and international communism."

"President Roosevelt by his war-mongering policies is draining dry the resources of the United States to save communist China, imperialist Britain, and atheistic Russia from inevitable defeat."

"Our program of giving American arms and equipment to foreign nations results in United States military and naval forces being inadequately armed and equipped and in their being exposed to terrible slaughter."

"As a result of incompetence and corruption in public office, the United States is unprepared to wage war against the axis powers, who have the best equipped and most powerful military establishment in the world."

No dates are given for any of these alleged statements, but the indictment charges that the conspiracy commenced on June 28, 1940, nearly 18 months before the United States went to war. From their context some of them were made before we entered the war.

Mr. Biddle knows that the first amendment prevents him from prosecuting the defendants for what they are alleged to have said. He is seeking to do by indirection what he cannot do directly, by prosecuting them on the charge that the statements, with others of a violent and reprehensible nature, constituted an attempt to incite disaffection and mutiny. Yet his indictment does not set forth any circumstances in which this incitement is alleged to have taken place.

The subterfuge is too barren. What Mr. Biddle is really trying to do is to revive in the United States the tyrannous old English charge of libel upon government. It was by that charge, and the equally wicked one of constructive treason, which held it a capital offense to say or write anything that might be construed to contemplate the death of the king, that the government of England, in times of uncertain public authority, undertook to prevent any criticism of the king, his ministers, or parliament.

The English courts held that truth was no defense against the charge—"the greater the truth, the greater the libel." Savage punishments were inflicted upon the legal theory that any criticism of government tended to diminish its authority and destroy public order. In England, the last such prosecution took place in 1831.

Such proceedings are impossible in America under our guarantees of freedom of speech and of the press, but beyond that, even the theory on which the British courts proceeded is not tenable in a republic. As the appellant's brief in a famous freedom of the press case, Near vs. Minnesota, said:

"When the [British] people became sovereign and the ministers became servants of the people, the right to discuss government automatically was granted. In 18th century England the crown was the sovereign power; all writs ran in his name; the people were his subjects, his assent was necessary before he could be deprived of his kingly prerogatives even tho that consent was obtained at the point of the sword. He could do no wrong. What need was there in 1776 for people to discuss the government? If they excited contempt or exposed corruption or inefficiency—of what avail was it unless they carried on to revolution? Every contemptuous utterance was the germ of revolution.

"But here the people are sovereign; all writs run in the name of the people; they are not subjects of their magistrates, the magistrates are servants of the people; the people can do no wrong, magistrates can. Manifestly it is necessary for the people to replace and displace their servants and it becomes necessary for the people to discuss their government without fear. It may be of the highest importance for the people to bring their servants into scorn, contempt, and ridicule. Scorn of the king could logically end only in revolt; scorn of the city government logically ends at the ballot box." [Near had attacked a corrupt municipal administration in Minneapolis.]

It is this very scorn of the administration, with its logical end at the ballot box, that Mr. Biddle is trying to suppress. He is seeking, by the example of the sedition case, to intimidate every honest citizen in the United States and thereby to stifle opposition to the fourth term.

RUSSIAN POLITICAL MORALITY.

Russia has rejected the request of the homeless Polish government in London that it accept mediation of the frontier controversy by the United States and Great Britain. For several almost sleepless days the Poles tried to find some workable method of dealing with this most serious problem of the post-war world. Apparently they finally yielded to British pressure and offered to put their destiny in the hands of their allies, the Americans and the British.

It was a red hot iron that they offered to Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt, but if the Teheran conference had any meaning whatever as to post-war problems, Russia, the United States, and Great Britain could work together on this problem now inasmuch as they are supposed to undertake all the problems of Europe, sooner or later. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill need not lie awake nights over this question just now. The hollowness of the Teheran conversations and understandings need not be revealed by them because Russia has beaten them to the disclosure. Russia instantly and completely rejected the proposal of the Poles and will not submit this item of the peace to the advice and good offices of the two countries which are supposed to coöperate with it in the foundation of an everlasting peace, based upon collective agreements, good faith, and equitable arrangements reached in the fellowship of high minded nations.

Misunderstanding of the characteristics of the Russian rulers, a disregard of their record, and blindness to their political morality will bring confusion to the persons who make plans based on a false conception of the bona fides involved.

The British treaty with Stalin may be nine-tenths necessitous opportunism and one-tenth hope. Mr. Churchill is no longer at liberty to speak his mind freely. It would be strange if he had completely thrown down his guard. His position is unescapably incongruous. As for Mr. Roosevelt, he could not be trusted to understand the questions with which he deals when he deals with Russia. His attitude is physically jaunty. Mentally it is frivolous. Stalin, a male Asiatic, knew the American chief executive was seducible long before he laid eyes on him at Teheran. Mash notes from the White House had been received at the Kremlin over a period of years.

Mr. Hull, being, not without significance, a Tennessean, and not unimproved in maturity of judgment by his years, may have looked at Molotov, opposite him in the Moscow meeting, with great concern even if it does not appear in what the secretary signed or what he has said. His private views may not have the weight they should and the state department files which would disclose the character and acts of the Russians may be closed for the duration.

For the war the relations of Russia, Great Britain, and the United States can be kept in order. There is compulsion in the common demand, the common necessity, and the common effort. All three countries are committed to the defeat of Germany. The characteristics of the Russian rulers are of secondary importance so long as Russian armies are driving into the Pripet marshes, thru Poland and toward the Balkans. These characteristics become of primary importance when military operations become secondary.

There are many difficulties in a situation which involves admiration of an associate's fighting ability and distrust of his political good faith. The combination of confidence and suspicion is so offensive to honest sentiment that people who want things to be either white or black may do much to deceive themselves. The truth is that when Mr. Hull was dealing with Mr. Molotov two different worlds were meeting. Mr. Molotov, having something to gain from Mr. Hull, adjusted himself to Mr. Hull's world. The American's experience never before had brought him into such an association. If he was deceived or deceived himself he was taken in by superficial appearances.

Nothing in all American history ever produced any one faintly resembling the man Mr. Roosevelt met at Teheran and nowhere, even in medieval English history, could Mr. Churchill find anything like him. Any pretense that Josef Stalin has any social or political consanguinity with the Englishman or American is absurd and dangerous altho Mr. Roosevelt came home with just that affectation. It is possible to use such an illusion in fighting a war. As ingredient in a scheme of post-war collaboration an incongruity of such limitless range may be fatal.

Editorial of the Day

MARSHAL MARSHALL.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Gen. Marshall has plenty of honor coming to him for the splendid job he is doing as chief of staff, but the suggestion that the title of field marshal be conferred on him has one big flaw: the general's name. Such a promotion would place a Marshal Marshall at the head of the military establishment, which would not only be confusing, but would remind everybody at once of such double-talk oddities as Walla Walla, Baden Baden, Pago Pago, Bug Bug, Borabora, Goona Goona, and the sacred well of Zamzam, not to mention dumdum bullets, beriberi, Simone Simon, and the old boola-boola song.

Why not just call him boss general and let it go at that?

THE ETERNAL CALLBOY.

When Willie Collier died in Hollywood the other day, passing from that earthly paradise with brief obituaries by scribes who knew him only as his son's father, Claudia Cassidy came to this desk and said: "Are you going to write anything about Collier? I'd like to read it. I saw him only once." So we shall speak of a comedian whose like cannot be found on the withered stage of this era, nor yet on the movie screens, air waves, and cabaret floors which have pillaged the bygone theater. Collier was the nation's best farceur, and chief jester to the carriage trade.

* * *

The typical Collier play was a farce in which a well-organized plot worked like a steel trap. This form of play has never been held in high-brow respect, and when in a lowdown mood it sinks to such antics as may be witnessed in "Goodnight, Ladies," the interminable prank now at the Blackstone. But in Willie Collier's heyday, American farces omitted sex appeal and wooed the sense of absurdity without a leer. He acted them with machine-gun speed of speech and intense earnestness of manner. The Best People came to observe his staccato performances, for he was a Frohman star, and how he mowed 'em down! Laughter at a Collier farce was practically continuous.

* * *

Worry, surprise, consternation, duplicity, terror—these were the moods of a Collier role as the plot closed its jaws upon the well-dressed hero. He could be frightened more amusingly than any actor of the period. His funniest numbers, starting at 1892 and ending with his disappearance into the films in 1930 were: "The City Directory," "My Friend from India," "The Man from Mexico," "The Dictator," "On the Quiet," "Caught in the Rain," "Nothing But the Truth," and "The Hottentot."

* * *

He acquired his comic skill by starting as a callboy to the thespian gods and goddesses of Augustin Daly's company. In 1882 an actor named Edmund Collier wrote to Daly, seeking a job for his stepson. "Callboy, office, usher, anything," he said. "Why I would like to get him in a theater is, he is not strong and cannot do very heavy work." . . . Now he may be cast as the Eternal Callboy in the drama's Valhalla.

THE CUP OF BITTERNESS.

(To Marvin Miller of W-G-N.)

When Marvin speaks in jovial tones
To others on the telephone,
I often wonder, as I sit,
Why does he leave my line alone?

How often he has asked for facts
Which readily I might have given!
But I am snubbed, however hard
For information he is driven.

I knew why Lucy Stone was famed,
What President was last to bask
Behind a set of whiskers, but,
Did Marvin call me up to ask?

O, no! My number is taboo!
Less than the dust am I to him!
And, as the evenings slowly pass,
My hopes for any cash grow dim.

But what if luck should change, and Marve
Should draw my number from the lot?
Would he ask something that I know?
Most likely not! Gloria A. Love.

Variation on "Home, Sweet Home."

People build houses and install in them thermostatic heat control and elaborate heating systems. They use storm windows and doors to keep out drafts, and insulate the walls and ceilings. Why? To keep themselves warm, of course.

But, with the delightful inconsistency of all people, when they have made their homes snug and tight they run down to Florida for the winter, where they own homes with specially insulated roofs to keep off the hot sun and make the houses cool.

When spring returns they come back to Chicago for a few weeks to take down their storm doors and windows, put up the screens, turn off the heat, and turn on the air conditioning system. Then they run up to northern Wisconsin to keep cool during the summer, where they have homes to protect them from the cool nights, and in them there are fireplaces which burn wood and keep them warm on particularly cold nights.

They get their ideas from the birds, but birds just take to the wing if they do not like our climate and build nests wherever they like the climate, and do not bother with heating or cooling devices. They pay no taxes and they have no mortgages. They help themselves to whatever they need and build homes without cost. It is not considered stealing.

Choppy says he is getting to an age where he should have a back yard to romp around, and a house to live in, and he doesn't see why he does not have them.

He has a reproachful look when he gives me the O. O. Roy Engel.

THRU THE TELESCOPE.

(Galileo, 1564-1642.)

The peering lens that penetrates the night
And brings the flaming bodies of the stars
So many trillion miles in earthward flight
To warm our spirits with their glowing fires;
How scholarly it leans in astral calm,
As would a lonely sage lean on his staff
And thru the narrow door of lofty dome
Point out the heavens with assured belief!

But on a jostling world its gesture falls,
And mostly little noted, often scorned,
It looks and waits behind its ivory walls
So rich with universal laws adorned.
Old Galileo learned his lesson when
He tried too soon to teach its truths to men.

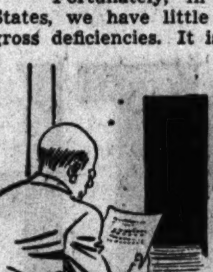
VITAMIN DOSING CAN BE OVERDONE.

NATURE prefers that we satisfy our vitamin requirements by means of an adequate diet. Fortunately, in the United States, we have little evidence of gross deficiencies. It is only when we become careless, fail to eat properly, or ignore the demands of nutrition—that we exhibit a drop in these food accessories.



We may as well give some thought to the query. "Can overdoses do harm?" Because of the widespread and promiscuous use of these preparations by many who do not need them, we may wonder what the effect upon health will be two or three years hence. Reports have appeared wherein large amounts of D have been considered harmful, stimulating the deposit of mineral matter within the kidneys, the bladder, the salivary glands, etc.

Recently, Leitner, a British physician, called attention to the fact that every one cannot and probably should not employ thiamin [B1] over long periods of time without intervals of rest. One of his cases was that of a 71 year old man who had been able to carry on a fatiguing and responsible job until March of 1943. He complained of restlessness, irritability, and fatigue. Sleep was disturbed, itching was present, and depression profound. His only previous illness was an attack of shingles in 1938, which responded to a long series of injections of thiamin.

His immediate symptoms began some weeks earlier, subsequent to the administration of B1. An attack of asthma followed the fourth "shot" altho some shortness of breath had been observed previously. Skin tests showed that the patient was sensitive to this element. The preparation was stopped and all discomfort disappeared. Apparently an allergy developed which was accompanied by extensive systemic manifestations. The chances are that the digestive tract would have adjusted itself with more facility if the material had been taken by mouth instead of being introduced beneath the skin.

It should be recalled that most of our shortages of B occur in tropical or semi-tropical regions. Foods grown in the north temperate zone contain a larger proportion of this nutritional element. Because it is so easily soluble in water and so readily absorbed, the pure product may quickly convert an undersupply into oversaturation.

After all, the reaction of the patient is the best test. When skin diseases due to too little thiamin depart promptly, we may establish the patient on a maintenance diet. In the case cited, the individual was probably unable to excrete or oxidize the material.

How much trouble accompanies the indiscriminate use of laxatives is unknown. We may assume with reason that sweeping the intestine clear of partially dissolved edibles is likely to produce a deficiency. In another case, a woman of 42 was in the habit of irrigating the lower bowel and taking cathartics. When she finally visited her physician, he detected a definite vitamin lack. She improved under small doses. But she wished to recover more rapidly and insisted upon taking the substance hypodermically. Within two weeks she became excitable and sleepless and attempted to compensate for her difficulty with large doses of sedatives. Shortly thereafter, thiamin was discontinued and all untoward manifestations vanished.

FATE VS. KNOWLEDGE.

M. A. B. writes: Is there a moment predetermined for each of us when no mortal hand can keep us from departing this life? Or do some "go before their time" for some reason or other?

REPLY.

Death comes to many long before it should. The cause lies in some failure of hygiene or in the inability of the physician to detect or counteract incipient disease. We must bear in mind that the body is no stronger than its weakest link. If some malady has seriously damaged one of the vital organs, life may cease even tho the remaining structures are good for 25 or more years.

No one need become a fatalist. Think of the thousands who succumbed to typhoid fever a generation or two ago. They did not die because their "time had come" but because physicians and health authorities did not know how to prevent the disorder. We know now. In consequence, cases are extremely rare.

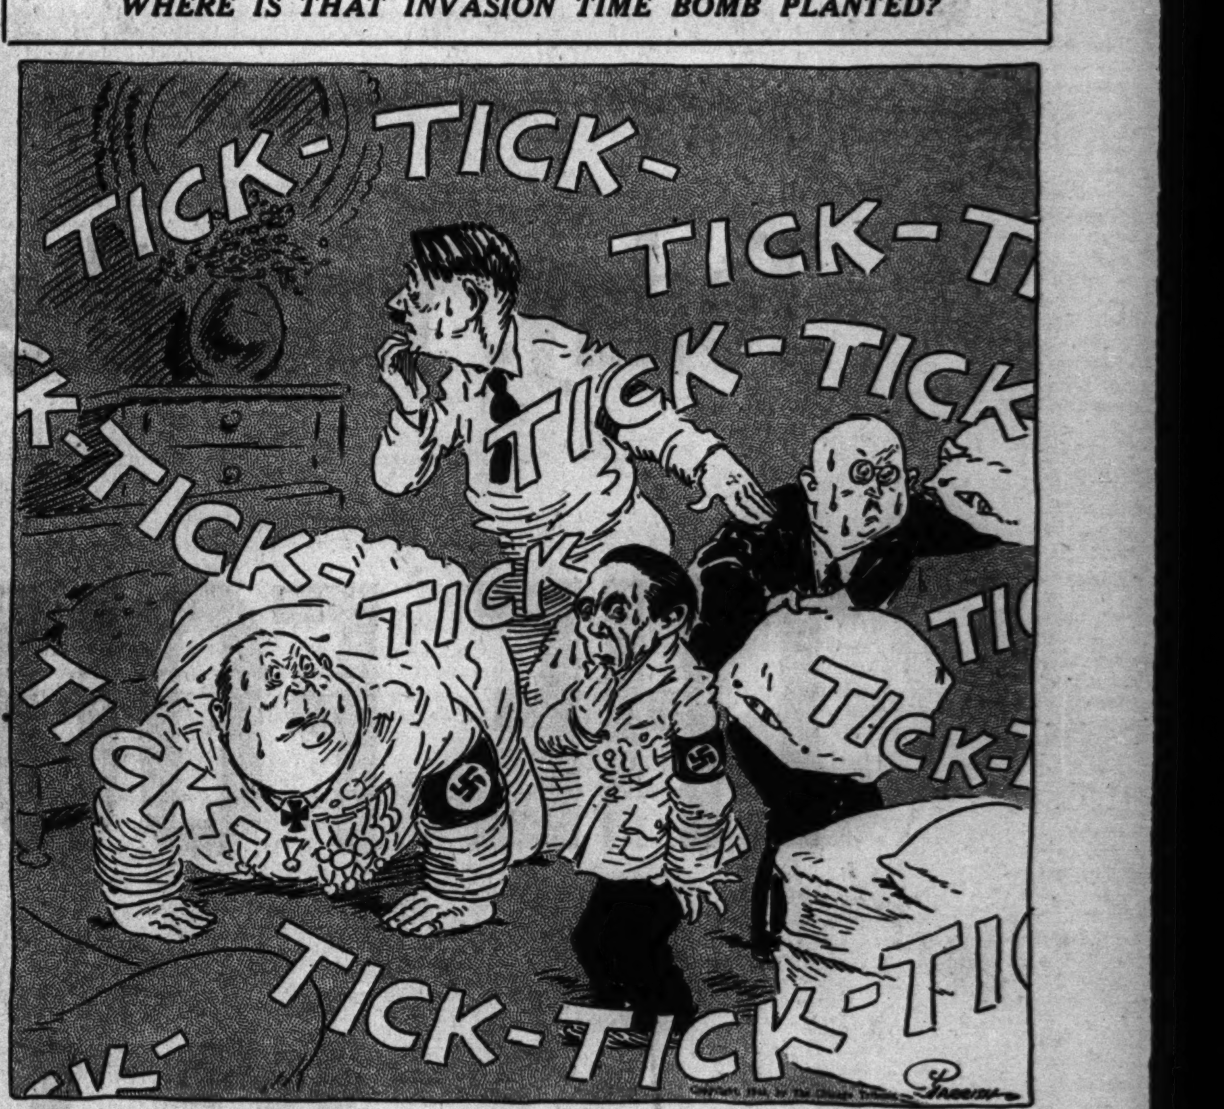
WHERE IS THAT INVASION TIME BOMB PLANTED?



Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notes at Random.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The foreign economic administration, the government's successor to the bureau of economic warfare, sometimes assumes as strange and varied duties as Jacob's coat had colors. The most extraordinary FEA duty to come to the attention of this department is its determination of how many pairs of silk stockings Wallis Windsor shall be allowed a month. That lady's stockings, as well as other components of her attire, must be shipped from the United States either by ship or plane and consequently form a federal war time problem, the amount allowed her hinging on the shipping space available. Understand it is turning many fine American heads gray.

Another hands-across-the-water problem, but one settled by the lend-lease administration, concerned gold braid for the Russians. Some time ago, in tune with the rooted relinquishment of its hold on the comintern and its retreat into nationalism, the soviet army changed its somber, utilitarian uniform for something more like the merrier, giddier one of the old czarist regime. This splendid accoutrement of imperialism is replete with gold lace, a piece of hardware the Russians found unavailable in their own land. Consequently, they applied for it under lend-lease. Lend-lease has survived many requests, and acquiesced to most of them, but gold lace! Here was a problem requiring delicate diplomacy and finesse, not because lend-lease had any qualms about donating it, but because there is a dearth of it in the United States, the bulk of pre-war gold lace having been imported from France. The request was never denied in so many words. The denial was couched in the form of a supplication. Exquisitely and fluently the L.-L. boys informed the Russians that poor American officers were crying for gold lace, and the shortage was so acute many of them now wear it only half way around their sleeves, that they wear none on their overcoats, that . . . and so on. To date there has been no official answer in Pravda to this stinginess.

Probably the most amusing Washington journalistic performance of January emerged last week as a consequence of Secretary Ickes' broken collar bone. Mr. Ickes apparently numbers few, if any, friends among the working press, but one, George Dixon of the New York News, essayed to call the secretary at his Maryland chicken estate and extend pious words of cheer. He quickly discovered that Mr. Ickes, like every one of consequence here, has a private telephone number which "he gives only to a few intimate friends and those who wish to buy eggs from him." Consequently he subpenaed an associate into calling the department of Mr. Ickes' interior, chatting with his minister of egg distribution, and asking for Mrs. Ickes' number so he could ask her about winter chicken feed.

The number was given, and the phone was answered by Mrs. Ickes, "who is believed by many," wrote Mr. Dixon, "to be 110 years her husband's junior." She reported that Mr. Ickes was much better, that it was only a slight break, and then, as the conversation was drooling into tedium, demanded: "How did you get this telephone number? It is very private."

"That is all right," Mr. Dixon quoted his associate as saying. "You may rest assured that your private telephone number, Ashton 2831, will go with me to the grave."

All of which brings to mind the observation today of a gentleman who has known Mr. Ickes for the last 90 years. "I don't see how he got to be secretary of the interior anyway," he fulminated. "He was one guy who always had managed to land with a flying leap on the caboose of a train going in the wrong direction."

Close study of the 892 pages of the 1944-'45 budget fails to disclose any appropriation for the UCH department, the department of utter confusion and hysteria so prevalent in local niches. Probably can't be estimated in dollars and cents.

ARE THE GIANTS ALL DEAD?

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Recently Chicago was dubbed a laggard in its post-war planning. Other cities, both large and small, it was said, were far ahead of this community in their plans for the after war era. Does this mean that Chicago has lost the spirit of enterprise that made her great, made her the fastest growing city of all time?

If so, it indicates a lack of civic leadership, and I do not mean political. I mean the type of leadership that once stemmed from industrial, financial, and business giants, whose names have been written large in the growth and power of this great metropolis. It was no mere matter of chance that Chicago became the hub of the continent. It was by and thru the indomitable will of men like Potter Palmer, Marshall Field, Joseph Medill, P. D. Armour, John J. Mitchell, David R. Forgan, Samuel Insull, Cyrus McCormick, Gustavus F. Swift, William Wrigley Jr., Rufus and Charles G. Dawes, and other such men who had breadth of vision and courage, implemented by a strong sense of civic pride.

These were men who owned and dominated great organizations. They were unafraid to venture in the espousal of causes calculated to speed the growth and importance of Chicago. Today the men upon whom the mantle of civic duty has fallen are, for the most part, employes of corporations and, perhaps, are chiefly concerned with building sales volume and profits for their employers. Are they willing to risk the criticism of those who pay their salaries by daring to work for the advancement of their city?

There are now among these and other men in this community the same capacity and facilities to assume the responsibility of civic leadership. They should no longer be allowed merely to consider their personal leisure and convenience, and evade their inherited responsibility.

The present system of taxation is both vexatious and vicious in its demoralizing effect on the body politic. To initiate a new order in equitable taxation requires unselfish, competent leadership.

No one questions the vast possibilities, nor the strategic position of Chicago in its relation to world-wide, as well as national, air travel and air transport. Has Chicago the civic leadership again to grasp the hand of destiny?

The rebuilding of the city is no less important than the transportation. Nine square miles of the most valuable real property is going, or has gone, into decay. The process of deterioration is marching forward to an alarming extent without a sign of check or hindrance. The arresting of this onward march and rehabilitation of the slum areas is not just a problem for realtors and builders. It is of vital consequence to all business interests in the loop and out of the loop. Merchants, manufacturers, and home owners alike are paying a heavy penalty and will continue to pay until there is an awakened appreciation in the citizenry of our unearned civic heritage, and a sound plan is programmed for redevelopment.

And so, I ask, has Chicago the civic leadership that it once possessed?

George F. Nixon.

STRIKES AND LABOR SLAVERY.

Charleston, Ill., Jan. 12.—If it is essential that our homes and family lives must be disorganized by having national service legislation, then the public has been delightfully deceived as to the output of our war materials. One commentator from London said England could not understand how we could manage a war without national service legislation. That is a rather queer statement to come from a country that has been receiving tremendous war supplies from us.

It is rather strange that we can manage to get 73 per cent over there fully equipped for the second front, and all this without national service legislation. Then, too, there seems to be something like 90 per cent, partially equipped, on the other side of this one world. Maybe with national service legislation we could manage the war 200 per cent. Probably that would set better.

Are we going to tear down our house to help build another? National service legislation would be the last puff that would blow our house in. The leak is in strikes. Plug them up and we won't need a national service act.

Bertha Messick.

COMFORTING HITLER.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—As a railroad man, one of those who have been accused of prolonging the war six months with our strike threat, may I ask, if the mere threat of a strike prolonged the war six months, just how long will the threat of labor conscription prolong the war?

Do the boys at the front really know what is going on at home? Are they not fighting for liberty, freedom, and against this very thing? Hitler has used conscription of labor, one of the very things we are fighting. How must Mr. Roosevelt's proposal comfort him! What we laboring men need is a Gen. Marshall to speak up for us!

Robert J. Leach.

ONE HE OVERLOOKED.

Highland Park, Ill., Jan. 12.—We were all greatly impressed with President Roosevelt's new bill of rights, but there is one other right which he should bestow on the American people which is quite as important to the golden age to come as the rights enumerated—the right to have it rain on the crops and lawns and not rain on the roads and streets or places for outdoor recreation.

STANLEY JOYCE ESTATE IS LEFT TO YOUNG NIECE

Will Tells Court Second Marriage Illegal.

The will of James Stanley Joyce, millionaire lumberman, was filed in Probate court yesterday, disclosing an estate of $4,010,000.

Joyce, third husband of the glamorous Peggy Hopkins Joyce, and later third husband also of Mrs. Nelle Vail Joyce, died Jan. 3 at the age of 58. Neither woman is a beneficiary under Joyce's will. The entire estate will go to his young niece, Mrs. Beatrice Joyce Richardson, 233 East Walton street.

The second Mrs. Joyce—Nelle Vail—is mentioned at length in the testament. Since 1929 she and Joyce had been battling in Circuit court over a divorce suit which she filed. Joyce contested it on the ground that actually she never was his wife—because, he charged, she fradulently obtained a Florida divorce from her second husband, Dr. Raymond Vail. Thus, Joyce contended, he and Mrs. Vail were not legally married.

Acquaints Court with Case.

In his will Joyce continued the theme in the following language:

"For the benefit of the Probate court, I make the solemn statement that Mrs. Nelle M. Vail, who claims to be legally married to me, either knowingly or otherwise secured a divorce from her second husband, Dr. Raymond Vail, in Miami, Fla., upon the representation in court that she was at that time a legal resident of Florida, which representation was untrue and false.

"Consequently her divorce from Dr. Vail, which preceded the ceremony of marriage with me, was and is illegal and void. There now is pending in the Circuit court of Cook county litigation in which those facts will be fully established. I was greatly imposed upon, and injured as the result of the false representation, and fraudulent obtaining of said decree."

$250,000 Fund at Stake.

At stake for the second Mrs. Joyce is $250,000 provided in a prenuptial agreement. If her marriage ultimately is upheld, she would receive that sum from Joyce's estate, according to the office of Atty. Cushman B. Bissell, which filed the will. Under that agreement she waived all other rights to his estate. Atty. John D. Black, representing Mrs. Joyce, attended the hearing and indicated there will be no contest by his client.

The will, filed with Richard P. Fredo, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell, was the latest of six wills drawn up by Joyce. The first was dated Aug. 6, 1912. All left his fortune jointly to his mother, Clothilde, and his brother, David. Both are dead. The nearest heir by law is Mrs. Richardson, David Joyce's daughter.

Joyce's fortune was derived from the family's lumber business in Clinton, Ia. His two marital ventures made him a news figure. His first wife, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, won a $40,000 settlement, plus $1,450 a month alimony, when they were divorced in 1921. His second wife has been receiving $500 a month since 1930, pending the outcome of their court fight.

EASTMAN BARES ILLEGAL TRADE IN RAIL TICKETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Operations of railroad ticket "scalpers" have reached such serious proportions that Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, tonight asked Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and the mayors of 103 other important railroad centers to help smash the racket.

ODT officials disclosed that scalpers in some cities have taken a profit of as much as $50 for reservations on heavily traveled trains.

The racket, according to ODT, has attracted criminal elements in the large cities as well as some dishonest railroad and hotel employes.

ORDERS CHICAGO PROBE.

Mayor Kelly revealed last night that reports of ticket racketeering in Chicago several months ago proved to be baseless after police investigation. On the strength of Eastman's plea, however, another investigation will be made, Kelly said.

Found Guilty of Murder in Indianapolis Stabbing

NON-OPERATING RAIL PAY PACT REPORTED NEAR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—An agreement in the wage dispute between railroads and 15 nonoperating unions, calling for proposed increases of from 9 to 11 cents an hour for both straight time and payments in lieu of overtime, appeared to have been reached tonight.

The special emergency board appointed by President Roosevelt to consider the union's wage demands reconvenes tomorrow and if the agreement is signed, a conferee said, it will be sent directly to Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson for approval or rejection.

Scale Down Union Plan.

Hearings on the wage demands have been under way before the emergency board for some time. When the board recessed Saturday the carriers had proposed wage increases of 9 cents an hour for most of the workers and 10 cents hourly for those in the lowest wage bracket for both straight time and payments in lieu of overtime.

The unions had submitted proposals for increases of 11.25 cents to 13.33 cents an hour for the various wage brackets of the 1,100,000 nonoperating workers.

Carriers Ask Recess.

When the board convened this morning Jacob Aronson, attorney for the carriers, asked a further recess until tomorrow, saying that conferences were still under way and that "we might make more progress." Frank L. Mulholland, attorney for the brotherhoods, joined in the request.

Board Chairman Elwyn R. Shaw told the attorneys that if the conferees could reach an agreement which would be approved by Vinson it would facilitate return of the railroads to private operation.

STREET CAR HITS PATROL WAGON; 4 PERSONS HURT

Three policemen and a prisoner they were taking to Felony court in the Criminal courts building were injured yesterday when a 47th street surface lines car skidded into the rear of a patrol wagon at Morgan street. Passengers aboard the car were not hurt.

The policemen, James Gilligan, 50 years old, 6460 South Francisco avenue, the driver; Joseph Brannigan, 48, of 5749 South Damen avenue, and David Fitzgerald, 51, of 2857 West 64th street, were taken to Evangelical hospital. The prisoner, George Clark, 30, of 5836 Indiana avenue, was removed to Bridewell hospital.

A Negro killed Sunday by a hit and run motorist in Indiana avenue, near 44th street, was identified yesterday as Atty. Dewey W. Ragan, 45, of 3546 South Park way. He was identified by his partner, Atty. Robert E. Bryant, 3509 State street.

FRANK J. FORD FUNERAL IS SET FOR TOMORROW

Services for Frank J. Ford, former private secretary to State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney and for 40 years active in Democratic political circles in Chicago, will be held at 9:45 a. m. tomorrow from the chapel at 5350 North avenue, to St. Mel's church.

Ford died Sunday of a heart attack at the Robert Burns hospital. He had been in ill health for a number of years, his condition recently obliging him to forgo the post of private secretary to the state's attorney for lighter duties in the county building office.

Ford, who was 64 years old, was a bachelor and resided in the Midwest Athletic club. He is survived by a brother, William J., and a sister, Mrs. Theresa Conlon of Santa Monica, Cal. Two days before his death, a second sister, Mrs. Agnes Conley, died.

TEAMSTER UNION MEMBERS HOLD SECRET MEETING

More than 200 members of AFL teamsters' unions affiliated with Teamsters' Joint council, No. 25, headed by the late Leslie G. Goudie, met last night in secret session in the hall at 637 South Ashland avenue. None of those who attended the meeting would disclose the issues discussed.

It was reported, however, that problems arising from Goudie's death were touched upon and that further discussion was postponed for 10 days or two weeks. Strategy for absorbing the Chicago Teamsters' union, which holds an independent charter, also was reported discussed. No definite action was taken, however.

WEEK IS FIXED FOR SCHOOLS TO AID POLIO DRIVE

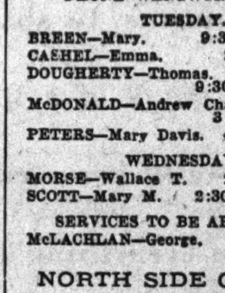
The Cook county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis completed arrangements yesterday to observe school week from Jan. 24 to Jan. 30 as a part of the county's campaign to raise $500,000 to combat poliomyelitis.

A campaign committee met officials of the board of education to plan a collection expected to net more than $30,000 from school children. Contributors will be given a red and blue tag inscribed, "Wearing the red and blue shield is helping a child to be healed."

Britton I. Budd and Col. A. A. Sprague, co-chairmen, announced a special committee had been named to supervise collections at war plants. Thousands of coin folders for recipients to fill with dimes are being distributed.

Spalding school for handicaped children yesterday was host to 60 men and women who help raise funds. The hot pack treatment for polio victims was demonstrated by Miss Sarah Seamons, physiotherapist. Miss Celestine Igoe, chairman of the woman's committee of the drive, was hostess.

ARMY DRAFTEE SHOT; OWNER OF TAVERN IS HELD



James Marzano.

Walter L. Rudd, 35 years old, 1744 West 14th street, was in Bridewell hospital last night with a bullet wound in the shoulder, received yesterday in a quarrel with James Marzano, in Marzano's tavern, at 3637 South California avenue.

The bullet grazed Rudd's head before entering his shoulder. Patrons in the tavern first took him to St. Anthony's hospital, from where Brighton Park police removed him to the Bridewell. Then they arrested Manzano.

Rudd, employed by the Advance Aluminum Castings corporation at 2742 West 36th street, was to have been inducted into the army today.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

BLATZ—George H. Blatz. In memory of our beloved husband and father, who suddenly left us one year ago today.
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain.
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we three were together.
LOVING WIFE AND SON.

GROSSMAN—Samuel C. Grossman. In fond remembrance of our beloved husband and father.
LOVING WIFE AND SON, MELVIN.

LORSCHEIDER—John M. Lorscheider, Jan. 18, 1943. In loving memory of our dear husband and dad.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness,
Our eyes shed many a tear.
God only knows how we miss you
As it ends this first sad year.
LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

PETRONE—Maria L. Petrone. In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away four years ago. Daughters and Sons.

RICH—Lena Rich. To our dear mother and grandmother, gone eight years, also in memory of my father, Samuel, and brother Bernard.
LEONA SCHOFIELD AND CHILDREN.

STANEVICH—In loving memory of Alex V. Stanevich, who left us seven years ago today. LOVING FAMILY.

Children's Aid Society Meets Next Tuesday

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN members of the Children's Home and Aid society meet next Tuesday noon in the La Salle hotel they will hear how this organization, one of the oldest and largest child care agencies in the nation, is helping to solve one of the nation's current and most pressing problems, juvenile delinquency. For 60 years, members of the organization have been caring for "other people's children" by assuming complete parental responsibility for children whose homes are either temporarily or permanently broken, for socially handicapped, neglected, or abused children, for babies of unwed mothers—for the innocent victims of desertion, divorce, illness, and death.

The guest speaker Tuesday will be Perry Dunlap Smith, headmaster of the North Shore Country Day school, whose subject will be "The Home—Bulwark of Democracy." Mabbett K. Reckord, general director of the society, will give the annual report of the agency. Herman Dunlap Smith, president of the board of trustees, will preside. Mr. Reckord's report will stress the influence of foster home placement in the control of juvenile delinquency thru normal family environment, affection, and care. In its 60th year, just ended, the agency provided foster home care and regular supervision, with complete medical service, for more than 1,800 youngsters.

Nearly all the 22 members of the Chicago woman's board of the society, headed by Mrs. Jacob Baur, will be present. Among them is Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, who will be busy giving her friends a description of the McCormicks' future daughter-in-law, Miss Annette Walsh McClaran, the pretty young southerner whose engagement to Lt. Roger S. McCormick was announced Sunday. Other members include Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Brooks McCormick, Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr., Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams Jr., Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, and Mrs. Edward Harris Brewer.

Today's Events.

The $2 worth of war stamps charged as admission to an auction the Winnetka fourth war loan committee is holding tonight in the Skokie school auditorium will be only a drop in the bucket compared to the sum the committee expects to raise in war bonds during the evening by auctioning off the services of some of Winnetka's best known residents. More than 40 men and women have offered their services for a variety of tasks from minding the baby to driving a tractor. In addition, the family which tops all others in war bond purchases will have the pleasure of enjoying a Sunday night supper in their own home, cooked and served by Mrs. Charles T. Mordock and John Stuart. The Morris Wilsons also will act as cook and butler. Mrs. Bernice Vander Vries will darn hosiery; the Rev. Samuel D. Harkness will wash an automobile; Dr. Stuyesant Butler will wash windows, and Nancy Coonsman Hand will do a piece of sculpture to order, to mention a few of the services to be auctioned by Lester Winternitz.

Members of the Fashion Group of Chicago and their guests will meet for luncheon at 12:30 p. m. today at the Arts club and to hear three editors of national home furnishings magazines tell what may be expected in the post-war furnishings field. The meeting is the semi-annual furniture market luncheon. The experts who will take part in the program are Christine Holbrook, Dorothy Draper, and Harriet Burket. Mrs. Louise Bolender will act as master of ceremonies.

The Evanston board of the Northwestern University settlement will meet for luncheon in the home of Mrs. Charles F. Grey II. today to hear reports of the last year's work. Mrs. Arthur M. Betts will serve as president for a second term. New officers elected are Mrs. John H. S. Lee, Mrs. Ira E. Westbrook, Mrs. Alfred W. Bays, and Mrs. Carol W. Alton.

Members of Le Cercle Francais will hear Andre Leveque speak on the world idea of the 17th century this afternoon in their clubrooms. Mrs. Allen C. Howes, a former president, will tell about her trip to Mexico last summer. Mrs. Maurice Landis and Mrs. Walter Gregory will pour tea.

Here and There.

Friends of the British War Relief society have received a plea from Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, chairman of the salvage committee, for buttons, tape, needles, yarn, odd pieces of material, or other sewing necessities. The items are needed to help supply the sewing groups that meet in the headquarters, 30 North Michigan avenue.

The woman's board of Travelers Aid orignally thought that it had taken in $7,000 from its recent benefit pop concert in the Drake hotel, but when final receipts were counted the group found that it had made an additional $1,000.

Lt. [j. g.] and Mrs. B. Van Vleck became the parents of a son Jan. 12 in the Wesley hospital. As Lt. Van Vleck is on active sea duty, his wife and their baby will be at home with her parents, the Goodwin Clarks, in Hinsdale.

Cut This Out and Save It as a Practical Guide to Rationing

Here Are Recipes for Some of Items on Current Menus

Following are recipes for some of the dishes included on Mary Meade's ration budget menus this week:

Spanish Pork with Vegetables—Have pork cut in inch cubes, roll in seasoned flour, and brown in hot fat. Dice 4 raw potatoes; chop a small green pepper. Place alternate layers of meat, potatoes, canned peas [using 2 cups in all], and green pepper in greased casserole. Season with salt, pepper, and a little Worcestershire sauce. Pour contents of No. 2 can tomatoes over meat and vegetables and bake, covered, in 350 degree oven for 1½ to 2 hours.

Ribbon Cookies—Sift all-purpose flour and measure 2½ cups. Then sift twice with 1½ teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Cream 1 cup shortening and 1½ cups sugar until fluffy, adding sugar gradually. Add 1 beaten egg and 1 teaspoon vanilla and beat well. Add flour mixture, a small amount at a time, mixing well. Divide dough into 3 parts. Add ¼ cup chopped candied or maraschino cherries to one part, ¼ cup chopped nuts and 1 ounce square melted chocolate to another, and 2 tablespoons poppy seed [or caraway or anise seed] to third. Line a small narrow bread pan with waxed paper, pack chocolate dough into the bottom, over this pack cherry dough, and put poppy seed mixture on top. Cover with waxed paper and chill overnight. Slice thin. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets at 400 degrees about ten minutes. [May be stored in refrigerator for a week before baking, if desired.]

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES.

Old Dearborn Seminary Bell Is Rung Again

BY HARRIET PRIBBLE.

The old school bell that used to call "young ladies" back to their classes after recess at the Dearborn seminary summoned the same students, grown older by a generation or two, to luncheon yesterday at the Woman's Athletic club. The gathering marked the 63d annual meeting of the Dearborn Seminary Alumnae association, which in the years since the historic school closed its doors in 1908 has dwindled to its present membership of 87.

Missing from the membership list were six who died in the last year—Miss Elizabeth Alling, Mrs. Jessie Childs Bartlett, Mrs. Louis E. Herrick, Mrs. Louis A. Seeberger, Mrs. Gale Thompson, and Mrs. Frances Derby Cleave.

◆

But if the ranks were smaller, affection for the school was as strong as ever, and the association members present enthusiastically reelected their entire board, headed by Mrs. Henry Bartholomay [Clara Seipp]. Serving with her again will be Mrs. Robert Peacock [Josephine McLane], Mrs. Frederic Woodward [Harriet Walton], Mrs. John Leeming [Margaret Sibley], Mrs. Leonora Temple Hoyne, Mrs. George D. Richards [Margaret Haass], and Mrs. John G. McDonald [Camille Henry].

Mrs. Frank H. Pitkin [Gabrielle Finefield], who was a student at the seminary in 1870, the last year it was located at Wabash avenue and Washington street, recalled that her maid used to accompany her to classes as the horse-cars ran only to State street, a dangerous thorofare for a young girl to cross alone. After the fire of 1871, the school was moved to the Follansbee mansion at 22d street and Wabash avenue, where classes were held until the school was dissolved on the death in 1908 of its principal, the Rev. Zuinglius Grover.

◆

The three-star service bar worn by Mrs. Elisha Chandler [Cornelia Kent], who was a bridesmaid for Mrs. McDonald's mother, represented her three grandsons serving with the navy and the marines. The school's oldest living graduate, Mrs. Ferdinand Peck [Tilla Spalding], a member of the class of 1866, has not been present at the meetings for some time, but Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell [Annie Philpot], maintained her record of having missed only two meetings in all of her years of membership.

Mrs. William G. Sage [Grace Otis] came all the way from the Otis ranch in Rose Lawn, Ind., in time to join her sister, Mrs. Lucius A. Hine [Winnifred Otis] at luncheon and to hear Miss Herma Clark's monologue on the "Elegant Eighties." Some of the others present were Mrs. Walter Faithorn [Elsie Dixon], who made the trip from Oconomowoc, Wis.; Mrs. Charles A. Ford [Jennie Bacon], Mrs. George J. Dennis [Anna Bentley], Mrs. Stephen Gregory [Jean Stirling], Mrs. Bartholomay's sister, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener [Elsa Seipp], and Miss Carrie Wilson. Mr. Grover's family was represented by his granddaughter, Mrs. Grover Winston.

More WAVE Jobs Here Than Abroad, Capt. McAfee Says

There are now more jobs for WAVES in the United States than overseas, Capt. Mildred McAfee, director of the auxiliary, said yesterday at the Great Lakes Naval training station when asked about the prospect of overseas duty. When she asked the 300 odd WAVES she was addressing how many would like overseas duty, about half raised their hands.

"At present the number of billets where women could be useful at overseas bases is very much smaller than the number of billets right here at home," she said. "Washington officials feel that the winning of the war is not being impeded by the fact that WAVES are not serving overseas. If the time comes when the immediate needs of the continental United States are met and the need for navy women becomes vital, objections to WAVES serving overseas will be withdrawn."

Capt. McAfee conferred with Rear Adm. Arthur F. Carpender, commandant of the 9th naval district, and Capt. Robert R. M. Emmet, commander of the station.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 18.—Bob Kane is leaving Twentieth Century-Fox in a blaze of glory with one of the best pictures of the year, "The Sullivans." 'Tis rumored that he was having trouble with the head man, and nothing could be farther from the truth. The divorce came about because Bob can't take his wife with him to England to make pictures over there, and that's a situation well worth looking into. The Englishmen can get their wives over here but we can't take ours over there. So Bob will have his independent unit and make pictures as he did when I first knew him, and they were darned good, too. . . . Preston Sturges tells me he's not sitting in with any studio. His head is reeling with so many stories he doesn't know how he's going to get them down on paper, because he's working eight hours a day in a machine shop to perfect a silent camera. . . . Adela Rogers St. John is in town trying to buy the story she wrote for Mary Pickford, which Mary will never use on the screen. Adela wants to use it in serial form for a magazine.

Last Straw for an Irishman.

When Phil Regan didn't get the lead in "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" he asked for his release from Twentieth. He makes his year's salary in three months of personal appearances, and he's just about to make a deal for the Abbott and Costello radio show. Good luck, Irish! . . . Artur Rubenstein returns from his tour February 15. This is the most successful one he's ever had. . . . Benny Goodman arrives this week for "Sweet and Lowdown." Robert Armstrong will be Edward G. Robinson's buddy in "Mr. Winkle Goes to War." He's a forty year old plumber who gets into the battle to avenge the death of his son. Remember Bob when he used to do those comedies with Jimmy Gleason?

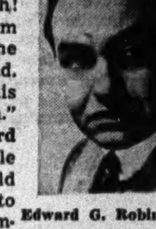
Robert Armstrong.



Edward G. Robinson.

Home and to Bed.

Leland Hayward's back from New York with a nice case of the flu. He brought back one child and left the other two making snowballs in Central park. They're crazy about winter. Leland raved as much about Elliott Nugent as he did about his wife, Margaret Sullavan. It's going to be a mighty blow to "The Voice of the Turtle" when Margaret picks up and leaves June 1, because she agreed to stay only that long. . . . After Maureen O'Sullivan did such a wonderful job with "The Constant Nymph" she should have some of her confidence restored. Having been off the screen some time, she has an inferiority complex which you could cut with a knife.

Their Loss Is Whose Gain?

Phyllis Loughton [Mrs. George Seaton], who coached Paulette Goddard and Hedy Lamarr into stardom—and Mitch Leisen wouldn't do his last four pictures without her—is now holding out for a director's berth. Her manager offered her first to Paramount, where she's done so much toward the success of their pictures. But with all the world looking for women to replace men, Paramount comes out with the statement that it's against their policy to allow a woman to direct. Have you ever heard of anything so silly in your life? But two other studios in town aren't so narrow minded.

Career as a Story Teller.

Albert Kornfeld tells the most delightful stories about Frank Crowninshield, and says, "I've dined out on Frank's stories the whole year." If there's any prominent person Albert doesn't know, we haven't heard about him. After visiting the Huntington library with the Orsinis, he's off to San Francisco, where they've already started unrolling the red carpet. . . . After Elsa Maxwell gave Samuel Goldwyn a big party in New York and he gave her a handsome present, she came out with one of those lush Goldwynisms, and now they're not so friendly.

All Out for Glamour.

Donald Duck's next picture will show him with dancers and beauties from Latin America, and Jose Carioca, etc., with some of the hottest music you've ever listened to. . . . Twentieth's looking at a test of Eddie Hall, who's been making more money as a stunt man than as an actor. Now his pals have persuaded him he must have an acting career, and he's going in for it. He has that well known thing called personality. The other day when he was playing in a scene with three other fellows for Sidney Lanfield, they had to come in separately on music cues. They weren't very musical, and Sidney said, "Gosh! This is awful. When I worked with a penguin I only had 20 takes." And up spoke Eddie, "You'd better send for the penguin!"

The Short of It All.

Betty Alexander, Warners' cutie, marries her student pilot next month. . . . Claude Rains, after finishing "Mr. Skeffington," is off to England and a picture with Vivien Leigh. . . . It should be mighty funny if it comes thru—a new radio series for Leon Errol and Zasu Pitts. In the meantime, Errol's playing in "Invisible Man's Revenge." . . . Proving how easy it is to drive a 60 ton truck, Signe Nasso, who weighs 100 pounds, learned how at Camp Hondo, Tex. . . . Brenda Marshall and her son Peter had their first portrait sitting when he was two months old. . . . The Abbott and Costello films are on the taboo list of the Nazi occupied countries. The Germans refuse to allow their victims to laugh at anything, even the comics. . . . When Mrs. Arthur Murray goes dancing at the Hollywood canteen, she wears house slippers. . . . Marianne O'Brien, young actress, couldn't get a phone, so took in a Lockheed riveter, and now she has one.

Movie of War in Russia Has Synthetic Look

"THE NORTH STAR."

An RKO radio picture, directed by Lewis Milestone, featuring Anne Baxter, Dana Andrews, Walter Huston, Walter Brennan, Ann Harding, Jane Withers, and Farley Granger, and presented at the Palace.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Here are Hollywoodians endeavoring to look and act like Russians in a movie modeled after Russian war films telling the story of invaders and invaded.

To me, who has seen so many soviet films produced in the fatherland which are shattering in their realism and authenticity, "The North Star" seemed most synthetic—its backgrounds staged and its characters phony. There's not even a Russian accent to bless the piece.

The picture opens like an operetta. It is June, 1941. Russia is still at peace and villages are making merry over a feast in a farm village on the Bessarabian border.

Come the Nazis—and you can go on from here practically by memory of any one of a bakers' dozen of war films you have sat thru. A slightly original touch is the bleeding of Russian children that the enemy's plasma store may be increased.

I freely admit that the piece boasts fine actors—but in "The North Star" they are ONLY actors.

See you soon.

'The Clock Strikes Twelve' . . By Patricia Wentworth

(Copyright: 1944: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.)

SYNOPSIS: James Paradine telephones to Elliot Wray to come to River House at once. Blueprints are missing. It is a family affair. The family assembles for New Year's eve dinner—Grace Paradine, sister of James; her adopted daughter, Phyllida Wray; Mark and Dicky Paradine, cousins, and nephews of James Paradine; Frank Ambrose [Paradine's step-son]; his wife, Irene; his sister, Brenda, and Lydia Pennington, Irene's sister. When James Paradine joins the family group with his secretary-cousin, Albert Pearson, he has with him another guest, Elliot Wray, research worker in the family aeroplane works and estranged husband of Phyllida. Phyllida is startled. She hasn't seen Elliot for a year. Before drinking the usual toasts, James Paradine accuses one of the family of disloyalty. He knows who it is. The guilty one will find him in his study until midnight, prepared to make terms. Aunt Grace has a remembrance for each guest, except Elliot, of whom she disapproves. The atmosphere is strained. The party breaks up early, all the guests leaving except Elliot and Albert Pearson.

INSTALMENT VIII.

ELLIOT REMAINS.

They all waited, Phyllida withdrawn, Miss Paradine momentarily more indignant. Elliot Wray had the insolence to come here, to force himself upon them—upon Phyllida! She was going to find it hard to forgive James for abetting him—very hard indeed. And what was he waiting for now, when every one else was gone? She made a quick movement and said,

"I think we had better say good-night. Lane will show you out."

At this moment, which should have increased it, any embarrassment that Elliot had been feeling went up in smoke. He found himself saying cheerfully:

"O, didn't Mr. Paradine tell you? I'm afraid I must apologize, but I'm staying the night. We're in the middle of some rather important business, and he insisted on it."

Miss Paradine was speechless. The blood rushed to her face. Words rushed clamoring to her tongue, driven by the rage which filled her. But for the moment she held them back. Stronger than her resentment, stronger than any thing else at all, was the consciousness that Phyllida was listening, and that she must not put herself in the wrong. No matter what the provocation, there must be nothing said or done to swing Phyllida's sympathies over to Elliot's side.

"No, he did not tell me. I think I should have been told."

Elliot could admire what he disliked. He disliked Grace Paradine a good deal, but he had never despised her as an adversary. They had fought for Phyllida, and she had won.

"I quite agree. But you mustn't hold me responsible. Mr. Paradine requires my presence rather urgently—I am certainly not here of my own choice. I have to see him now, so I will say good night."

Grace Paradine inclined her head and stepped back a pace. Elliot looked toward Phyllida, and all at once she turned from the fire and came over to him.

"Good night, Elliot."

He said, "Good night," and having said it, waited—to see what she would do, or because he found it hard to look away.

She came right up to him, still with that gentle, dreamy air, and put up her cheek to be kissed. It was done so simply, so naturally, as to make his response an involuntary one. She looked over her shoulder and said, "Good night, Aunt Grace," and so went down the room and out of the door.

He had no impulse to follow. Everything in him was shocked into stillness. To what remote distance from all their passion of love and anger had Phyllida withdrawn that she could come up to him and offer the kind of kiss you gave your grandfather?

The numbness lasted thru his interview with James Paradine. It was not a long one. He had, in fact, made an excuse of it. James was neither expecting him nor desirous of keeping him. He sat grim and sarcastic at his writing table and said.

"Come to confess, have you. Go away! You're a fool to come visiting me tonight. It's compromising, that's what it is." He gave a short, hard laugh. "If any one saw you, your character's gone. They'll be sure you came to confess."

"To what?"

"Folly of some kind," said James Paradine. "There are more fools than wise men, and I've come to the conclusion that the devil made the fools. Anyhow be off with you! You'll get your plans in the morning."

He went out, and was aware of Albert Pearson in the offing, looking earnest.

"If I might have a word with you, Wray——"

Nobody in the world with whom Elliot less desired to have a word than Albert, but impossible to refuse. He followed Elliot to his room.

Albert came in, shut the door, and said:

"Do you mind if I stay here till after 12?"

"What?"

Albert repeated the horrible remark.

"Do you mind if I stay here till after 12? You see, he's made it very awkward for me, living in the house. It's all very well for the Ambrose lot—they can go home and be alibis for each other, and so can Richard and Mark. Cousin Grace and Phyllida can stick together if they want to. But what about me after what he's said? 'I'll be in my study till 12'—well, who's going to say I didn't go and have an interview with him and confess to what he was hinting about at dinner? I'll have a witness to prove that I didn't go near him till the time was up."

"Well, you had a minute or two to confess in before I came along—didn't you?"

Albert shook his head.

"No, I didn't. Lane was in the study when I got there. He can speak to that. And I wasn't there half a minute behind him. I suppose nobody imagines I had time to confess to whatever it is in about 30 seconds."

"It would be quick work."

"Very well. Then if I stay here till after 12, they can't put it on me."

Elliot raised his eyebrows. The hands on the clock on the mantelpiece pointed to a quarter past 10. Nearly two hours of Albert near was a stupefying prospect.

"I should cut it out and go to bed."

"I have my character to consider."

Elliot produced an agreeable smile.

"I could always lock you in and take away the key."

"I might have another key. I'm not taking any risks. Besides, have you thought about your own position? Cousin Grace doesn't exactly love you, you know, and what goes for me goes for you. If we sit here together, she can't put anything on either of us. See? I can say you weren't in long enough with him to do any confessing. So it will be all O. K. for both of us."

The situation could hardly have been more tersely summed up. The facts were as stated. That there was a certain humor attaching to them was obvious to Elliot. He resigned himself to the inevitable.

Albert having annexed the only armchair, he seated himself upon the bed and prepared to endure. He would at least not be called upon for very much in the way of conversation. No one in England could better sustain a monolog than Albert.

Critic Looks in on 3 Concerts—in One Evening

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Cafeteria concert going was the order last night, with the peripatetic reviewer partaking of a piano hors d'œuvre at Curtiss hall, a violin entree at Kimball hall, and a rich and unfathomable dessert in the form of the Chicago Piano Symphony orchestra, at Orchestra hall.

Hors d'œuvre is perhaps not the figure of speech to describe Beethoven's "Hammerklavier" sonata, which Owen Berger played at Curtiss hall. It is the longest, the most recondite, and in some ways the mightiest of the 32 piano sonatas. It is the greatest of the spmphonists thinking orchestrally for the piano, tho curiously enough, when Felix Weingartner, impatient with the limitations of the instrument for which it was written, transcribed it for the full modern symphony orchestra, its heroic proclamations became vapid and meaningless and its transcendental aspirations turned into a long, sentimental song—and the problem of the "Hammerklavier" had not been solved.

Mr. Berger, after easing off his nerves with some indifferently played Purcell and Bach, approached his task with solemn reverence.

It is saying much in his favor that he made all that time permitted us to hear—the first two movements—of genuine interest. He laid bare its structure and outlined its ideas dispassionately and studiously. There were no heroic flights, no soaring into the empyrean. But it was an honest and workmanlike job.

Anna Thelma Joseffer, playing the violin at Kimball hall, could profitably have employed some of Mr. Berger's sobriety and restraint, just as an inoculation with some of her superabundant temperament might have enlivened that gentleman's playing. Miss Joseffer is an individualist. Her ideals are not those of the traditionist or the academician. What was once known as self-expression is her aim, and she achieves it, sometimes at the composer's expense, sometimes to his profit. There were illuminating and often lovely passages in the Cesar Franck sonata and in Bruch's G minor concerto. But too often, in the midst of serious business, a Magyar impishness crept into her playing with results that sounded as if both Franck and Bruch were being tickled in the ribs by Franz Liszt.

Orchestra hall presented a curious spectacle with pianos piled tier upon tier, each cozily accommodating two young ladies at its keyboard, and at the apex of the pyramid, like a graceful white angel on top of a Christmas tree, the conductor, Antoinette Rich, perched, garbed in robes of flowing white, surmounted by the daintiest of Juliet caps. Under colored lights the young ladies of the Chicago Piano Symphony played Rachmaninoff's "Polichinelle," which chiefly demonstrated the disappointing law of physics that 12 pianos are not necessarily that much more sonorous or expressive than one. De Falla's Fire Dance, of course, called for red lights, and to end there was Rimsky Korsakoff's "Scheherazade," one of the most flashing of symphonic scores, reduced to 12 pianos played by 19 girls, reinforced by a flute, a harp, and a violin. Surely, the princess Scheherazade never found anything more remarkable in her "Thousand and One Nights."

Thru the Looking Glass

From a reader, on whose head we'd like to place a good sized halo:

"You might be interested to know that we are eight girls, in an office quite some distance from the business district, who have an hour and a half lunch period. I happen to be the one who likes to brush hair, and as I have always patronized good shops and observed their methods, I have taken on the hair brushing job among us. It is really surprising to see the improvement. An apparently poor permanent turned out, after noontime brushings, to be really good. I also give the girls scalp massages, and often when the tired kind of headache appears I come to the rescue with brushing and massage and it does help.

"Another girl in our group is expert and cautious with the eyebrow tweezers and two are good at taking care of the nails. Some of the others are good readers, and while the rest are working or being worked upon they read the latest books to us.

"Don't you think that's a good way to spend a noon hour? We do, and feel we are better for it, too.

"H. L."

"P. S.: O, yes, our boss noticed the change, and this last Christmas presented each of us with a wonderful hair brush with nylon bristles."

We feel it's one of the best ideas of the century for the white collar girls, and for the war workers, too, if their lunch period permits. The 20 minutes or so usually spent smoking or gossiping or just dawdling can be put to excellent beauty use in just this way. And, as "H. L." says, results are satisfyingly quick to appear and completely edifying.

We think the boss had a good idea, too. ELEANOR NANGLE.

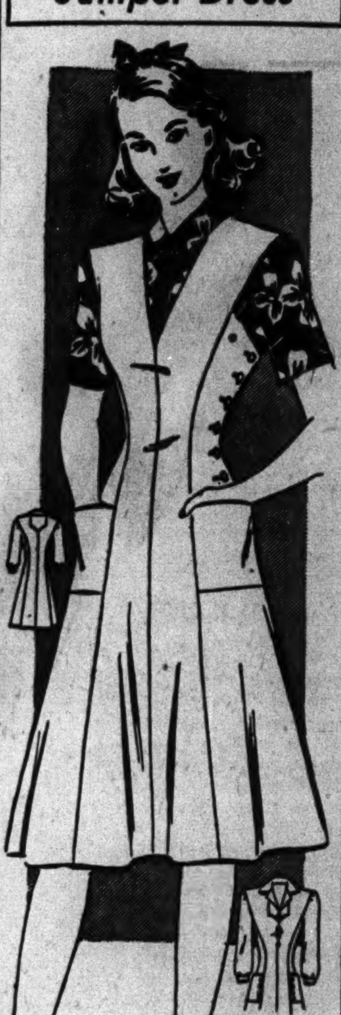
Jumper Dress



Paneled styling gives this jumper dress beautiful lines and fit. The garment is handsomely side buttoned in lieu of zippers. A novel scheme is to give a plain colored jumper a flamboyant, printed blouse. Style No. 2761 is designed for size 10 to 20. Size 16 requires, for jumper, 2⅝ yards of 39 inch fabric; blouse, 1⅜ yards of 35 inch material.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, New York City. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The pattern book is 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Frances Minett, Transcontinental and Western Air Line's central division chief hostess, will interview applicants for stewardess positions between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. tomorrow in the TWA personnel office, 39 South La Salle street.

Basic requirements for air hostess jobs are as follows: Applicant must be single, must have had at least one year of college education, should be between 5 feet 2 inches and 5 feet 5 inches tall and weigh between 100 and 125 pounds, and must be in good health. The age limit is 21 to 26, inclusive.

Personality and generally attractive appearance are more important than "glamor." Good grooming and gracious manners are essential.

During her first six months of service, the T. W. A. hostess receives $125 a month, which is increased to $140 in the second six months. For her second year of service the hostess receives $150 a month, with annual increases according to an established scale.

The job of air hostess is fundamentally a war job, since the stewardesses are replacing the registered nurses who formerly held the positions and have gone into war service. T. W. A. has a training course covering four to six weeks, and accepted applicants are paid while being instructed.

The regional office of the United States civil service commission is recruiting women weather observers for duty at midwest airports.

Training will be given by instructors of the United States weather bureau in Chicago, and accepted applicants will be paid $146 a month while attending classes, which will cover six to eight weeks.

After training, the weather observers will be assigned where needed, including the Chicago Municipal airport. There are 40 openings at present, but the need is constant. There is no age limit, and the only requirements are a high school diploma and some training in mathematics.

Registrations are being accepted by S. H. Kaplan in room 1048, New Postoffice building. Complete information may be obtained by calling him at Wabash 9207, extension 371.

At least one Chicago woman war worker knows first hand that her job is important. She is Mrs. Julia Grabowski, 1256 West 49th place, who is supervisor of a production line at the Belmont Radio corporation, 5921 West Dickens avenue.

Mrs. Grabowski came to full realization of the necessity of her work when her husband, Sgt. Norman Grabowski, who is an instructor at the army air base at Kingman, Ariz., told her that radios bearing the Belmont identification are in the planes he handles at the station.

The radar-radio industries of the Chicago area are making a concerted appeal to Chicago women to join the labor ranks in their plants. Many thousands more will have to go to work in radio factories if planes, ships, tanks, and other war equipment are to have radio devices.

The new A. W. V. S. lounge for service men at 505-507-509 Jackson boulevard will be formally opened at 4 p. m. tomorrow. The lounge is for the convenience of men in uniform in Chicago between trains, and affords both convenience to stations and facilities for rest, showers, and recreation.

Halpert Makes Excitement in Fashion Show

BY REA SEEGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 17.—For our money the new spring fashions designed by Joseph Halpert were the surprises of the New York Dress institute big show. His collection included knockout new cottons that were unbelievable prints on black backgrounds, dresses that equaled any silk floral print, and exceeded many an ordinary color print of expensive all-silk or rayon. The clear cut stripes in cotton were still more exciting, for these cottons were tailored just like fine wool.

The Halpert all-silk white polka dotted dresses and simulated two piece costumes were timely and as fresh as the first spring daffodils. The newest Halpert skirts are extraordinary, because of the new pert back flare sometimes achieved with a deep inverted pleat, sometimes with a definite flared cut, and sometimes with gathers and shirred sections topped with a soft bow. Side drapery was exploited sensationally, not only in sleek dark day time dresses but in the cottons and silks. Wrap around skirts with ample wrap-over sections were abundant proof of a new way of assuring a smooth hip line without excessive use of zipper or buttons. Many blouses, both those snugly anchored to skirt band and those separated from the skirt, were seen with this wrap-over buttonless drapery.

Fresh and new, right off the designing table, were three slinky dull black costumes with trick drapery. Two were for day time and one a dinner costume. One of the day time dresses flaunted a long panel that was buttoned to the skirt at the side seam. The other end was loose and could be pulled thru the belt at the other side or centered to form a gracefully draped swaglike swing. The second drape dress was a tubular affair with a shoulder drape ready to be removed and worn around the waist to simulate a tricky floating over-skirt front and back. The very sophisticated dinner dress also had the long floating drapery panel and a slit at the back of the skirt; all three models were made with long, wide, loose sleeves . . . all were perfect background dresses without the drapery.

Every dress in the collection, rayon crepe, all-silk, or the beautiful smooth, new wash cottons, was sensationally new and different, and the most wearable yet figure-flattering fashions imaginable. Any one model was sufficiently smooth and suave enough to serve as the key dress of an expertly planned wardrobe.

Illinois Native Daughters Will Have Meeting Today

The Native Daughters of Illinois will hear Mrs. Edward G. Snodgrass discuss early days in Illinois when they gather at 1 p. m. today in the Fine Arts building for a program meeting and history study. Mrs. Clarence G. Goodwin will be chairman at the program session, which will include a Red Cross doll show. During the preliminary study hour, Miss Marie Becker will preside, and Mrs. Anna Johnson will discuss "Present Day Chicago Bridges."

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: When one's partner has bid two suits and then doubles the opponents' final contract, which of his suits should be led—the first bid or the second bid? This question caused quite a fracas in the following deal.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 hearts	Double
3 hearts	Pass	Pass	3 spades
Pass	Pass	Double	4 clubs
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

"I was West and, right or wrong, decided that I ought to lead my partner's first bid suit, spades. As it happened this gave declarer time to set up his diamonds [after drawing trumps], and the result was that we could take only one spade, one diamond and one club.

"My partner wasn't at all pleased that the opponents had made their doubled contract, and was extremely caustic about my not having opened the queen of clubs.

"Was my lead really bad, and if so, why?"

There is not, and cannot, be any fast rule about which of partner's two suits to open. This oft-recurring problem must be attacked along the lines of simple common sense. In the case at hand West certainly should have led the club queen, not because East bid clubs second [or first] but because West had such excellent supporting cards in the club suit. It was all too evident that West would not have the opportunity for two leads, with his miserable hand; therefore, he should have seized the chance to lead something that was not only constructive but safe—something that could be said only for a club selection.

White Collar GIRL

[Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Loyalty.

When the girl was hired for the job she seemed sincere, competent, and well qualified. Because she was on the pay roll, her employer extended to her the confidence he gives to all his employes. When departmental matters were thrashed out, he used his influence more than once to strengthen her position.

She didn't know this, tho she should have sensed the loyalty which was her employer's standard of conduct. After she left her job to go to another part of the country, it was learned that while she was working for the company she had ridiculed every one in the office with her sarcastic wit. All had been caricatured in hilarious phrases for outsiders to relish.

There may be no repercussions in the girl's life. She may never need a word of recommendation from her former employer. But she did not leave affection behind her.

In one sense, an office is similar to a family. Outsiders rarely condone the bad taste and insincerity of the insider who exposes to ridicule those closest to him. The outsiders will listen and laugh. However, they won't like it; it will make them uneasy.

Loyalty is a significant thing. It's such a charming, comfortable thing. It binds a business, like a home, snugly, securely together.

Eternal Optimist.

No one could win any paper clips from me with the recent description of a "virgule" or "oblique." A/"solidus" is only the mathematical definition of a line neither vertical nor horizontal when it is used to separate fractional numbers. For all uses the correct name for a similar line is "virgule" or "oblique."

Get what satisfaction you can from the fact that the person calling this to your attention is one who is known as the best and/or only male stenographer in the office.

City Mother Should Plan Day Carefully

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Having been a "city mother" myself for a great many years and also having had a short experience as a "country mother," I feel myself in a position to discuss both angles.

I am sure that most suburban and country mothers don't realize what an easy time of it they have. Compared with the life of a city mother, it's a bed of roses. Still, don't bemoan your lot if you're a city mother. Your city child can be just as healthy, and in some ways perhaps more developed and more independent.

The mother who lives in a large city has to make up her mind to spend more time on her children than the country mother does, that is, unless she is willing for her children to be with a play group all day. The average mother however, either doesn't want to do this or can't afford it. So, the city mother, if she has her child's good at heart, must plan her days with provision for his play time in mind.

Starting with his babyhood, her child must have his outing. This usually means pushing the carriage or go-cart to the nearest park or square. It involves planning her housework around the baby's day. The country or suburban mother, in contrast, can whisk the baby out on the sun porch or into a protected sunny part of the grounds and leave him within hearing.

However, most city mothers don't seem to mind this park outing when the baby is in arms, or just able to walk. But let him get to be 3 or 4 and they begrudge the time he really needs in the nearby park or square where he can play safely under her supervision. Yet here is the time when he needs her supervision, especially if the only alternative is to play on the streets while she is in the house.

When boys and girls are older many mothers of city children let them run loose every afternoon, yet expect great things of them. There are places they can go to together around the city; there are athletic interests the children can follow, and there should be enough of interest and companionship at home so the children will not want to run wild in the streets with any one and every one.

Singer Gives Mail Advice to Service Wives

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Referring to the oft-quoted observation of stage and screen star, Fredric March, "Morale is spelled m-a-i-l," Eleanor Steber, titian haired soprano of the Metropolitan opera, says, "With a husband and a brother in the service, I can vouch for the truth of Fredric's words.

"When my husband left for the service, I was afraid that we'd grow apart, thru our involuntary separation," Miss Steber continues. "I thought that because of the radically different lives we would be leading, our personalities would change, and eventually we'd be separated in spirit, as well as in fact.

"But I soon discovered thru daily letters that the distance between us seemed to be lessened. After he left for camp I made up my mind that I'd write daily detailed letters to him, telling what I sang, where I ate, which of our friends I had seen, news of our families, and the like.

"In order to make my letters to him more interesting, I started the habit of carrying letter paper and a pen in my handbag, and whenever I have a spare moment, I add a bit to my letter.

"Thus, Edwin, my adviser as well as my companion before he went away, is kept informed of my activities. In his letters to me he offers the same reassuring advice he did when he was home," Miss Steber continues.

"To wives whose husbands are in the service, may I say this: Don't burden him with your problems—he has enough of his own—but keep him informed of all your activities. You'll feel you are closer to each other if you do."

HERE'S A SLICE OF YOUR FUTURE

Paper is cheap,
But people put a lot of store
By five and ten dollar bills.
What makes them worth it?

Look: "The United States of America will pay to bearer on demand FIVE DOLLARS" or "TEN DOLLARS."

That's what makes them worth it.
Well a bond is something like
Just a bigger bill—
But better!

Lose a bill . . .
Can you prove it's yours?

It's different with a bond.
Burn a bond, lose it,
Have it stolen—and you'll
Still get your money.
For it's registered
In your name
And Uncle Sam will pay!

While you cling to a five spot
It doesn't do you any good.
You have to get rid of it
To get anything out of it.
But not with a bond!
While you hold your bond
Interest fattens it for you,
And for your future.
A bill is just a bill,
But a bond is alive,
A growing, rosy, cozy
Slice of future.
Your future!

It's part of a new automobile,
A trip to Africa,
A new fur coat,
A month's vacation,
A television set,
A family plane,
A modern bathroom,
A new screened porch,
An operation for mother,
New teeth for dad,
College for the kid,
Or whatever you deeply want.
It's a slice of your future,
Planted to grow.

But a bond is still more.
It's vital, telling war—
War on your enemies.
And it's duty and privilege.
It's planes and hot lead,
Carriers, destroyers, and fire.
And it's Godspeed home for boys
Whose sacrifices shame us all.

So out with your slacker dollars!
Out from the dark corners
Ferret and whip your money.
Out from all neutral places
And enlist it in fighting bonds!

We—the hereby signed stores—
Urge you to make bond buying
The sacred first duty
Of your cash.

We all have them for sale
And we urge them proudly.
Buy bonds!

ROWLAND ELECTED COAST LEAGUE PRESIDENT

TEXAS PUTS 20 GOLDEN GLOVES TEAMS IN FIELD

Soldiers to Enliven Competition.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 17 [Special].—The eighth annual Texas Golden Gloves tournament, which will be held in Fort Worth Feb. 16-21, probably will not have as much star talent as in recent years, but it will be just as boisterous and full of fight. The amateur boxers will be no less earnest in their bids for places on the team that again will represent the Star-Telegram in the Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium Feb. 28, 29, and March 1.

For a variety of reasons, most of which stem from matters military, only one or two of last year's champions are expected to be back. Among those missing will be Morris Corona, the veteran star from Port Arthur who twice won championships at Chicago—once as a lightweight and once as a welterweight. He is in the navy at Bainbridge, Md.

Menchaca's in England.

Gone, too, is Dick Menchaca who won everything in sight in 1941 and '42. He is soldiering in England and still boxing—but as a welterweight. Jose Andres, the flyweight Mexican jumping bean; Arlo Roye and Hubert Gray, all of whom were invited to join the intercity squad the last two years, have left the scene. Bantam Frankie Montoya and Heavyweight Gene Polleti have left the state.

The veteran Tom Attra, 175 pound slugger, is stationed at Brooks field, San Antonio, and may compete in the state tournament.

Ortega Will Be Back.

The one champion apparently sure of returning is Sgt. Manuel Ortega of Biggs field, El Paso. He is an able featherweight who, after defeating Menchaca in the Texas tournament last year, had the misfortune to meet his first southpaw opponent in his opening fight in Chicago.

The Star-Telegram is in the process of organizing its territory and it seems probable that the final number of teams will be between 16 and 20. Some of the civilian centers have been put out of competition, but military posts are taking their places.

The first of the sectional Texas meets will be held the last week in this month.

Sectional managers are optimistic over the state tournament and it is the concensus here that Texas will continue to show the midwest in the Chicago Tournament of Champions that it can hold its own with any rival amateur boxers.

COAST GUARD TEAM ENTERS

Five amateur boxers, members of the United States Coast Guard Anchorage team, will compete in the Loyola university sectional tournament in Chicago's Golden Gloves, it was announced yesterday by Coach B. W. Franklin. The boys are training at the C. Y. O. gymnasium and will report for physical examinations at that center next Monday night.

The first physical examination will be held tomorrow night at the C. Y. O. and all members of this organization are eligible to report. More than 200 letters also have been mailed to boxers for the examination next Monday. The final physical examination for the Chicago sectionals will be held Jan. 27.

B. B. R. Finals Scheduled Tonight.

Finals in the Boys' Brotherhood Republic Golden Gloves tournament will be held tonight in the B. B. R. gymnasium, 1532 South Hamlin avenue. Eight bouts will be offered between boys from 10 to 18 years of age. Those over 16 are eligible to compete in the Golden Gloves sectional tournaments in St. Sabina, Jan. 31 and Loyola university gymnasium, Feb. 2. Among these older boys to advance to this evening's championship round are Larry Tepps and Ed Setting, novice lightweights. Coach Louis Farmilant said at least 10 boys will represent the B. B. R. in the open and novice classes in the city Golden Gloves meet.

De Paul and Marquette to Try New Idea

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Marquette and De Paul basketball teams, which meet in the second game of the double header in the Stadium Friday night, will use a special three minute retirement rule for players making four personal fouls. This was agreed upon yesterday at the Basketball Writers' association luncheon between Bill Chandler, Marquette coach, and Ray Meyer, De Paul coach.

Coach Chandler has campaigned for more than a year to have the basketball rules committee alter the present rule which bars a player from the game after he has committed four personal fouls. He proposes that the player making a fourth foul be retired to the bench for three minutes of the game. The player then can be returned to the game. Each subsequent foul would bring another three-minute penalty.

N. U. to Play Notre Dame.

Coach Meyer agreed to play Friday's game under this rule so that Chandler's suggestion can be tested under game conditions. The opening game Friday night between Notre Dame and Northwestern will be played under the regular code.

Marquette, which has an excellent defensive team, hopes to give the Blue Demons a second successive defeat. De Paul lost its first game in 14 last week to Valparaiso and the Hoosiers, basketball's tallest quintet, held De Paul's George Mikan to 4 points in the second half.

Marquette's defensive plans must point on checking Mikan and Bill Downey, 6 foot 6 inch center, quite naturally will be assigned to guard Mikan, who is two inches taller. Howard Kallenberger and Ed Sadowski, forwards, and Chuck Polzin and Bill Chandler Jr., guards, complete the Hilltoppers' starting quintet.

De Paul Overconfident.

Altho Coach Meyer assured the luncheon guests that the defeat was a fine experience for his players as they had been overconfident, De Paul probably will have to play better basketball to defeat Marquette than it has shown in the Stadium this season.

Waldo Fisher, substituting for Dutch Lonborg, traded views on the Northwestern-Notre Dame contest with Ed Krause, Irish coach. Krause promised that "Northwestern will not win this time by 16 points." The Wildcats took the first contest, 48 to 32, and Krause added, "Johnny Lujack now has earned a regular guard position and he has strengthened our defense."

Ohio-Chicago Game Shifted.

Northwestern has a most difficult week-end for the Wildcats face Ohio State Saturday evening in the Evanston High school gymnasium. Both teams are undefeated in conference competition.

The Buckeyes' game with Chicago, originally scheduled Friday night, has been shifted to Monday evening in the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

Sam Corenswet of New Orleans, La., chairman of the Mid-Winter Sports association's basketball committee, was a guest of the basketball writers at yesterday's luncheon.

SEAHAWKS BEAT IOWA STATE FOR 12TH STRAIGHT

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 17 [Special].—Two bad passes by Price Brookfield, Iowa State college's scoring star, in the closing minutes of play gave the Iowa Seahawks a 33 to 27 basketball victory tonight.

With less than two minutes to play, Morice Winter of the Seahawks intercepted Brookfield's pass to knot the score at 27 all. Then Brookfield, taking the ball out of bounds under the Seahawks' basket, tossed another poor one which was taken by Bernie Nelson. He dropped in a basket to put the Preflighters ahead.

Shaken by the sudden turn, the Cyclones cracked and the Seahawks added two more field goals. It was the service team's 12th straight victory. Lineup:

Seahawks [33].	B	F	P	Iowa State [27].	B	F	P

Bruno Betzel is the 12th manager of the Montreal International league club since the city reëntered organized baseball in 1928. . . . Both of the Pacific Coast league's new pilots, Dolph Camilli of Oakland and Marvin Owen of Portland, will play next summer. . . . Penn State college has captured its last three football games with Pittsburgh, a rival once hard to beat. . . . The race horse, Director J. E., is named for J. Edgar Hoover, the gang buster.

Marvin Owen.

Lou Little.

Birthday greetings are in order today for Bob Lewis, traveling secretary, and George Doyle, assistant to the general manager, both of the Chicago Cubs. . . . Lewis, who lost 65 pounds by dieting, returned to his job yesterday. . . . George Morris, former Baldwin-Wallace and Cleveland Rams half back, saw action with the marines in the Tarawa landing. . . . Johnny Niggeling, the knuckleballer who was traded to the Senators by the Browns late in 1943, pitched two two-hit games and lost them both. . . . The Athletics made only 12 home runs away from Shibe park and Bobby Estalella got half of them. . . . Jim Thorpe, the old All-American, will play an Alaskan gold miner in Bing Crosby's forthcoming film, "The Road to Utopia." . . . George Woolf, the jockey, has turned author. . . . His opus will be an autobiography. . . . Another rider, Wallace Bailey, is a marine private on duty in the South Pacific.

The Tree.

I have grown old beside this purling stream,
Along whose shaded banks each passing night
Gay lads and lassies tread in the moon's gleam,
Their eyes aglow with love's ecstatic light;
And I have heard them pledge their troth and seal
The promise with beatific kiss,
Then homeward thru the shadows softly steal,
Their hearts transported with celestial bliss.

Ah, that first love! If it could but endure
Thru the vicissitudes of daily life,
Becoming each day stronger, more mature,
And welding in its flame each man and wife
Into one soul, would it not make this earth
A very paradise in which to dwell,
A haven of true happiness and mirth
That nothing short of Eden could excel?

Every Mother.

"I took the Christmas tree down last night,"
A woman just said to me,
"And as I worked I kept wondering
Just how next year would be.
When it's time to unpack these baubles again,
Will everything be all right?
Shall we be together, the boys back home,
And the world once more friendly and bright?"

I think all the things this woman said
Were in every mother's mind,
Taking down this year's Christmas tree
And wondering how she would find
Everything when the time rolls 'round
To place another tree there,
And I'm sure from every mother's heart
There arose the same silent prayer.

NET RECEIPTS FOR HENIE SHOW REACH $612,500

Sonja Henie and her ice troupe, who have moved to New York after 20 performances in the Chicago Stadium, set an attendance record here of 398,726 paid admissions and net receipts of $612,500, it was announced yesterday. Previous to the Chicago run, the show played to 185,672 in 11 days in Indianapolis and 207,340 in 17 days in Detroit.

Total paid attendance for the three cities has been 731,066 and net receipts were $1,139,792. The show will play in New York for 19 days and with capacity crowds can draw $537,000.

NELSON TAKES SAN FRANCISCO OPEN WITH 275

McSpaden Second, Six Strokes Behind.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17 (AP).—Shattering par for the fourth successive day, Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., won the $10,000 San Francisco Victory Open golf tournament today with a 72 hole total of 275.

The husky former Texas caddy, approaching the brilliant brand of golf that won him the National Open championship in 1939 and the Professional Golfers' association title in 1940, put together rounds of 68, 69, 68, and 70. He was 13 strokes under the Harding Park course par of 36—36—72.

Wins $2,400 in War Bonds.

Nelson's subpar dash from start to finish earned him top prize of $2,400 in war bonds. He teed off as the favorite and led at the end of each round. His defections were limited to taking three putts on two greens, one on the 18th yesterday and one on the fifth today. He hit one bad tee shot during the 72 holes, on the 15th today when he drove a ball out of bounds. Otherwise his golf was faultless.

Nelson's chief rival, Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Philadelphia, Pa., took second prize with a 72 hole of 281, six shots behind the winner but still seven under par. McSpaden, who won the Los Angeles Open and $4,375 in war bonds a week ago, picked up $1,600 in bonds today. He carded three 70s and finished with a 71 in the final round.

Mangrum, Byrd Tie for Third.

Lloyd Mangrum of Monterey Park, Cal., and Sam Byrd of Detroit, finished in a tie for third place at 282. Mangrum, who will enter the army tomorrow, chalked up a final round 71 and at the 14th hole today was deadlocked with McSpaden for second place. He flopped on the next two holes. Byrd, one time outfielder for the New York Yankees, ended up with a par 72 and he and Mangrum divided third and fourth places prizes, each winning $1,062.50.

George Fazzio of Pine Valley, N. J., comparative newcomer to the charmed circle, toured the course in 70—72—73—73—288, even par.

Three tied at 289—Art Bell, San Francisco, and Mark Fry of Oakland, both former California Open champions, and John Bulla of Chicago. Bulla took second place in the Los Angeles Open.

The leading war bond prize winners with their 72 hole scores and prizes follow:

Byron Nelson, Toledo, O. [275]	$2,400.00
Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, Pa. [281]	1,600.00
Lloyd Mangrum, Monterey Park, Cal. [283]	1,062.50

PETERS OF ILLINI FOOTBALL FAME TO TAKE BRIDE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP).—Margaret Alice McLaughlin of Fairmont, Minn., and Forrest I. [Frosty] Peters, former football star at the University of Illinois, will be married here Feb. 13.

Peters, recently given a medical discharge from the army, served as physical education director for the army air force unit at the University of Michigan last summer. Peters, a dropkick specialist, starred at Illinois in 1928 and 1929.

Oklahoma Leads Fight to Reopen Texas League

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 17 (AP).—C. R. Virtue, vice president of the Oklahoma City Indians, said today he and other officials of the club would lead a fight for resumption of Texas league baseball activity at a meeting next month at Dallas.

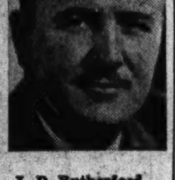
SAN FRANCISCO VICTOR

Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., shown with the trophy awarded him yesterday for winning the $10,000 San Francisco Open golf tournament and first prize of $2,400 in war bonds. Nelson posted 275 for the 72 hole event, 13 strokes under par, and finished six shots ahead of Harold (Jug) McSpaden. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Chicago Golf Faces 3d War Season with New Optimism

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago District golf association, only top flight organization in the game which has carried on thru the war years, will tee off in 1944 with the knowledge that its efforts in the 1942 and 1943 seasons have been well rewarded and that prospects for a successful program in the coming summer are bright.



L. D. Rutherford.

Lowell D. [Larry] Rutherford of Medinah, newly elected president of the C. D. G. A., yesterday said that plans are being made to allocate sites and dates for the same competitive schedule as last year, and that the association will revive its annual presidents' meeting in the La Salle hotel on Feb. 1.

The C. D. G. A., in its first meeting of the year last Wednesday night, approved the repetition of its main event, the Chicago Victory National Open tournament, selecting the five days from June 28 thru July 2 for the battle which annually enlists the best proven swingers in golf.

Plans Three Other Events.

In addition to the Open proper, a 72 hole medal play fight, the C. D. G. A. will repeat the Chicago National Pro-Amateur, add a Chicago National Pro-Ladies' event, and is now conducting a national canvass with a view to assembling a field for a Pro-Seniors event. These three will be held in conjunction with the Open, preceding it on June 28 and 29.

Rutherford comes to his new post with a wealth of administrative background in the association. Larry began as vice chairman of the tournament committee from 1932 thru 1936, took over the full chairmanship thru 1939, and has been chairman of all Chicago Open competitions, including the Hale America in 1942 and the Chicago Victory National Open last year at Beverly.

Golf Finds a Way.

"The C. D. G. A. has proved in the the last two years that golf has a definite place in the war picture, so that we enter 1944 with the conviction we've done a good job and must duplicate it each year for the duration," said Rutherford. "Its not going to be any easier than it has been in the last two years. The man power shortage, insofar as maintenance and clubhouse employes are concerned, may be even more acute, but the clubs have solved that problem in the other two seasons, and they now have experience enough to go on this year.

"The caddy problem is still a very vital one, but golfers in the last two years have met it by carrying fewer clubs, so as not to burden the younger boys, or by substituting light canvas bags for the heavier leather ones. Car pooling and increased use of public transportation facilities have been the answer to reaching the clubs.

"Probably the most serious angle of the whole season will be the necessity for every golfer of turning in used balls to his professional for reprocessing. Many players neglected to do this last year, but the country's golf manufacturers are constantly emphasizing the demand for these balls, if there is to be an adequate supply for 1944 play. And now is the time to dig up these old ones out of the attic or cellar and turn them in to your professional."

Continue Dime-a-Round.

The C. D. G. A., Rutherford said, will continue its extra-competitive activities on the Dime-a-Round campaign inaugurated last year, when every golfer in the district, whether he or she played on a private, daily fee, or park course, was asked to donate 10 cents before beginning a round. Thru this plan, more than $10,800 was turned over to the Chicago Service Men's center, which again will be the beneficiary of the fund.

BAKSI KNOCKS OUT MERRITT IN 6TH ROUND

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 17 (AP).—Joe Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa., heavyweight, knocked out Dan Merritt of Chicago in the sixth round of a scheduled 10 round windup fight in the Coliseum tonight.

Baksi put Merritt away with a right to the head after piling up a considerable lead in the early rounds. The Pennsylvanian took the first round. The second was close, but from then on it was all Baksi.

Joe put the Chicago Negro down for the count of nine in the third, fourth, and fifth rounds.

WILLIE JOYCE STOPS GRUPICO IN FIFTH ROUND

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17 (AP).—Willie Joyce, Gary, Ind., making his first fight since he received a fractured jaw in a fight last summer with Henry Armstrong, scored a technical knockout over Victor Grupico, 135, local favorite, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10 round fight tonight. Joyce got going in the third round, raining punches on Grupico, who suffered a cut on the head which caused the referee to stop the fight.

SEVERS TIES WITH CUBS FOR TEN YEAR TERM

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 17 (AP).—Clarence Rowland, president of the Los Angeles baseball club, tonight was elected president of the Pacific Coast league for 10 years at a salary of $12,500 a year.

Rowland, president of the Angels in 1942 and 1943, told newsmen he had called the parent Chicago Cubs organization this morning and severed his connection in order to take the coast position. Wilbur Tuttle resigned as coast league president last November and the spot has been filled temporarily by Maj. Charles Lott, president of the San Diego club.

In electing Rowland for a 10 year term directors set a precedent for length of term. The salary contracted for is almost twice that reported paid previously.

MANAGES SOX CHAMPIONS

Rowland, who is in his middle 60s, has been in baseball almost half a century. Much of his career was spent in Chicago, where he saw service with both the Cubs and White Sox. He managed the last world champion White Sox team, the 1917 unit which whipped the New York Giants.

"We are sorry to lose Rowland," said General Manager Jim Gallagher of the Cubs last night. He's a great guy and will make a great president for the Coast league."

Gallagher said there will be no rush to find a successor for Rowland at Los Angeles. Last year he was voted the outstanding minor league executive by a group of sports writers. Rowland, who had been a Cub scout and reconnaissance man for several years, became president of the Los Angeles Angels in the winter of 1941.

Led Sox Four Seasons.

He came to the Sox as manager in 1915 and served four years. From 1923 to 1927 he was an American league umpire. Late in 1930 he took control of Reading in the International league, a club the Cubs had operated as a farm for several seasons.

Rowland, a native of Dubuque, Ia., made his debut as a club owner in 1902 when he obtained a franchise in the Three Eye league.

FORT SHERIDAN BEATS SAVANNA QUINTET, 43-34

Fort Sheridan last night defeated the Savana Ordnance soldier five, 43 to 34, after the fort's WAC quintet had beaten the American College of Physical Education, 21 to 16, in the first game of a double-header at Fort Sheridan.

Victor Rosenblum, former Long Island university star, was high point man, scoring 21 points for Fort Sheridan.

HOPPE SCORES TWO VICTORIES OVER COCHRAN

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP).—Willie Hoppe, world's three cushion billiard champion, defeated Welker Cochran, the former champion, in both blocks of their 2,150 point nontitle match here today, taking the opener 50 to 42 in 51 innings and the nightcap 50 to 22 in 42.

Hoppe thus grabbed a lead of 100 to 64 in the Detroit phase of their match, which began this afternoon and will wind up Saturday night after 600 points. Tonight's block was Cochran's worst drubbing so far in the cross-country competition, the previous having been 50 to 23.

RAY PATTERSON PASSES KING IN BIG TEN SCORING

Badger Leads Wolverine Rival by 4 Points.

Ray Patterson, Wisconsin's veteran center, has made the most of an extra game to take command in the Big Ten basketball individual scoring competition as Tommy King of Michigan, original leader, slipped into second. The spindly Badger pivot man has scored 60 points in five games to 56 for the Wolverine sophomore forward in four contests.

The only others to reach the 50 point mark are tied for the No. 3 position with 53 points. They are Stan Patrick, Illinois' senior transfer from Santa Clara who has been scoring heavier since shifting to guard, and Charlie Haag of Purdue. The leaders:

Badminton Tourney Opens Tomorrow on North Shore

Badminton, an old English game which derives its name from Badminton Hall, ancestral hall of the Duke of Beaufort, where it first was played on an outdoor court, will open its annual competitive appearance in Chicagoland tomorrow night in Glencoe's Central school gymnasium.

The occasion will be the sixth annual North Shore Class B tournament which will be concluded the following evening, only to be followed by the 10th annual class A meeting on Feb. 6 and the Midwest A. B. A. gathering March 11-12, the latter two planned for Evanston High school.

Clubs Are Listed.

Competing in the men's and women's singles, doubles, and mixed doubles in the approaching meets, will be representatives of the seven clubs that make up the North Shore Badminton association which dates back to 1936. These badminton clubs include Evanston, Skokie, Ridge, and Valley, Winnetka, Glencoe, Kenilworth Gardens, and Winnetka Community house. Their total memberships is 400.

The first appearance of the game on the north shore was at the Evanston Country club in 1936 when four professionals were imported to put on the exhibition merely as a regular feature of the entertainment program there. After the strangers had gone thru their routine the natives were invited to give it a whirl, and the simplicity with which beginners could master the fundamentals, immediately appealed to one and all.

With Chicago in general, and the North Shore specifically, formulating a pioneer movement in the game it is not strange that Hamilton Walter was one of the early presidents of the A. B. A., while Ward Starrett of Kenilworth was the presiding officer of the national group only last year. Both of these men were instrumental in bringing the first national tournament to the naval armory in 1937.

Wheary Leads Group.

Practically all of the present officers of N. S. B. A. were in that group which took its first turn with the featherweight racquet and shuttlecock that same evening at the Evanston Country club after the exhibition. These include Warren Wheary, president; John G. White, chairman of the Class A tournament, vice president; Henry G. Wilson, secretary treasurer, and E. E. Billows Jr., chairman of the Class B meet, Harry Fraser, Ogden Cook, and George von Gehr, directors.

If a guiding hand for the group were to be determined the selection automatically would go to President Wheary, whose other titles at the present include vice president of the Chicago Tennis association, president of the Evanston Tennis club and a member of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Allen Joins Hawks in Drill; May Play Against Red Wings

The Chicago Blackhawks, who garnered three points out of a possible four in their last two games, cavorted with vim and confidence in yesterday's workout, which saw George Allen on skates again after missing five games because of injuries. Whether Allen will be ready for the Hawks' next game, which will be against the champion Red Wings in Detroit Thursday, depends on how his leg reacts to the somewhat strenuous skating exercise of yesterday. According to the club's physician, if the soreness disappears over night and Allen is able to don skates for today's drill, he will be taken to Detroit, otherwise he will not be available until the next Hawks' game, scheduled in the Stadium against Toronto Sunday.

With Art Wiebe, who is due to meet the Hawks in Detroit Thursday, and Allen back in the lineup and Mike Karakas in the nets, the Red Wings will be facing the strongest Hawk team of the season. Wiebe, who is in Montreal awaiting his clearance papers, is working out daily on the Canadiens' ice.

Cain Perils Cowley's Lead.

Bill Cowley's absence from hockey may cost him the league lead. Last week, while Cowley was convalescing at his home, the Bruins and his line mate, Herb Cain, accounted for two goals and four assists, which gave him 50 points and sent him up the scoring ladder to within two points of tying Cowley, who still is leading with 52.

Cain, however, leads in actual scores with 28. With 22 games remaining to play he is likely to break the record of Cooney Wieland, who made 43 tallies back in 1929-'30.

Pratt Near Record.

Babe Pratt hasn't far to go to establish a new season's mark for a defense man. Right now he has 34 points, which represent 10 goals and 24 assists. The league record established by Tommy Anderson of the New York Americans in 1941-'42 was 12 goals and 29 assists, 41 points. Pratt has 21 games left to smash the old mark. Leading scorers:

PEIRCE SKATERS WIN TROPHY FOR DERBIES ENTRIES

Peirce playground, Bryn Mawr avenue and Clark street, has won The Tribune silver trophy for the third consecutive year for the largest number of contestants competing in the Silver Skates Derbies. The boys and girls, coached by Fred Gohl, easily outdistanced the Catholic Youth organization, Northwest Skating club, and the George Barrett A. C. for the honor.

More than 70 youngsters from Peirce playground under 16 years of age reported for their races Saturday in Garfield park and the total entry was increased by representation in the older age classes Sunday.

PITTRO IS VICTOR OVER ROY LEWIS IN 10 ROUND BOUT

Fight Decisions

At Marigold Gardens—Jerry Pittro beat Roy Lewis [10]; Bill Parsons beat Charles Wells [6]; Mickey McKiness beat Jesse Jackson [5]; Bishop Murphy beat Art Sullivan [4]; Vic Soyko knocked out Sammy Scully [2].

At Washington, D. C.—Jimmy McGriff knocked out Charley Horle [3]; Nick Latsios beat Charley Bennet [10].

At Baltimore, Md.—Joe Baksi knocked out Dan Merritt [6].

At Hot Springs, Ark.—J. D. Turner stopped Freddy Hudson [3].

At San Francisco, Cal.—Willie Joyce stopped Victor Grupico [5].

Jerry [Baby Galento] Pittro, Chicago welterweight slugger, pounded out a decision in 10 rounds over Roy Lewis, 1941 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight champion, in Marigold Gardens last night. The crowd of 1,315, which contributed to a gross gate of $2,251, cheered Pittro as he scored repeatedly in the majority of rounds with punches delivered from all angles.

Pittro had a weight advantage of seven and three-quarter pounds, an item which helped his cause considerably. He carried 144 pounds to Lewis' 136¼. Jerry's achievement was one of the biggest surprises of the season.

Bill Parsons, Danville, Ill., lightweight, scored a decision over Charles Wells of Gary, Ind., in a six round semi-windup. Parsons scored two knockdowns in the opening round, the bell saving Wells the second time. Then in the second round, Wells was knocked out of the ring, he getting back at the count of nine.

Mickey McKiness of St. Charles, Ill., won a close decision over Jesse Jackson of Chicago in five rounds. Bishop Murphy won a four round verdict over Art Sullivan, Indianapolis middleweight, who formerly fought as Arnold Deer. Vic Soyko, Milwaukee lightweight, knocked out Sammy Scully in 53 seconds of the second round in a scheduled four round opening bout. Scully was substituted for Berlin Hadnot.

An amateur boxing show will be held tonight in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Park way, and a professional wrestling card in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace streets.

Tobin Funeral Services Held in Champaign

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 17 [Special].—L. M. [Mike] Tobin, for many years publicity director of the University of Illinois, was buried today in Roselawn cemetery overlooking Memorial stadium. His grave is beside that of George Huff, who was athletic director during the greatest days of the Illini. Tobin died shortly before midnight on Thursday, following a prolonged illness.

Funeral services were held this afternoon in Smith Music hall on the campus, with the Rev. Melville T. Kennedy presiding. The pallbearers were C. E. Bowen, representing the alumni association; Justa Lindgren, of the football coaching staff; Harry Tracy, gymnasium caretaker; Fred Stipes, custodian of the stadium; Matt Bullock, varsity trainer, and E. J. Manley, swimming coach.

Most of the members of the athletic board were present, including Waldo Ames, Dr. Robert V. Browne, L. E. Card, George B. Weisiger, Dr. Donald L. Kemmerer, and Charles Wham.

Tobin's elder son, Lt. [j. g.] James Tobin, is at sea with naval forces. His younger son, Roger, who is 18 years old, will report next week for active service with the marines.

ZIVIC PASSES ARMY TEST; GETS 30 DAY DELAY

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 17 (AP).—Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion, passed his final draft examination today but the army deferred his induction for at least 30 days because of a broken hand suffered in his losing battle Friday night at Detroit with Jake La Motta.

Zivic is married and the father of three children.

CIVILIAN PRICE CURBS TERMED POST-WAR NEED

Inflation, widespread unemployment, and delays in the production of essential civilian goods in the post-war transitional period can be prevented only by properly administered temporary price regulation of these goods, Howard E. Blood, president of Norge division of Borg-Warner corporation, asserted yesterday.

He addressed the post-war planning session of the National Retail Furniture association at the opening of the furniture and home furnishings show being held in the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart.

Need Enough for Risks.

"Price control of essential civilian goods must be based first on recognition of actual costs under current conditions and actual taxes," he said. "They must leave the manufacturer enough after these costs and taxes are paid to justify the risks and costs of reconversion."

An atmosphere leading to eventual prosperity and maximum employment cannot be created unless there is also an "assurance that, as soon as it is no longer necessary to restrict the use of materials and man power for war production, all price regulation of civilian goods will be eliminated," he declared.

Predicts Boom in Home Goods.

John C. Goodall, general manager of the Merchandise Mart, said the chief optimistic factors in the home goods field—as shown by interviews with visitors and exhibitors—was increased production in 1944 of items now scarce and the promise of booming sales after the war.

Paul V. Galvin, president of the Radio Manufacturers association, predicted there would be no civilian radio production during 1944 and said the industry would not be able to swing into production until more than six months after Germany's defeat. He doubted that production of television would start until after Japan's defeat.

MIDDLE WEST UTILITIES.

I owned two $1,000 notes and some common stock of the Middle West Utilities company. In 1935 I received stock of the Middle West corporation in exchange for the predecessor company's bonds. I never claimed any deduction from income tax on the bonds or the stock. May I do so now? A. McD.

Answer: Common stock of the Middle West Utilities company was declared worthless, for income tax purposes, in 1932, and any loss should have been deducted in the return for that year.

The reorganization in 1935 was a taxable exchange, and the difference between the original cost of the notes and the fair market value of the stock received in exchange for them, was deductible in that year as a capital loss. The fair market value or "basis" established by the bureau of internal revenue for stock issued to noteholders was $7.12½ a share. If you now sell the new stock your gain or loss will be the difference between the net proceeds from the sale and the basis value of $7.12½ a share.

Since the old stock was declared valueless as of 1932, the basis for new stock issued to stockholders of the predecessor company is zero. This means that the full amount received from the sale of such stock represents capital gain.

STOCKS DECLINE AS REACTION TO PROFIT SELLING

New York, Jan. 17 (AP).—Rails and assorted specialties made modest headway in today's stock market, but profit cashing left the list as a whole lower. The selling apparently was inspired by the fact the list had recovered all of its lost ground since late October and possibly might be in line for a technical correction.

Investment demand still was an important factor, but some buyers awaited the opening tomorrow of the record war bond drive.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was unchanged at 50.8. Transfers totaled 816,360 shares, compared with 934,920 last Friday.

CHICAGO STOCKS MIXED.

Advances exceeded declines among yesterday's mixed price changes on the Chicago Stock exchange. Of the volume leaders, Domestic Industries A was unchanged, Illinois Central was higher, and Chicago corporation, Miller & Hart and Commonwealth showed small losses.

RAIL BONDS DECLINE.

New York, Jan. 17 (AP).—Profit taking caught up with some of the recently fast moving rails in today's bond market. Losses, however, were mostly small. Investment type bonds held steady thruout. Sales of $14,880,100 compared with $25,848,100 last Friday.

SUBURBAN FARE HIKE APPROVED BY ICC EXPERT

Increase of 20 Pct. Recommended.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—A 20 per cent increase in commuter fares between Chicago and near-by points in Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan was recommended today by William A. Disque, interstate commerce commission examiner.

Disque's recommendation followed a joint investigation by the ICC and the Illinois commerce commission of all commutation fares in the Chicago district. The ICC had authorized a 10 per cent increase in all passenger fares thruout the country in 1942, but had eliminated commutation fares from the order pending further studies.

Under ICC rules 20 days will be allowed for railroads and other interested parties to file exceptions to Disque's recommendation. Following that period the commission will make its decision.

Specify Roads, Stations.

Railroads affected by the recommendation, and the points farthest from Chicago to which their commutation rates apply, are:

Chicago and North Western railroad, Milwaukee and Williams Bay, Wis.; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific railroad, Milwaukee and Walworth, Wis.; Pennsylvania railroad, Valparaiso, Ind.; New York Central railroad, Chesterton and Gibson, Ind.; Chicago, North Shore, and Milwaukee railroad, Kenosha, Wis.; Chicago, South Shore, and South Bend railroad, South Bend, Ind., and Grand Trunk Western, Vicksburg, Mich.

Principal opponents of the proposed increase were the office of price administration and the office of economic stabilization, Disque said. These agencies contended that a general increase in commutation rates would be inflationary. The villages of Wilmette, Lake Bluff, Olympia Fields, and Richton Park, Ill., filed objections.

Quiz Discloses Losses.

The investigation, Disque said, showed that the railroads carrying interstate commerce commuters were operating the service at a loss, and that the commuters were not paying their fair share of the costs.

"The commission should find that a 20 per cent increase would not put commutation fares between points in the Chicago district in Illinois, on the one hand, and points in the adjoining states, on the other, above reasonable maximum levels," Disque concluded.

Today's recommendation was a victory for the railroads serving the Chicago suburban area. All have asked for a 20 per cent increase in interstate and intrastate commutation rates, with the exception of the North Western and the Illinois Central railroads, which already have obtained a 10 per cent increase on commuter traffic within Illinois.

The North Western and the Illinois Central filed tariffs effective in March, 1942, increasing all commutation fares 10 per cent. The Illinois commerce commission ordered the intrastate increase canceled but its order was set aside in a court proceeding, thus allowing the raise to go into effect.

In the meantime the increase in interstate fares was nullified when the ICC decided to make further investigations of interstate commutation rates.

The bulk of the interstate commuter traffic in the Chicago area is carried by the Chicago, South Shore and South Bend, the New York Central, and the Pennsylvania railroads.

Court Rules Out Injunction as Strike Bar

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The Supreme court today laid down a new dictum in labor disputes—that injunctive relief against violence in strikes may not be granted to an employer in the absence of "every reasonable effort" to settle differences thru other legal remedies.

The decision, highly significant in view of the open warfare between railroad workers and the New Deal over the settlement of wage disputes, reversed the rulings of the federal District court and Circuit Court of Appeals in the case involving the strike against the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad in December, 1941, and January, 1942. The road has been operating under government control since the strike.

The strike was accompanied by "substantial violence," including the shooting of one worker, in Peoria, Ill., and vicinity and the protection supplied by public officials was inadequate, the high court found.

Upheld in Appeals Court.

But the federal injunction granted the railroad on Jan. 19, 1942, and later upheld by the Court of Appeals, restraining the strikers from interfering with the operation of the railroad, was not legally justified, the decision continued, because arbitration under the railway labor act was not resorted to.

The unanimous opinion was read by Justice Wiley Rutledge.

"The question, broadly stated," he declared, "is whether respondent [the railroad] made 'every reasonable effort' to settle the dispute, as the section [of the railway labor act] requires.

Made Act Inoperative.

"On the facts, this narrows to whether its steadfast refusal to agree to arbitration under the act's provisions made the section operative. We think it did, with the consequence that the federal courts were deprived of the power to afford injunctive relief and respondent was remitted to other forms of legal remedy with remained available."

The lengthy dispute between the railroad and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen first arose in October, 1940, over working conditions and rates of pay. A strike called for Dec. 9, 1941, was canceled because of the Pearl Harbor attack two days previously. On Dec. 28, however, the strike took effect.

Picket lines were formed as the railroad undertook to continue operations, hiring "special agents" to protect its property.

Considerable Violence.

"Various incidents involving violence or threats of violence took place," the opinion recited. "Some resulted in personal attacks, others in damages to property, and interruption of service. The findings of the district court are that violence was substantial and the protection supplied by the public officials was inadequate."

The railroad thereupon applied for and obtained an injunction in the federal district court restraining the strikers from interference with the operations of the railroad. The union appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals which affirmed the lower court. The Supreme court undertook jurisdiction "because of the importance of the issues presented."

BIDDLE LETTER BACKS KEEPING MINE CONTROL

Threat of Strikes Reason Enough.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—Secretary of the Interior Ickes need not relinquish government control of the coal mines, United States Atty. Gen. Biddle ruled today, until there is assurance that no more work stoppages will occur.

Atty. Gen. Biddle.

Section 3 of the war labor disputes act provides that seized properties be returned within 60 days after "productive efficiency" has been restored. If "productive efficiency" means "volume of production," most of the coal mines would have to be returned this week. But Ickes made public a letter from Biddle supporting the view that the act does not mean merely physical production.

Note Possible Stoppages.

Biddle wrote: "The productive efficiency of a mine cannot be determined alone by the physical volume of coal produced at a given time. It is also necessary to consider whether, if the government relinquishes possession, there will be further interference with production thru strikes or stoppages or threats of strikes or stoppages."

Ickes had told Biddle that he is convinced such interference will be forthcoming if the mines leave government hands before contracts are signed and approved by the war labor board. He said work stoppages at this time, "when the coal shortage is so severe, may well spell disaster."

Nearly 3,000 mines, those which traditionally have contracts with John L. Lewis' United Mine workers, are still in government possession.

60 Days End Wednesday.

The government took over the mines Nov. 1. Physical production had been restored by the week of Nov. 15, since Ickes told Biddle the output that week was as large as in any previous week of the year. The work week of Nov. 15 ended Nov. 20, and if the 60 day period were computed from Nov. 20, it would expire this Wednesday.

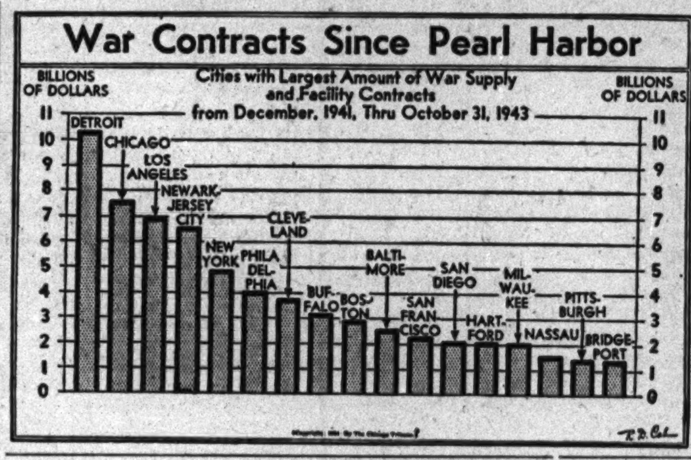
Operators producing about two-thirds of the country's coal have written a tentative contract with the UMW which would continue the present Ickes-Lewis wage formula under which miners are being paid.

On the other hand, owners of mines producing about one-third of the country's coal, mainly southern Appalachian mines, have refused to sign a contract based on the Ickes-Lewis formula, which recognized underground travel time as part of the working day, paid for at a special rate.

RALLY REDUCES LOSSES IN GRAIN ON PEACE TALK

Peace talk resulted in a resumption of last week's liquidation by holders of grain futures and prices on the Chicago Board of Trade were the lowest in about two weeks, with wheat and rye off 1 cent or more a bushel at one time. Short covering caused a fair rally from the low prices. Wheat finished ⅛ to ⅞ cent lower and rye was off ⅜ to ⅝ cent. Oats declined ⅛ to ¼ cent and barley was ⅛ cent higher.

Monett, Mo., which temporarily displaced Chicago as the leading corn market in the country as a result of office of price administration bungling, is feeling the effect of OPA displeasure. The Washington office of the government agency has advised regional offices that the practice of southwestern grain interests of consigning corn to Monett and then diverting it without turning it over to the buyer at Monett is not permitted under OPA regulations.



War Contracts Since Pearl Harbor

Charges U.S. Again Bungles Surplus Sales

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 (AP).—Chairman Patman [D., Tex.] of the house small business committee said today that the government is using the same haphazard methods in the disposal of surplus war goods "which brought near chaos to our economic structure" after the last war.

He proposed to the banking committee enactment of his bill to give the Reconstruction Finance corporation control of the disposition and sale of all such property, with precautions against private speculators but with due regard for private enterprise.

Calls It Poor Job.

The treasury procurement division, the Texan told the committee, "apparently is doing a very poor job," and said:

"In December it sold thousands of items of chinaware, declared surplus by the war department. These items were brand new and still in their original packing boxes. It sold them to firms bearing such illuminating names as Marine Junk company, Army Salvage company, etc., at an average price of 8 cents per item.

"It did this on almost the same day that the navy department was awarding a contract to a pottery manufacturer for 110,000 pieces of the same item at a price of 18 cents each."

Urges Advisory Groups.

Under Patman's bill, the RFC would appoint an advisory committee for each class of property which is to be sold or leased. These groups would advise on price, time, method, and manner of disposing of such property.

The RFC would be governed, under the Patman bill, by these considerations:

1. Distribution of such property should be thru established trade channels.

2. Acquisition of large quantities of such property for speculative purposes should not be permitted.

3. Prices at which any particular property or class of property is sold or leased should be uniform.

4. Such property should be sold or leased at prices which enable the government to secure a fair return.

5. Sale or lease of such property should be at a rate which will not unduly disrupt trade and commerce.

6. The welfare of small business enterprises should be considered wherever possible.

WLB 'EXTENDS' WARD CONTRACT WITH CIO UNION

The war labor board yesterday temporarily extended for 30 days the contract in Chicago between Montgomery Ward & Co. and the CIO United Wholesale, Retail and Department Store Employes' union. The contract expired Dec. 8, and the notification by the WLB did not specify when the "extension" period started. During the extended period the national labor relations board will determine whether the union is the exclusive bargaining agent of the employes. The company refuses to recognize the union as the employes' agent, and last month notified the WLB it would object to a temporary extension of the contract. In November the company filed suit for a million dollars against the union and its local affiliate, charging them with publishing allegedly defamatory statements.

6,000 FOUNDRY MEN TO STRIKE ON WEST COAST

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 17 (AP).—A strike of 6,000 foundry workers in 79 Pacific northwest war plants has been called for 8 a. m. tomorrow, and the regional war labor board sought advice from Washington today as to how a paralyzing tie-up could be avoided.

The strike vote was announced last night by Neil Pardo, regional secretary of the AFL International Molders' and Foundry Workers' union, who said the men were dissatisfied with the award issued Saturday by the regional WLB. The scale ranges from 88 cents to $1.20 an hour. The WLB awarded raises of 2½ to 7 cents an hour.

Threaten Strike of 20,000.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP).—Robert H. Keys, president of the Foreman's Association of America [independent], asserted today that 20,000 organized foremen in Detroit area war plants are prepared to walk out in sympathy with striking foremen from four divisions of Chrysler corporation, seeking union recognition.

PLAN EXPANSION OF U. S. RUBBER'S TIRE PRODUCTION

New York, Jan. 17 (AP).—Herbert E. Smith, president of the United States Rubber company, said today a 25 million dollar expansion of tire building facilities would be completed later this year lifting tonnage capacity more than 30 per cent above previous peaks.

The program calls for increased facilities at four major tire plants of the company: Chicopee Falls, Mass.; Eau Claire, Wis.; Detroit, Mich., and Los Angeles, Cal. Much of the investment, Smith said, would be in reconverting the Eau Claire ordnance plant to tire production.

Smith emphasized that production altho including passenger size tires, will be primarily for war and essential domestic transportation.

HOG SHIPMENTS ARE HEAVIEST EVER RECORDED

Chicago Yard Holds 20,000 Unsold.

The hog market jam thruout the country yesterday was the worst the industry has ever experienced. It was estimated farmers attempted to dispose of about 700,000 hogs at all markets and packing centers in the country, and found an outlet for about 400,000, which is about the daily slaughter capacity.

It was estimated about 300,000 farmer-owned hogs, most of them "government weights," with a value close to 10 million dollars were unsold at all marketing points. The aggregate movement to market was the largest on record, despite transportation problems in some areas.

Omaha Tops Markets.

Omaha received more hogs than any other market in the country, the first time in history that this market received more than Chicago during a heavy selling period. Arrivals were 56,000, about 20,000 above the former Omaha record. Chicago handled 53,000.

The war food administration's "support" of certain weights of hogs, leaving others without a floor, turned most of the urgent buying orders to weights that could be bought below the floor price. Two distinct markets developed in the Chicago yards, a sluggish one for "government weights" at $13.75 a hundred pounds and a lively one for those over 300 pounds and under 200 pounds at $13 and below.

Outside Weights Favored.

Practically all hogs outside the support weight range cleared quickly at prices that were steady with last week's close, but about 20,000 of the 200 to 300 pounders remained in farmers' hands at the close of trading.

The hog marketing committee called a meeting to discuss a permit plan for the Chicago market similar to those used at some of the other big centers. Charles Rice, president of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange said he believed the movement of hogs to Chicago will be brought under control of the permit system next week.

Improved demand sent some other classes of meat animals higher during the day. Steers and yearlings ruled steady to 25 cents higher and most heifers sold 15 to 25 cents higher. Lambs sold at the highest prices in almost seven months.

FEDERAL QUOTAS SET UP TO MEET SEED DEMANDS

Increased demands for vegetable seeds in the United States has caused the government to allocate supplies, the war food administration announced yesterday. American civilian gardeners will receive 275,252,000 pounds, or 70.3 per cent of the total allocated for needs thru June 30, 1944.

The quota of vegetable seeds for civilian domestic use is said to have been increased to meet the demands of the two million home gardens, expected to be added to the 20 million planted in 1943.

LET'S ALL BACK THE ATTACK—4TH WAR LOAN

Warns Grain Reserve Near Danger Point

Continued disappearance of grain reserves "will dissipate our surplus of wheat to a point far below a safe reserve, particularly with the volume of wheat being fed to live stock," Philip R. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, warned yesterday in his annual report.

He attacked the application of price ceilings to the grain trade and renewed his recommendation, recently defeated by a vote of members, for the employment of a paid president "to replace the present incumbent."

"Those of us charged with the operation of marketing machinery have watched with astonishment the rapid disappearance of our tremendous surpluses," he said.

Refers to Drouth Threat.

"Now a new specter appears. It takes the form of a threatened drouth in our middle western producing area. Should our production this year be average or below we might well face a serious condition with respect to supplies for domestic use and for the armed forces abroad."

Referring to the importation of 200 million bushels of grain from Canada, O'Brien said, "The bureau of agricultural economics report on grain stocks shows the largest disappearance since records have been maintained. It shows that such continued rate of disappearance would wipe out any carry over of corn next November.

"The feed and food program has been fumbled. Price ceilings, with what appears to be almost studied deliberation, are gradually strangling our markets."

Grain Sampling Profit Shown.

O'Brien said that despite "unwise ceilings" total futures trading volume on the board last year topped the 1942 low level by approximately 75 million bushels. He reported a profit in the grain sampling department which had run at a deficit of more than $300,000 for the years 1930 to 1941, inclusive.

The board's income account showed improvement above the preceding year, with the excess of receipts above expenditures before rent totaling $308,483 against $252,671 in 1942. This did not include the operation of the safe deposit company owning the Board of Trade building, whose operating loss was reduced to $80,232 from $212,963 in 1942. After including this loss and $406,984 amortization of the building company's debts compared with $56,984 the preceding year, the final excess of expenditures for 1943 was $179,234, compared with $17,776 a year ago.

The building loss was estimated after bond interest, but before depreciation.

Jack & Heintz Employes Offer Firm Financial Aid

Cleveland, O., Jan. 17 (AP).—President William S. Jack of Jack & Heintz, Inc., said tonight so many employes had offered financial help since the company was ordered to refund $1,750,000 in profits that a survey would be conducted to determine the number of workers who wish to "invest voluntarily to insure post-war operations."

DISMISSES SEC COUNT AGAINST INVESTING FIRM

Three Independent Trustees Named

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17 [Special]. — Remaining government charges against Investors Syndicate and two affiliated companies were dismissed today when Federal District Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye approved the appointment of three independent trustees with broad powers over company policy.

The order disposed of the final two of 16 counts in the action of the securities and exchange commission charging violation of the registration and fraud provisions of the securities act of 1933 and the investment company act of 1940.

Dismissed by Stipulation.

Fourteen of the counts were dismissed by stipulation last Oct. 18, company counsel denying the charges but consenting to the orders to avoid lengthy litigation.

The trustees are Henry M. Gallagher, until recently chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme court; John M. Harrison, executive vice president of Marsh & McLennon, Inc., and Paul E. von Kuster, president of David C. Bell Investment company, both of Minneapolis.

The affiliated companies are Investors Mutual, Inc., and Investors Syndicate of America, Inc., and the remaining two counts related to the removal of certain company officers, and the removal of Investors Syndicate as underwriter of securities of the affiliated companies.

Edward H. Cashion, SEC counsel, said the owners of a majority of the voting stock had executed a voting trust agreement running three years and possibly another two, and that membership in the board of directors, including the three trustees, would be limited to five.

Give Control to Trustees.

"The voting trust agreement places the affairs of the companies, for all practical purposes, in control of the voting trustees who have never been associated with any of the corporate defendants," he said.

W. H. Oppenheimer, counsel for the companies, said the settlement "in no way involves any admission of wrongdoing."

Switching operations and purchase of Investors Syndicate securities by means of false and misleading statements were included in the SEC charges.

NOTICE TO THE HOLDERS OF 5% DEBENTURES OF CENTRAL STATES POWER & LIGHT CORPORATION

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES
For the District of Delaware

In the Matter of The Application of the SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION to Enforce and Carry out a Plan to Effectuate the Provisions of Section 11(b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, with respect to CENTRAL STATES POWER & LIGHT CORPORATION. } Civil Action No. 354.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Securities and Exchange Commission by order, dated December 3, 1943, and the United States District Court for the District of Delaware by order, dated January 6, 1944, have approved certain provisions of a plan with respect to Central States Power & Light Corporation (hereafter called The Company) filed under Section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Act of 1935, which provisions are to the effect that the maturity date of the 5% Debentures of The Company due January 1, 1944, is extended to January 1, 1945, such Debentures during the period of extension to bear the same 5% interest rate and to be entitled to and subject to the other terms and conditions of the Trust Indenture, dated January 1, 1934, under which said Debentures were issued.

The said order of the United States District Court enjoined all creditors and stockholders of The Company and all other persons from interfering with the proceedings to enforce the said provisions of the foregoing plan, including the commencement of any actions or proceedings in any court or before any administrative agency and provided that said court take exclusive jurisdiction of The Company and its assets.

HOLDERS OF 5% DEBENTURES should immediately forward their Debentures to Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, Chicago, Ill., Trustee under the aforesaid Trust Indenture, dated January 1, 1934, so that their Debentures may be stamped by such Trustee with an appropriate legend evidencing the extension of the maturity date of such Debentures to January 1, 1945.

The 5% interest on the Debentures due on July 1, 1944, and January 1, 1945, will be paid, when due, upon presentation of the Debentures to said Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago for proper endorsement thereon of the payment of said interest.

In connection with the said extension of the maturity date of the Debentures, Ogden Corporation, parent of The Company, has agreed to waive the payments of interest becoming due on January 1, 1944, and July 1, 1944, on the $5,108,040.00 principal amount of Debentures owned by it, and to subordinate the payment of said interest to the payment of the principal of and interest on all outstanding Debentures not owned by it. The total principal amount of Debentures now outstanding is $5,940,000.00.

THIS NOTICE is being given to Debenture holders of The Company pursuant to the said order of the United States District Court.

CENTRAL STATES POWER & LIGHT CORPORATION,
By: B. H. BREWSTER,
President.

GET INTO RADIONICS NOW!
Zenith Radio Offers You
A Chance to Learn & Grow
With This Exciting
War Time & Peace Time
Industry!

A thrilling, breathtaking experience awaits you at Zenith . . . you'll live a new life in this fascinating industry. You need no previous experience; we have patient, courteous supervisors who are eager to train you. We have radio courses which all employees are eligible to attend—through classroom instructions you will gain theoretical training which you can combine with the practical experience you will acquire at your work. Radionics offers you unlimited opportunities both now and in peace time.

A WOMAN'S JOB

This is an industry in which women have always had their rightful place. In civilian production and in war production the Radionics industry has always utilized the skill of nimble feminine hands. The work we place you on will be a woman's job . . . you will not be replacing a man. You'll be under no obligation to give up your place on the assembly line to a man returning after the war. The Radionics industry offers you a secure post-war future.

THE two maps on this page, with the two which will appear tomorrow, show the territorial extent of Poland at various periods of its history. Poland originated in the Slav migrations of the sixth century and occupied the inland plains drained by the Vistula. Here in the 10th century a Slavic state—Poland—was founded. In the 12th century it was broken into principalities, and in the 13th century overrun by the Tartars. With the aid of the Lithuanians, the Poles in the late 14th and early 15th centuries fought a terrible war with the Teutonic Knights, winning a great battle at Tannenberg in 1410. As a result Poland gained access to the Baltic sea. Under the Jagellon kings Poland became a great power. By the Union of Lublin (1569) Poland and old Lithuania (a vast land not to be confused with the modern small state of Lithuania) formally were united. Then it was that Poland was greatest in territorial extent, as the map above shows. In 1660 it ceded what now are Estonia and a part of Latvia to Sweden. By the Truce of Andruszowo (1667) it yielded Kiev and the east bank of the Dnieper to Russia. From 1704 to 1709 Sweden controled Poland thru a puppet king. In 1770 a small border area was ceded to Austria. Territories involved in the cessions to Sweden, Russia, and Austria are shown in the map above.

IT was by the three historic partitions (1772 to 1795) that Poland as an independent country first was wiped off the map. Seriously disturbed by the prospect of aggrandizement of Russia, Prussia and Austria conceived the idea that the best mode of preserving the European equilibrium was for the three powers to readjust their territories at the expense of Poland. By the partition of 1772 Russia received the eastern portion of old Lithuania, Austria received Galicia, and Prussia received most of Polish Prussia. In the second partition (1793) Russia took the greater part of old Lithuania, and Prussia took Danzig and Thorn and all of Greater Poland, which became South Prussia. The third partition (1795) gave Prussia a part of Cracow, and the area lying mainly between the Vistula and Bug and the Niemen. Austria took West Galicia, and Russia all that remained. During the Napoleonic wars the kingdom of Poland was revived temporarily as the grand duchy of Warsaw. Polish hopes for the future flared brightly when Napoleon marched on Moscow (1812), but the calamity which overtook him in Russia sealed the fortunes of the Poles. The map above shows how Poland was divided in the three partitions, and also its greatest extent as revived temporarily by Napoleon. (Tomorrow's maps continue this history.)
